STOCKS CLOSE MODERATELY LOWER AFTER 3-DAY RISE

Week-End Profittaking Carries Leaders Down 1 to More Than 5 Points—Number of Gains Shown.

TO RESUME 5-HOUR TRADE NEXT MONDAY

Stock Exchange to Be Closed Next Friday and Saturday Following Thanksgiving Holiday.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A week-end profit taking movement, after the advances of the past three sessions, moderately depressed part of the market today, leading shares closing 1 to more than 5 points lower. Strength was displayed by some of the utilities, rails and specialties during the early hours of the session, several issues selling up to 17 points.

Trading remained in moderate volume, slackening somewhat on the decline. A total of 2,929,230 shares changed hands during the three-hour session, against 3,138,680 yesterday. The market will take another Saturday holiday tomorrow, but will resume full five-hour trading periods on Monday for the first time in about three weeks. Beginning with the Thanksgiving day holiday, on Thursday, however, the market will be closed for three days, giving clerical forces a real vacation after their arduous labors of the past six weeks.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent, the lowest renewal rate since March, 1928, with loans in the outside market abailable at 3½ per cent.

U. S. Steel Lower.

The overnight news, including the additional huge reduction of $585,000,000 in brokers' loans, carrying the loan total, when compared to the present market value of listed stocks, to the most completely deflated level in recent years, and President Hoover's conference with business leaders, proved fortifying to market confidence. The day's news was meager, but included a few favorable dividend and good earnings statements. Penick & Ford resumed common dividends with a 25-cent payment, and Standard of Kentucky ordered an extra of 40 cents.

This week's cut in loans has brought the total reduction in seven weeks, or since the peak was reached on Oct. 2 to $3,217,000,000, and the aggregate of such borrowings to the lowest point since the week ended Dec. 14, 1927. The current loan total of $3,587,000,000 shows a contraction of about 47 per cent from the peak of $6,804,000,000 reached less than two months ago.

U. S. Steel closed at 168, off 2¾ points. General Electric dropped 7½ points, but reduced its loss to 5½, closing at 221. Such stocks as Radio, General Motors and Westinghouse Electric closed off a point or more. Bethlehem Steel, Kennecott, Anaconda, Union Carbide and Johns Manville lost 2 to 4 points, net, and Union Pacific 6.

Some Higher Stocks.

American Machine and Foundry was a strong spot, shooting up 17 points in a comparatively small turnover. National Cash Register closed 6 points higher. Warner Brothers closed up 2 points in response to a favorable earnings report. Erie, Public Service of New Jersey and Sears Roebuck closed a point or two higher.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and fairly steady, although sterling cables slipped back ⅛ cent to $4.87 9-16.

In this district the statement of the local Reserve Bank shows the total of reserve credit outstanding was reduced by $7,000,000 during the week, this combining with a drop of about $60,000,000 in member deposits to bring a rise of about 1.6 per cent in the ratio to [illegible] per cent. For the system a reduction of $76,000,000 in the total of reserve credit outstanding is revealed.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news, will be found on Pages 18C, 19C, 20C and 21C.

FIRST WHISKY SINCE 1917 LEGALLY MADE IN U. S.

American Medicinal Spirits Co. of Louisville Is Turning Out 13,000 Barrels.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., November 22.—The first whisky legally manufactured in the United States since September, 1917, was run into charred barrels here today.

While government officials looked on, fifty gallons of limpid, colorless fluid (which, if homemade, would be called "white mule") dropped into a barrel which will, in the next four years give it color, density and mellowness and make it suitable for sale for medicinal purposes.

The event took place at the local plant of the American Medicinal Spirits Company's plant. The firm holds one of the recently issued permits to make liquor to replenish the medical supply. It plans to make 13,000 barrels.

JUDGE IN OZARK COUNTY GETS 18 MONTHS ON LIQUOR CHARGE

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 22.—John R. Wilhoit, Probate Judge of Ozark County, was sentenced today to 18 months in the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth by Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves on a plea of guilty of transportation of liquor.

Reeves declared the Judge had disgraced his office by violating the law while he was an officer in charge of enforcing it.

Fred Stewart of Ava, Wilhoit's attorney, read to the court a petition for clemency, signed by 150 Ozark County officials, business men and citizens. Judge Reeves asked Wilhoit whether he had resigned as probate judge, and when the latter replied he had not, Judge Reeves said: "You should have done so when you pleaded guilty. I have less sympathy with officials who violate the law than I do with private citizens."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Pleased with the far-reaching agreement entered into by industrial and labor leaders to maintain wage stability during the present business situation, President Hoover today turned to representatives in the general building field for co-operation in the nation-wide program for promotion of economic progress.

More than a dozen spokesmen for contractors, manufacturers and real estate boards were in Washington for an afternoon conference at the White House, the last to be held this week and the fifth in the series of seven which Mr. Hoover has arranged as a means of offsetting any general effect of the fall in stock prices.

On Monday the chief executive will meet with Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, and representatives of farm organizations. The conference with spokesmen for public utilities, set for Monday, has been postponed until representatives of that industry have held a meeting to determine upon the precise program of expansion and construction they can undertake in the coming year.

Most Outstanding Development.

Government officials generally today viewed the agreement against wage cuts and industrial disputes during the period of stabilization as perhaps the most outstanding development that will come from the conferences called by the President. This proposal caused prolonged discussion and accounted for the unusual length of both the meetings yesterday, each of which lasted more than three hours.

After the White House conferences have been completed, the United States Chamber of Commerce will carry on, a call having been sent to many trade organizations to send representatives here on Dec. 5 for an exchange of views and the creation of an executive committee which will function as a co-ordinating body for business in co-operation with the Department of Commerce and other Governmental agencies.

It is the present intention that representatives of the Chamber or the Executive Committee hold sessions with representatives of a number of the smaller groups in the industrial commercial and business communities to obtain their co-operation in the movement.

Conferees at Today's Meeting.

Among those invited to the White House today were Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co.; T. T. Flagler, Atlanta, president of the Associated General Contractors; Samuel Hotchkiss, St. Joseph, Mo., of the National Association of Builders' Exchanges; Frank H. Smith, Chicago, president of the Portland Cement Associations; Harry H. Culver, Culver City, Cal., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and Wilford Kurth, New York, former president of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Others in the group were B. G. Reimer, Orange, N. J., president of the American Road Builders' Associations; Samuel Echels, Harrisburg, Pa., president of the State Highway Associations; G. L. Carpenter, Minneapolis, president of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association; F. W. Reimers, Hammond, La., president of the Southern Pine Association; Arthur Berresford, Washington, president of the American Engineering Counsel; W. M. Wood, Decatur, Ill., representing the American Institute of Steel Constructors; A. Trulesschmann, Chicago, president of the Home Modernizing Bureau; D. T. Riffle, Pittsburg, president of the National Building Trades Employers' Association, and A. M. Lewin, Cincinnati, president of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association.

Ford to Increase Wages.

Henry Ford, who was one of those present at the White House yesterday, announced shortly after the conference that a general wage increase is to be made effective in the Ford organization immediately. He declined to give details, but advanced the suggestion that similar increases in other lines would go far in sustaining American business by keeping the demand for many commodities at a high level.

Through Julius Barnes, the chairman of its board of directors, the United States Chamber of Commerce announced that the representatives of from 1 0 to 200 trade organizations would be called into conference within two weeks for the purpose of establishing a permanent committee charged with the sustaining of economic stability.

The creation of such an organization was recommended at the

3 MEN IN 3 DAYS GET LIFE TERMS AS HABITUAL FELONS

Under New Interpretation of Law, Workhouse Rated Same as Penitentiary Sentences.

GUILTY PLEA 'TOO LATE'; REJECTED

Chief of Police Congratulates Circuit Attorney Miller on Record, Points to Benefit to City.

A sealed verdict finding Thomas Packineau, 23 years old, guilty of robbery and being an habitual criminal, and fixing his punishment at life imprisonment, was returned this morning by a jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's Court, this being the third time in three days that such a verdict has been reached.

Packineau's accomplice, James Percy Jones, 22, was convicted in the same court Wednesday and yesterday Hallett Marshall, 28, was convicted before Circuit Judge Calhoun. Jones has been in the penitentiary once before, while Packineau had served a term in a reformatory and Marshall in a workhouse.

Following Jones' conviction, Packineau offered to plead guilty if let off with a 20-year term. "Too late," said Assistant Circuit Attorney John L. Sullivan, prosecutor in both cases.

Admitted Fifteen Holdups.

Packineau and Jones, arrested last September, admitted 15 holdups, including one at the Bohannon automobile rental agency, Twelfth boulevard and Locust street, where they got $229 and for which they were tried. Employes of the agency identified Packineau as one of the robbers, and the State proved he had served a term for robbery in the Pontiac (Ill.) Reformatory. He offered no defense. The jury deliberated three hours.

Packineau and Marshall are the first former reformatory and workhouse inmates without penitentiary records to be convicted here as habitual criminals. Heretofore only former penitentiary inmates have been prosecuted under the drastic habitual criminal act, which requires the maximum punishment for the crime charged—in the case of robbery, life imprisonment.

Held Up Dew Drop Inn.

Marshall was accused of holding up Glenn Phipps, night cook in the Dew Drop Inn, 205 North Eleventh street, and taking $57 from the cash register, last Aug. 2. Phipps has since left the city, but two other employes of the restaurant, James Stewart and Malcolm McCall, identified Marshall as the robber. A policeman and a watchman, summoned by the employes, arrested Marshall as he was attempting to escape on a motor cycle.

The defense offered no testimony, but demurred to the sufficiency of the evidence on the ground the man actually held up, Phipps, had not testified. Marshall's attorney announced an appeal would be filed.

Marshall was not armed, but, according to testimony, made Phipps believe he had a revolver by pressing his finger against Phipps.

Difficulty was experienced in selecting a jury, a dozen men being excused when they announced that although in accord with the habitual criminal measure, they were unwilling to impose a life sentence on the defendant as he had not previously been in the penitentiary.

Marshall had served a Workhouse term on his plea of guilty of stealing an automobile, a felony which might have been punished by a penitentiary term of two to 25 years. The case was prosecuted by Assistant Circuit Attorney William B. Flynn.

Gerk Sends Congratulations to Circuit Attorney Miller.

"A few more such convictions will bring crime in St. Louis to a minimum," Chief of Police Gerk commented today, planning to send Circuit Attorney Miller a letter of congratulation on the three life sentences of robbers under the habitual criminal act this week. He pointed out that only one holdup occurred last night, in contrast to recent nights of 10, 12, 15 and 16 robberies.

"Sentiment is all right in its place, but have the highwaymen any sentiment for their victims?" the chief asked.

"There is too much sympathy on the wrong side. Whenever we get a crook, maudlin sentiment bubbles over to get him out. It's surprising how these birds get their helpers.

"If Circuit Attorney Miller continues to get jurors with stamina enough to put these fellows where they belong, where the evidence warrants it, we certainly will have less crime."

LAWYER STANDS BEFORE MIRROR AND KILLS SELF

E. P. Rosenberger, 5569 Maple Av. Found by Servant Instructed to Call Him at 11 A. M.

IN ILL HEALTH HIS WIDOW SAYS

He Had Been Judge and Legislator in Montgomery City, Mo., Where He Used to Live.

Emil P. Rosenberger, 50 years old, a lawyer, shot and killed himself today in a bedroom at his home, 5569 Maple avenue. His body, fully clothed, was found at 10:45 a. m. by a Negro house servant who had been instructed by Rosenberger to knock on the door at 11 o'clock.

Rosenberger's wife, Mrs. Lucille Rosenberger, returned from a hairdresser's shop a few minutes later. She told police her husband had been ill for five or six months and had lost about 40 pounds in weight.

The position of the body indicated that Rosenberger had stood before a mirror as he shot himself in the head with a pistol.

Rosenberger was a member of the firm of Greensfelder, Rosenberger & Grand in the Central National Bank Building. A graduate of Washington University, he practiced law for many years at Montgomery City, Mo., serving as Prosecuting Attorney, Probate Judge and in the General Assembly for that district. He came to St. Louis in 1924 and for a time was a member of the law firm of Rassieur & Goodwin.

STAY OF EXECUTION WILL BE GRANTED TO DR. SNOOK

Ohio Chief Justice Says Order Will Be Issued Pending Review of Case.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.—Dr. James H. Snook, under sentence of death for the murder of Theora K. Hix, will receive an indefinite stay of execution pending a review of his case before the State Supreme Court, Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall of the State's highest tribunal told attorneys for the slayer late today.

Earlier today a new trial was denied Snook by the Second District Court of Appeals.

Snook pleaded he was not given a fair trial, and was not given sufficient time in which to prepare his case. The Appellate Court, however, affirmed the lower court's finding and sentence.

The Appellate Court criticised methods used in obtaining a confession from Snook, and statements made by the prosecutor in summing up.

Of the confession, the Court said "the procedure commonly designated as the third degree" has no place in the administration of criminal justice. No crime, however harrowing and atrocious, justifies those who are charged with enforcing and upholding the law in digressing in any particular from the obligations of that duty. Nothing justifies abusing a prisoner or subjecting him to long periods of physical and mental strain and the denial of food and drink."

FINED FOR CUTTING PAY

Two Italian Farmers Penalized Under New Code.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

PADUA, Italy, Nov. 22.—An application of the Fascist labor charter has just been made at Mantagna, a small city near here. The local syndicate of farm workers brought an action against two landed proprietors for paying two of their employes lower wages than the local Fascist contract allowed and dismissing them for reasons of revenge.

The court house in which the case was heard was packed with farm hands and land owners. The former cheered when the magistrate fined the defendants $40 and $50 respectively for not respecting the Fascist contract.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Debts and other deductions reduced the estate of Marcus Loew, theater magnate, who died in 1927, from a gross of $1,673,293 to a net of $826,647, it was shown in a transfer tax appraisal filed today.

The principal asset was in securities valued at $1,427,479, the main item of which was 135 shares of Empire Corporation valued at $1,172,202. This corporation includes among its holdings 150,543 shares of Loew's Inc., valued at $2,603,767. The debts in the estate amounted to $667,560. The bulk of the estate goes to the widow and two sons.

GEORGES CLEMENCEAU.

EARL RADIO COMPANY GOES IN RECEIVERSHIP

Court Grants Petition of Creditors, One With Claim for $500,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 22.—On the petition of creditors, Vice Chancellor Church today appointed temporary receivers for the Earl Radio Corporation, manufacturers of radio sets, with headquarters in New York and a factory at Allwood, N. J.

The receivers named were Harry G. Hendricks and Arthur A. Klamer, president of the Klamer Furniture Co. of Evansville, Ind. This company is the largest creditor, claiming bills amounting to $500,000. The court issued an order to the company to show cause Dec. 10 why the receivership should not be made permanent.

Earl Radio was formed this year to take over the Charles Freshman company which in the fall of 1928 absorbed the Freed-Eiseman Co. The Earl company makes Earl and Freed radio sets.

Two petitions were filed in court, one by John A. Cozzone & Co., a creditor to the extent of $1907, and a supplementary one by the Emeloid Co., Inc., of Kearny, which claims $1392.

The first petition set the assets of the Earl company at approximately $4,000,000 and the liabilities $3,800,000, while the Emeloid petition puts the assets at $3,875,000, but added "under forced sale they would not realize more than one-third of the estimated value."

The petitions stated further that the company laid off about 2000 employes, was insolvent and is now working at 50 per cent capacity and at a loss.

FORD SOON TO GIVE DETAILS OF PAY RISE FOR EMPLOYES

Official Announcement Says Such Increases Hitherto Have Applied to All Workers.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 22.—An increase in wages for Ford employes which Henry Ford announced at Washington soon would be made effective, had been under consideration for several weeks, it was said at the motor company's offices here.

The details of the increase, its amount and its extent will be worked out by Henry Ford and his son Edsel, who is president of the Ford Motor Co. As to how widespread the wage increase might be, it was pointed out that "such increases always have applied to all Ford employes throughout the country."

CLEMENCEAU DYING; DOCTOR HAS NO HOPE

Doubts Old 'Tiger' of France, 88, Can Survive Another 24 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau this afternoon was making what many of those close to him consider his last fight for life. Friends said his condition was extremely critical and death was a possibility at any time.

Suffering agony, the 88-year-old French statesman was being watched constantly by his physicians and members of his family.

The physicians sent for oxygen tubes shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Injections of morphine gave him no relief from the pain caused by digestional disturbance and only injections of camphorated oil kept his heart going.

Dr. Degennes late today said that the death of "The Tiger" appeared only a question of hours.

The physician said that the former Premier was suffering from a crisis of uraemia, which already had lasted 18 hours, and could not possibly last another 24. Unless an unexpected improvement is shown within a few hours, Dr. Degennes concluded, the former Premier cannot hope to surmount the crisis.

The physician said that Clemenceau was in the greatest pain and had visibly to restrain himself from crying out.

One of Clemenceau's closest friends told the correspondents:

"Clemenceau's extraordinary physical resistance is used up."

Georges Mandel, former Cabinet chief for "The Tiger," visited the bedside this afternoon and later said: "His condition is very serious and very disquieting."

Dr. Raida, noted heart expert, who has been called in to assist Drs. Degennes, Laubry and Gosset, made an examination and said:

"M. Clemenceau's condition is grave but I am hopeful. There is no immediate danger."

Yesterday Clemenceau, while convalescing from a recent illness, suffered a heart attack and an intestinal indisposition.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Nov. 22.—When the motor of his airplane was torn from the ship and fell 1500 feet, Kenneth ("Red") Hunter, pilot of the Davenport Airways Co., guided the plane to a safe landing at noon today. Hunter and three student passengers were unhurt.

F. I. KENT SAYS INACTION MADE BUSINESS UNEASY

Admits Inflation of Stocks as Cause But Defends Making of $40,000,000 in Brokers' Loans.

GLASS DENOUNCES WALL ST. 'GAMBLING'

Such Profits Are "Paper," Senator Caraway Declares, "Until You Can Find a Sucker."

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Fred I. Kent, a director of the Bankers' Trust Co. of New York, explained volubly to the Senate's Lobby Investigating Committee today that when, in a recent New York speech, he charged the Senate coalition with partial responsibility for the stock market crash, he had in mind the unfavorable "psychology" created in the country by the Senate's failure to act promptly on the tariff bill.

Kent was grilled severely by the Democratic and Progressive Republican members of the committee. They made the point that passage of the bill as it came from the Finance Committee of the Senate would have been possible only if the Western Republican Senators had been willing tamely to surrender their convictions and go against the sentiment of their states.

Senator Carter Glass (Dem.) of Virginia, who sat with the committee, said afterward that Kent was obviously an honest banker, but deplorably ignorant of governmental processes.

After hearing Kent for three and a half hours, the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It does not expect to meet during the congressional recess.

Kent brought to the stand an ear phone to assist his hearing, but it was still necessary for the committee to address him in loud tones.

Kent said he had been a banker in Chicago before going to New York. Questioned about his New York speech, he said he had named the Senate situation as only one of the reasons for the market crash. Another, he said, was the "excessive capital gain tax" and another was the increase in the issuance of new securities during 1928.

Glass Assails "Gambling."

Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, sitting as a guest of the committee, asked him if he gave as another reason the speculation on the New York Exchange—the fact, as Glass said, that 90 per cent of the transactions on the exchange were "gambling" deals. Kent said that speculation no doubt had something to do with the crash.

There was also, Kent said, the "psychological effect on the American people" from the "failure of the Senate to function."

Kent said he did not get his views from any of the "information services" in Washington.

"How do you account for the unprecedented volume of brokers' loans when the Senate was not working on the tariff?" asked Glass. "Already the volume was alarming the Reserve Board," added Glass, "and it was not checked by any authoritative statement."

Kent said the brokers' loans represented sound securities.

Glass charged that the witness had violated the Federal Reserve act by making loans of $40,000,000 to brokers. Kent told Glass he was mistaken in his conclusion.

"Discounting Impossibilities."

"My interest in the matter," said Glass, "is to preserve the integrity of the Federal Reserve system and keep banks from violating the letter and spirit of the act as they have been doing in New York."

Kent argued warmly with the committee on the subject of brokers' loans. Glass said that numerous stocks had advanced far beyond their earning capacity.

"They were discounting future profits," said Kent. "They were

PHONE DIRECTORY CONSULTED FOR NEW CITY TAXES

Alderman Finds 41 Possible Subjects for Additional Revenue From Business Classes.

SOME EXISTING LEVIES MAY BE REMOVED

Board to Continue Work at Next Session, Starting With the "E" in Classified Columns.

Ordinarily city officials look for revenue in the treasury or the dictionary, but the Special License Tax Committee of the Board of Aldermen began seeking it in the telephone book yesterday.

The committee's duty is to find new sources of municipal income through license taxes. It wants to levy on all possible trades, services and professions not licensed already. It seized on the telephone classified directory as the handiest list to consult, so Alderman Waldman read aloud the various headings from "A" to "D" and Chief Deputy License Collector Immel told whether these businesses were taxed.

Forty-one possible subjects of taxation were discovered. Alderman Krueger listed them and Associate City Counselor Senti, who was present, will consult the city Charter to see if they are taxable. State law permits the city to license occupations and establishments that are listed in the Charter, and the list is a long and varied one, with some broad classifications like "professions" and "merchants." Alderman Eilers, chairman of the committee, declared, "If we can't tax some of 'em, we'd better have the law changed so that we can."

Tax on Beauty Parlors.

"Some single taxer representing the beauty parlors wants a hearing about taxing them," said Eilers, opening the discussion. "He says it's unconstitutional."

"All this committee has to do," replied Krueger, a lawyer, "is to see who's paying and who's not. There's a question of law whether we can tax 'em and they can have a hearing before the Legislative Committee on that."

"If we agree to people's broad sense of business judgment," Waldman put in, "they'll agree to being taxed. An undertaker told me the undertakers ought to be taxed. It's not legal to tax lawyers, but maybe they would agree to it voluntarily."

The last sally brought a laugh.

Many of the 41 potential revenue sources are establishments offering service of various sorts, rather than commodities or professional aid. Like a lot of the businesses already licensed, the majority of them likely would not be taxed a great deal individually, but the aggregate would make a nice showing in the city revenue, which never gets quite large enough to meet the expenditures.

Tax-Exempt Classes.

Immel and Senti pointed out some things that can't be subjected to a license tax as the committee went through the telephone book. Academies cannot be taxed because they are educational institutions, but that doesn't apply to dancing academies. Awning erectors defeated a license tax because the Charter doesn't mention them. Many enterprises pay through the general merchants' taxes on stocks and sales. Airplane sales are not a likely source because so far there are no agencies in the city known to the officials. Christian Science practitioners were not included in the list apparently because the committee desired to avoid any religious controversy.

It was pointed out that clubs and associations pay only an organization tax, so the committee put them down for hotel, restaurant and billiard taxes. Radio broadcasting stations were listed because they are advertising mediums and sometimes furnish theatrical talent, but it was pointed out that KSD, the Post-Dispatch station, was exempt because it is restricted almost entirely to chain programs.

Baseball clubs, it was related, are taxed. "Well, we'll have to change that," said Waldman, facetiously.

Boarding houses pay 50 cents per room every six months, the same as hotels. "We'll have to change that, too," he decalred; "just think, a little boarding house getting $3 a week for a room, charged as much tax as a hotel getting $5 to $7 a day!" In the "D's" the committee encountered circular distributors. "They're the ones who litter up our city," said one. "It's a fright. Tax 'em."

Other Revenue Sources.

Other potential sources of revenue listed were: Accountants, addressing companies, advertising agencies, ambulances, appraisers, architects, art galleries, artists, automobile rental agencies, repair shops, "laundries," and lubricating stations; house-to-house bakery peddlers, battery charging, bonding companies, bowling alleys, bricklayers, general building contractors, building cleaners, daily reports, building and loan associations, campaign directors, carpet cleaners, calkers, cemeteries, charitable institutions, chiropodists, collection agencies, commission merchants, ready-mixed concrete dealers, all kinds of contractors, decorators, delivery companies, dentists, disinfecting fumigators, doctors and dog and cat hospitals.

The committee, to which Aldermen Hirth and Hoefle also belong, later will consider increasing the license fees of some of those already taxed. Next Wednesday afternoon it will start at "E" in the telephone book and continue till the hand of the clock reaches six.

Delay in Naming Good's Successor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — President Hoover does not expect to name a Secretary of War to succeed the late James W. Good until the 30-day period of mourning is over, and it may be a considerable time after that before the position is filled. It was said at the White House today the War Department was in good hands under acting Secretary Hurley.

Banker Cross-Examined on Stock Crash

discounting impossibilities," retorted Glass.

Glass observed that the extraordinary increase in brokers' loans had occurred long before the tariff discussion began.

Caraway caught up the witness' statement that stocks were inflated in value. He remarked acidly that the witness and other bankers had been engaged in "palming off" these securities on the public. Kent objected.

"What interest fell down on account of this tariff situation?" demanded Caraway. "The interest of industry," began Kent.

"What particular industry?" persisted Caraway. Kent said that the chemical industry "began to hesitate" because it didn't know what the Senate would do.

He said he talked to 200 or 300 men in different parts of the country about the condition of industry. Caraway challenged him to name one. Kent said "no one banker" gave him the information on which he based his speech.

"I don't want to be unfair to any one," began Kent. Caraway attacked him savagely.

"If you named anybody they would repudiate you and you would be left up in the air," said the Senator.

Paper Profits.

They went at each other with increasing heat until Glass cut in with a new series of questions. Again Glass charged that many stocks were dealt in at rates far beyond their potential earnings.

"I have admitted that as one of the reasons for the break," said the witness.

They got on the subject of "paper profits." "They are paper profits until they are taken," said Kent.

"Until you can find a sucker," amended Caraway.

"The vice of this whole transaction is that outside banks are dumping their money into the New York Stock Exchange for betting purposes," said Glass.

Borah Takes Up Questioning.

Senator Borah took up the examination.

"Are you a tariff student?" he asked.

"Not so I'd feel competent to talk about the tariff," Kent replied. Borah pointed out that the program of the coalition had been to leave the industrial tariff rates untouched and change only the agricultural rates. He said this program had failed in the Senate by only one vote.

"Have you seen anywhere in any newspaper an account of any industrial rate being assailed by the coalition:" asked Borah. Kent said he had not. He had been concerned rathe with the "psychology" of the people created by the tariff debate.

He returned to the point that the Senate had shown itself "unable to function" and business had become uneasy.

Kent said he had not read the tariff bill.

"Have you read the record of the Senate to determine whether or not it is functioning?" asked Borah. "No sir," replied Kent.

Borah pinned him to admissions that he didn't know how many items there were in the bill or how many the Senate had acted on.

On the Duty of Party Men.

"Then do you think it fair to tell the public that the Senate is not functioning when you have made no study to find out what the Senate has done?" quizzed Borah. Kent said that he thought party men should have stood by their party.

"What you are trying to do is make it appear that a tariff bill should be passed regardless of its merits if only it can command a majority of one party in a committee," said Borah.

"The country, elected a president whose views are well-known," began Kent. "What are they?" asked Glass quickly.

Kent said the President was elected on a platform calling for a revision of the tariff. Caraway demanded that he tell just what kind of revision. Kent replied in general terms that the President had called Congress together to reconstruct the tariff.

"How can you say the Senate is not functioning," resumed Borah. "Well, it has adjourned, hasn't it?" retorted Kent. Kent said he hoped that when the Senate reconvened, it would handle the tariff quickly and relieve business anxiety.

Borah, standing and emphasizing his remarks with raps on the table, taxed the witness again with complete unfamiliarity with the bill and the Senate's action upon it.

Leans Heavily on Psychology.

"We have not decreased any industrial rate," said Borah. "What have we actually done in the way of attacking rates that caused you to be disturbed?" "The fact that you couldn't function, and the public had the feeling that rates might be reduced. Their psychology changed, and they hadn't as much buying power in the market."

"Don't you think you should have made some research before you attacked the Senate?" asked Glass. Kent fell back again in the "psychology" of the public.

"What you are complaining about," fired Caraway. "Is it that the sucker list gave out before all the brokers unloaded?"

Gambling vs. Investment.

Glass drew the witness into a discussion of "gambling" as distinguished from "investment."

"We have just had a very interesting distinction drawn by a bishop of my church," remarked Glass, amid laughter. The reference was to Bishop Cannon of the Methodist Church.

"Do you think that any appreciable number of persons who buy on margins go to sleep on it?" asked Glass. "I think they do," replied Kent.

Walsh read from the November Bulletin of the National City Bank saying that business over the country was proceeding in a "healthy and orderly fashion," despite the chaos of the stock market.

He wanted to know how the witness reconciled this with his statement that business had been retarded by the Senate coalition.

Again Kent said there was a "difference in attitude," an "uncertaintly," in the country. Walsh finally drove him to the categorical answer that so far as he knew no business had been hurt.

Walsh tore into him to learn what he meant by saying the Senate had "ceased to function." They clashed over the right of a man in the Senate to have an individual opinion. Kent said that this question would have to be considered "on the basis of special cases."

Banker's Ideas on Majorities.

"What difference does it make," asked Walsh, "whether the majority comes from one side or both sides of the chamber?" "I think the majority should be formed by the people and not by a bloc in the Senate," said the witness.

Walsh examined him on detailed prospective effects of the tariff bill as it came from the Senate Finance Committee.

"Don't you think," he asked, "that the prospect of adding $76,000,000 to the profits of Connecticut manufacturers would have a tendency to increase the value of their stocks?" "If people believed the tariff bill was going through, that would naturally have an effect on the stocks," said Kent.

"Nobody expects anything about a tariff bill until it is passed," he replied to another question.

Caraway pounced on the remark. "Then why should anybody be disturbed about it?" he challenged.

Kent repeated that the disturbance was due to the "uncertainty" over the bill.

"You believe," said Walsh, "that no matter how high tariff rates are, they should never be reduced, lest an unfavorable psychology be created."

Kent said he had not made that contention. He added that "the tariff ought to be taken out of politics."

Kent said that when he spoke in New York he hoped the coalition would take note that the country was interested in the tariff situation and would let the country know what it intended.

"My purpose," he said, "was to try to have the Senate realize the effect on the country of its failure to function."

Walsh called his attention to the fact that among the Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee there was not a single man from the agricultural west.

For Party Regularity.

"Your idea is that the Republican members of the Senate from the West should quit and vote with the majority?" asked Walsh. Kent agreed that this was his idea.

"Your complaint, then, is against the Progressive Republicans and not against the Democrats?" asked Walsh. Kent said it was a "mistake" for the Democrats to join with certain Republicans in creating a majority.

The argument went around in a circle. Caraway ended this phase of the examination by asking the witness to be sure to send the committee a copy of his book on psychology if he should write one.

"The proposition here," said Senator Blaine, "is to force through a tariff bill with exorbitant rates. Do yo uthink the independent Progressive Republicans of the West should be guided by Mr. Grundy and swallow the bill?" Kent said they ought to get together with the other members of the party and try to reach an agreement.

Advice to the Progressives.

Blaine told him that the tariff bill was written behind closed doors by a small Republican group, the only outsider who was admitted being Charles L. Eyanson, an agent of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association.

"You wanted the independents to go into log-rolling and deals with the Republican majority?" asked Blaine. Kent said he had made no such suggestion. "What I do claim is that they should get together, I don't care where, and talk over the proposition," said Kent.

Caraway cut him short.

"We've only 10 minutes left and if you have an idea in your system we want to get it," he drawled.

Caraway took the witness in hand. To several questions Kent made long replies. "Please don't make a speech every time a question is asked," he rebuked the witness. "It gets tiresome." Kent laughed good-naturedly and begged the Senator's pardon.

Hard to Pin Down.

Walsh asked him specifically whether he wanted Senator Schall (Rep.), Minnesota, for example, to disregard his convictions and the sentiment of the people of Minnesota and vote with the majority of the Finance Committee. "No," he replied. "If I were Senator Schall I would try to convince the committee I was right."

"But if you were unable to convince the committee?" prodded Walsh. "If I were correct, I feel certain I could convince them," Kent evaded.

"But suppose they were obdurate?" asked Walsh. "It would depend on developments," said the cornered Kent. Walsh pressed his question, but Kent was wily. He said that if he couldn't convince the other fellows, he would "do what was for the best interests of the country."

"Now that you know the Finance Committee proposed increases in a great many industrial rates, does it now occur to you that in your New York speech you were merely reflecting the disappointment of those interests that were expecting greatly increased profits?" asked Walsh. "No, sir," replied Kent.

The committee adjourned subject to the call of Chairman Caraway. He announced that no meetings would be held next week.

Arnold Tiels of Work in West.

Kent was preceded on the stand by J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff Association, who said he had been active in organizing a Western tariff association. Stephen H. Love of Salt Lake City, president of the United States Beet Sugar Association, had testified as to the Southern association head's activities in the West. The purpose of the Western group, Arnold said, was to promote a protective tariff, and he added that about $10,000 was in the treasury when he last heard of it.

RYCKOFF SURVEY EXTENDED TO PRIMARY CABLE PAVING

Check to Date Shows Indicted Contractor Overcharged City More Than $100,000 for Sidewalk Paving.

The City Board of Estimate and Apportionment today directed Pitzman's Co. of Surveyors and Engineers to survey the amount of street repaving, over primary cable lines, done by A. M. Ryckoff in the course of his execution of city lighting installation contracts.

Pitzman's Co. asked whether it was expected to include this item in its report. It will be through in about a week, the Board was informed, with the checking of sidewalk brick and concrete replacement over secondary cable lines. The street repaving survey will add 10 days or two weeks to the work, for which the city pays by the day.

The inquiry is being made to determine whether Ryckoff did the amount of brick and concrete sidewalk repaving for which the city paid him $284,000. A survey made by engineers for the Post-Dispatch last spring indicated that Ryckoff had been largely overpaid, and he was indicted. The Pitzman survey to date shows that Ryckoff charged the city more than $100,000 for sidewalk repaving not actually laid.

GOVERNMENT OPERATION OF MUSCLE SHOALS URGED

Public Ownership League of America Votes to Press Project on Congressmen.

By the Associated Press.

TUSCOMBIA, Ala., Nov. 22.—The Public Ownership League of America, sponsors in the United States and Canada of public ownership and operation of natural resources, today pledged its support to the movement to bring about Government operation of the power and nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals.

It was voted to communicate with Congressmen by letter and resolutions, urging their support of legislation which would bring about the supplying of power and nitrates to the nation's farmers "at approximately half its present cost."

William Madgett of Hastings, Neb., a former president of the Nebraska League of Municipalities, declared in an address that the "Power Trust and all other such trusts" now were campaigning actively for defeat of Senator George W. Norris because of the Nebraskan's efforts on behalf of enactment of legislation providing Government operation of Muscle Shoals.

ROTHSTEIN LOST $300,000 IN GAME, WITNESS SAYS

For All But $2000 of It, Gambler Gave I. O. U.'s, Meyer Boston Tells Jury in McManus' Trial.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Meyer Boston told the jury today in the trial of George McManus for the murder of Arnold Rothstein that Rothstein lost $300,000, instead of $200,000, in the famous stud poker game two months before he was killed.

And for all but $2000 of it, Boston said, the big boss of the gambling world in New York gave "I. O. U.'s."

"There was a pile of cash on the table in front of Rothstein when I pulled out a couple of hours before the end," said Boston.

"And did he keep that?" asked Ferdinand Pecora, assistant district attorney. "Yes."

Boston said he won $8000 in the game, a feature of which was side betting for large sums on the highest cards.

$20,000 Cash on the Spot.

Continuing the description of the party, which was begun yesterday by James Meehan, the host; Martin Bowe, who said he lost $5700, and his brother, Sam Boston, Meyer said George McManus lost $51,000, of which he paid $20,000 in cash on the spot. The rest of his losses, Meyer testified, McManus paid up in the following two days.

It is the testimony of the participants in that poker game that the State hopes to find material that will convince the jury that McManus had a motive for luring Rothstein into a room of the Park Central Hotel to his death, the night of Nov. 4, 1928.

Boston said that Rothstein, McManus, "Nigger Nate" Raymond, who came out of the game $200,000 winner, "Titanic" Thompson, Bowe, and himself, participated in the side betting, and that the stakes ran high.

"Titanic" on the stand said that the chauffeur, who acted as dealer in the poker session, was so inexpert that they had to show him how to shuffle the cards. He was Martin ("Red") Bowe's chauffeur, the witness said.

Thompson had been asked if there was any cheating in the game and replied: "No. There couldn't be betting on high card with a strange man shuffling the cards."

"Did you know that man who shuffled the cards?" "No. But we had to show him how to shuffle the cards."

Juror Taken Ill.

Shortly after the trial had adjourned this afternoon a juror went to the chambers of Judge Nott and told the judge he was ill and asked to be excused from further duty.

Judge Nott said he had designated a physician to examine the juror and report as to his condition Monday morning when court reconvenes. If the man is found to be physically incapable of continuing as a juror a mistrial probably will be declared as no extra juror is picked to provide for such emergencies in this State.

HOOVER TO CONFER WITH BUILDERS ON BUSINESS PROGRAM industrial conference to carry through the President's program.

Statement on Wages.

The White House statement on the maintenance of present wage schedules follows:

The President was authorized by the employers who were present at this morning's conference to state on their individual behalf that they will not initiate any movement for wage reduction and it was their strong recommendation that this attitude should be pursued by the country as a whole.

They considered that aside from the human considerations involved, the consuming power of the country will thereby be maintained.

The President was also authorized by the representatives of labor to state that in their individual views and that as their strong recommendation to the country as a whole that no movements beyond those already in negotiation should be initiated for increase of wages, and that every co-operation should be given by labor to industry in the handling of its problems.

The purpose of these declarations is to give assurance that conflicts should not occur during the present situation which will affect the continuity of work and thus to maintain stability of employment.

Julius Barnes predicted that the committee he would name would be a continuing organization to preserve the balance of American business.

"We need to find the key log in a jam," he said. "If you can focus your attention on it and get it, you can go ahead.

"Some of the weak spots in American industry are improving. One of these is the shipbuilding industry, which is putting old yards in shape and preparing to care for increased production. The oil industry, through voluntary agreements, is in much better shape. The textiles, which were badly hit, are in a somewhat better position. The coal industry has improved.

"When the McNary-Haugen bill was first proposed to help bring the index price of agricultural products up to an equivalent of the industrial price index, the agricultural price index was 120 as against 160 for industry; whereas the agricultural index is 146 against 139 for industry."

Barnes said there was a right to think that building construction, which has lagged for a year now, could pick up again.

"Funds are ready for it," he added.

No Reduction in Steel Workers' Wages, Leader in Industry Says.

By the Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 22.—There will be no reduction in the wages of workers in the steel industry, J. A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. declared today. Campbell, who has been in conference with business and industrial leaders in New York, said that from all reports received general business conditions are sound.

"President Hoover's policies are absolutely sound and constructive and for the best interests of the nation," said Campbell. "He should not be hampered by a handful of politicians seeking personal ambitions and political success but should be encouraged by millions of people."

189 Class One Railways Promise to Support Hoover Program.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Executive heads of 189 Class One railways of the nation today pledged themselves to give the utmost aid to President Hoover's program for maintaining business conditions on a normal basis. Meeting in annual conference, the railway leaders formulated a report to the President, but announced that any specific statement concerning the report would come from the White House.

R. H. Aishton, chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives, authorized the following statement: "The meeting indorsed the views of the President in this matter and agreed to do everything possible to aid in continuing the maintenance of business in this country on a normal basis. A report is being made to the President by this meeting.

TO STUDY CLEVELAND ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

Gehner and Comptroller's Aid Asked for Report by Estimate Board.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment today voted to send City Assessor Gehner and a representative of the Comptroller's office to Cleveland, O., to make a thorough inquiry into the Cleveland plan of scientifically equalized tax assessments, and to report on the merits and deficiencies of the Cleveland system as compared with the methods now in use in St. Louis.

E. G. Schubkegel, chief examiner of tax assessments in the Comptroller's office, will go with Gehner to investigate the equalization plan, which was described to St. Louis city officials and members of business organizations a week ago by John A. Zangerle, County Auditor of Cuyahoga County, O., in charge of Cleveland assessments.

In the Board of Estimate session, which was behind closed doors, the members, who are Mayor Miller, Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, discussed the Cleveland plan at some length. A change is being advocated here by the Chamber of Commerce tax committee, as a means of increasing the now insufficient municipal revenues.

Men Cleaning Pipe Fall 75 Feet; Found Next Day.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Three workmen who were cleaning the interior of a smokestack in Brooklyn fell to their death yesterday, but the fact was not discovered until today. Inquiries by the wife of one of the victims, who failed to reach home last night, led to the discovery of the bodies.

The men went to work yesterday noon scraping the grimy inside of the 160-foot chimney at the waterfront plant of the American Sugar Refining Co. Their scaffolding apparently collapsed at a height of 75 feet from the base of the smoke stack, but the noise of the accident was drowned by the racket of machinery in the plant and the roar of traffic over Brooklyn bridge. Today the door at the base of the stack was opened and the bodies found buried under the wreckage of the scaffolding.

HELD FOR BIGAMY AND WORTHLESS PAYROLL CHECKS

Thomas C. Jones, Former Head of a St. Louis Sign Company Brought Back From Kansas City.

THOUGHT FIRST WIFE HAD DIVORCED HIM

Warrant Against Prisoner Accused by Second Wife's Attorney of Having Married Five Times.

A temporary warrant charging bigamy was issued today against Thomas C. Jones, former president of an electric sign firm at 3327 Lindell boulevard, brought back here yesterday from Kansas City to await action by the grand jury. He also is accused of issuing worthless pay checks to his employes.

"I've made a fool of myself," he told police.

In 1922 he married Mrs. Irene Stavart Jones in Los Angeles, Cal. She and their two children are now living in Chicago. Last February he married Mrs. Mary Brenholts, a Columbus (O.) divorcee, at Knoxville, Tenn.

"I had trouble with my first wife's parents and they ordered me out," Jones explained. "I told my wife to go ahead and get a divorce, and I wouldn't contest it. I married again under the impression she had obtained a divorce."

Came Here Last July.

Jones came to St. Louis in July and established his sign company. He and his second wife lived at the Coronado Hotel. Her suspicions were aroused when Jones' woman secretary, in his Kansas City office, came here and created a scene. She had an investigation made by her brother and her attorney which disclosed Jones' previous marriage.

With domestic and business troubles pressing, Jones moved to Kansas City three weeks ago. An employe, Joe Cross, 4202 Arsenal street, who had received a worthless pay check for $16.50, complained to the Prosecuting Attorney. Cross said Jones had issued numerous other worthless checks to employes.

"I thought I had enough money in the bank to cover the checks," said Jones.

Dodges Habeas Corpus Writ.

A St. Louis Police Sergeant, who brought Jones back from Kansas City, hurried him aboard a train there when habeas corpus proceedings were instituted in an effort to free him.

In a statement to police Jones, who is 41 years old, reviewed his marriages, admitted he had made a "very grievous mistake" and concluded: "My better half and my worst half have had it out with each other and I believe that I can now live the rest of my life seriously and in a straight-forward manner.

"I have looked facts squarely in the face and have reviewed the mistakes I have made heretofore, and know full well there will be no repetition of them."

Mrs. Brenholts Jones has returned to her home in Columbus, determined to prosecute. Her attorney said he had received information about Jones through an anonymous letter, and his investigation indicated Jones had been married "at least five times." Jones denied this.

Luther Monday, Atlanta, was killed by an automobile while crouched beside his car making repairs during the snowstorm at Smackover, Ark., yesterday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Temperatures last night and today went as low as 16 degree below zero in Thief River Falls, Minn., and the snow piled up 19 inches deep at Dunkirk, N. Y. Four persons were killed at Erie, Pa., when a New York Central passenger train, 45 minutes late, struck two automobiles in a heavy snow storm. HELD FOR BIGAMY AND WORTHLESS PAYROLL CHECKS

Thomas C. Jones, Former Head of a St. Louis Sign Company Brought Back From Kansas City.

Warrant Against Prisoner Accused by Second Wife's Attorney of Having Married Five Times.

A temporary warrant charging bigamy was issued today against Thomas C. Jones, former president of an electric sign firm at 3327 Lindell boulevard, brought back here yesterday from Kansas City to await action by the grand jury. He also is accused of issuing worthless pay checks to his employes.

"I've made a fool of myself," he told police.

In 1922 he married Mrs. Irene Stavart Jones in Los Angeles, Cal. She and their two children are now living in Chicago. Last February he married Mrs. Mary Brenholts, a Columbus (O.) divorcee, at Knoxville, Tenn.

"I had trouble with my first wife's parents and they ordered me out," Jones explained. "I told my wife to go ahead and get a divorce, and I wouldn't contest it. I married again under the impression she had obtained a divorce."

Came Here Last July.

Jones came to St. Louis in July and established his sign company. He and his second wife lived at the Coronado Hotel. Her suspicions were aroused when Jones' woman secretary, in his Kansas City office, came here and created a scene. She had an investigation made by her brother and her attorney which disclosed Jones' previous marriage.

With domestic and business troubles pressing, Jones moved to Kansas City three weeks ago. An employe, Joe Cross, 4202 Arsenal street, who had received a worthless pay check for $16.50, complained to the Prosecuting Attorney. Cross said Jones had issued numerous other worthless checks to employes.

"I thought I had enough money in the bank to cover the checks," said Jones.

Dodges Habeas Corpus Writ.

A St. Louis Police Sergeant, who brought Jones back from Kansas City, hurried him aboard a train there when habeas corpus proceedings were instituted in an effort to free him.

In a statement to police Jones, who is 41 years old, reviewed his marriages, admitted he had made a "very grievous mistake" and concluded: "My better half and my worst half have had it out with each other and I believe that I can now live the rest of my life seriously and in a straight-forward manner.

"I have looked facts squarely in the face and have reviewed the mistakes I have made heretofore, and know full well there will be no repetition of them."

Mrs. Brenholts Jones has returned to her home in Columbus, determined to prosecute. Her attorney said he had received information about Jones through an anonymous letter, and his investigation indicated Jones had been married "at least five times." Jones denied this.

Charged With Plotting Murder for Insurance

ANOTHER BANK MOVING TO BROADWAY, OLIVE

Mississippi Valley-Merchants to Take Over Former Quarters of Liberty Central.

The Mississippi Valley Merchants State Trust Co., now located on the west side of Fourth street, between Olive and Pine streets, will move in about four months to the southwest corner of Broadway and Olive streets, where larger quarters will be available.

Under the terms of leases just completed, the bank will take over the quarters formerly occupied by the Liberty Central Trust Co. which have been vacant since the Liberty Central merged with the First National Bank last February. The building company will erect an additional third story on its so-called annex, to the south of the main building, and the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., which owns the 30-foot frontage south of the annex, will replace the present motion picture theater building there with a three-story and basement building to conform with the Liberty Central structure.

The Mississippi Valley Merchants State Trust Co. will occupy the first, second and third floor, together with the basement of the combined structures. The general banking room will occupy the first floor, a safe deposit department, twice the size of the bank's present department, will occupy the basement, and the various accounting departments will occupy the upper floors.

The bank, formed by a merger of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., the State National Bank, and the Merchants-Laclede National Bank, has occupied remodeled quarters in the Merchants-Laclede and Mississippi Valley buildings since July 1, when the physical merger became effective. In its new move, the bank will abandon quarters which it owns to become a tenant of a holding company controlled by the First National Bank.

According to J. Sheppard Smith, president of the bank, the new move was necessitated by the crowded and inflexible nature of the present quarters; the Liberty Central Building offering the only space in the vicinity sufficiently large and adaptable to meet the bank's requirements. Edward B. Pryor, chairman of the board, said tenants were already available for all of the space which will be available in the Merchants-Laclede Building and the Mississippi Valley Annex.

The new quarters have been leased for a 40-year term, with the privilege of cancellation after five years. The contemplated improvements will cost $200,000 or more. At the Broadway and Olive location, the bank will face the Olive street entrance of the First National Bank and will be diagonally across from the Boatmen's National Bank.

WHIPPING POST FOR ROBBER

Sentenced to 15 Lashes and 18 Months in London.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A self-styled New York gunman was sentenced here yesterday to 15 lashes with the cat-o'nine-tails and 18 months at hard labor for robbery with a pistol. The crime netted him $100.

The prisoner gave his name as Jacobus van Dyn. He said he had emigrated from South Africa to the United States where he learned up-to-date robbery methods. Sentence was passed by Sir Henry Dickens, son of the novelist. "Thank you sir," said Van Dyn to the judge as he was led away to the whipping post.

WIFE AND SUITOR HELD FOR KILLING IN INSURANCE PLOT

William O'Brien Fatally Shot in Chicago Apartment by Man Who Had Sold Him $5000 Policy.

SLAYER'S WIFE ALSO WAS TO BE KILLED.

Victim's Mate Tried to Take Blame but He Revived Just Before Dying and Disclosed Truth.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—A Coroner's jury today returned a verdict holding Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien and Samuel Dorr responsible for the killing of Mrs. O'Brien's husband, William H. O'Brien.

O'Brien was shot Wednesday. He died last night. Dorr confessed firing the shots in the O'Brien home and Mrs. O'Brien confessed that she and Dorr plotted to kill their respective mates and flee after collecting $5000 insurance on a policy sold to O'Brien by Dorr.

According to information to police Dorr also attempted to write a $15,000 policy for O'Brien a few days before the shooting.

Dorr in a statement said he was in Mrs. O'Brien's room when O'Brien came home Wednesday night.

"I shot at him as he entered the bedroom," Dorr said. "He ran into the hall and down the stairs as I fired at him again. I fired four shots."

Dorr denied he was motivated by hopes of obtaining the insurance money or that he had planned to kill his wife. He said he shot O'Brien for abusing Mrs. O'Brien, with whom Dorr said he had been intimate for several months. The apartment house where the shooting occurred is owned by Dorr and he and his wife live in rooms adjacent to the O'Brien quarters.

Mrs. O'Brien in her story said she had been despondent and had tried to kill herself recently because her husband abused her.

"Dorr told me he could not endure my feeling so," Mrs. O'Brien said. "He said 'I guess I'll have to kill them both and get the insurance'."

Donald O'Brien, the slain man's father, added that Dorr had been persistent in attempting to have the victim take additional insurance with Mrs. O'Brien as beneficiary.

Mrs. Dorr, mother of two children, ran into the O'Brien apartment when she heard the shots. It was her first knowledge that her husband was unfaithful, she said. Mrs. O'Brien said she at first decided to take the blame for the shooting. After a hasty conference with Dorr and Mrs. Dorr, they believed, she said, that she could tell a story of cruelty and be acquitted.

She was forced to retract her confession, however, when O'Brien regained consciousness just before death and told that Dorr had shot him.

SINCLAIR GIVES PARTY FOR HIS CLOSE FRIENDS

Oil Millionaire, Out of Jail, Entertains at Cottage on Rancocas Farms.

By the Associated Press.

JOBSTOWN, N. J., Nov. 22.—Harry F. Sinclair, who was released from jail in Washington yesterday, was host to a number of close friends in his cottage at Rancocas Farms last night.

It is at Rancocas that Sinclair has his famous racing stables. It was stated that Sinclair probably would devote much of his time today to his track affairs, watching particularly two fillies sired by the famous Zev, upon whom his stables pin hopes for the Kentucky Derby.

TWO GUNMEN SHOOT WAY OUT

Trapped in Minneapolis Hotel Basement After Robbery Fails.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 22.—Two gunmen, trapped in the basement of the Oak Grove Hotel after they had failed in an attempt to hold up the place, shot their way to freedom early today as the clerk and the night watchman sought to capture them. No one was injured. Guests, awakened by the firing, crowded the lobby after the short gun fight. The gunmen fled in an automobile with two other men.

DIAMOND DEMAND DECLINES

New York Slump Felt by Capetown Cutters.

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, Nov. 22.—Ever since the securities market in the United States took its slump the demand for big diamonds which were being cut here has fallen off.

Experts say that the falling off of prices in the security market in New York has been felt keenly by the diamond cutters in Capetown and it is expected that the Government may be asked to help organize assistance.

HER BIG "COPPER" MAN TURNED OUT TO BE POLICEMAN

Chicago Woman Thought Her Suitor Was Referring to Stock Market.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Where Mrs. Lovina Williamson made her mistake was in thinking that "Copper" meant what Webster says it does.

Before Mrs. Williamson became Mrs. Williamson she inquired of Virgil R. Williamson how he made his money. It was fair enough inquiry, for he had asked her hand in marriage. "Copper" said Williamson. And so they were married Jan. 6, 1926.

Yesterday Williamson asked Judge Lynch for a divorce. He said his wife left him three years ago.

Mrs. Williamson's lawyer explained that she had left her husband because she found out that "copper" did not refer to the stock market. When her husband said "copper," she learned, he meant policeman.

ILLINOIS GRAND JURY INDICTS ONE OF ITS OWN MEMBERS

HILLSBORO, Ill., Nov. 22.—Indicting one of its own members was the novel experience of the November Montgomery Circuit Court grand jury which reported to county authorities yesterday afternoon.

Among the 38 true bills returned was one indicting Jacob Evans of Panama, one of the grand jurors, for conspiracy to force Dr. Arthur S. Needles to leave Panama.

He was compelled to consider the evidence against himself and five other men. The six men, all Panama coal miners, are charged with having threatened to assault Dr. Needles unless he moved out of the community. Fearing that he would be attacked, the physician left the town, giving up a lucrative practice, it is said.

Others who were indicted with Evans in the case were Frank Hartman, Ben Pauline, Joe Vigiocco, Peter Viviano and William McCoy.

SISTERS IN TRIPLE WEDDING

They Will Live in Adjoining Apartments in Rochester, N. Y.

By the Associated Press.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 22.—What was to have been a double wedding here last midnight became a triple ceremony at the last moment when three sisters decided they couldn't stand separation after living together in an apartment here for several years.

The brides are Misses Gladys, Mildred and Barbara Hance, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hance of Gouvernour, N. Y. Their husbands are Russell Fanara, William Lawson and William Leiston, respectively. Mildred and Barbara had arranged to be married last night but Gladys had planned to defer her wedding until spring. The three bridal pairs will occupy adjoining apartments here after their return from a honeymoon in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. McPherson's Auto Attached.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—The automobile and bank account of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, were under attachment today as the result of a suit filed against her by Frank Timpson, former business manager of Angelus Temple, Mrs. McPherson's church, for alleged breach of contract. Timpson asks $7600 from Mrs. McPherson and Angelus Temple, alleging that he was discharged in violation of a two-year contract.

WOMAN ACQUITTED OF DUPING BLIND VETERAN OF $2000

Mrs. Loretta Nash Charged With Defrauding One of Her Boarders on Auto Trip to California.

Mrs. Loretta Nash, who takes in boarders, was acquitted today of a charge of embezzling $2000 from one boarder, Charles U. Cummings, blind and paralyzed war veteran.

The acquittal came in a sealed verdict, reached by a jury last night after two hours' deliberation and opened this morning before Circuit Judge Hamilton. Three ballots were taken, the jurors standing seven to five for acquittal on the first two, according to the foreman, W. E. Buckley, 5581 St. Edward avenue.

Another juror, I. N. Brown, 6649 Marquette avenue, acting as spokesman for the body, said "a different verdict might have been reached" if the State, instead of trying Mrs. Nash alone, had tried her husband, Frank Nash, or the husband and wife jointly.

On hearing this, the prosecutor, Assistant Circuit Attorney Thomas C. Hennings, said he would present the jury's suggestion to Circuit Attorney Miller.

Brown said the jurors based their verdict largely on one of the Court's instructions which was to acquit the defendant if her acts were committed in the presence of her husband or near enough to be under his control, the law presuming a wife's acts are subject to domination and coercion by the husband unless otherwise shown.

Brown said the State had not proved Mrs. Nash had been serving as Cummings' agent, as charged, at the time of the alleged embezzlement, the evidence indicating that Nash was the agent and was aware of everything that was being done.

Cummings went to board at the Nash home a year ago after meeting Nash at the Veterans' Hospital, where he was a patient and Nash an orderly. Cummings then accompanied the Nashes on a tour to California which ended, he testified, when Mrs. Nash appropriated his $2000 and returned to St. Louis.

However, Mrs. Nash and her husband testified Cummings had given her $1000 to persuade her to make the trip to California and had spent the other $1000 for traveling expenses and gifts of pearls and other articles for Mrs. Nash. Nash said Cummings had called him a "bozo" in asking Mrs. Nash to leave her husband for her boarder.

Mrs. Nash is 35 years old and conducts a rooming house at 3719 Wyoming street.

REALTY MAN GIVES $25,000 BOND IN $100,000 FORGERY

Arthur W. Obermeyer Released From Jail Consults With Attorneys Concerning His Defense.

Arthur W. Obermeyer, real estate dealer and former church deacon and Sunday school teacher, who was arrested late Tuesday afternoon after he had confessed that he sold about $100,000 worth of forged deeds of trust, was released on $25,000 bond today.

"A lot of things have been said about me that aren't true and I don't care to discuss anything," Obermeyer told reporters. His bond, signed by George I. Dominick and John J. Keegan, professional bondsmen, is returnable Dec. 23 before Judge Butler in Court of Criminal Correction.

Defense Denies Forgeries.

He was taken to the office of his attorneys, Maurice J. Gordon and Louis Hudson, where, after a conference, Hudson issued a statement in Obermeyer's presence denying the real estate dealer ever had forged any deeds of trust, asserting he had "no such amount of money as has been charged," and promising he will "eventually save his clients from any loss." Obermeyer, Hudson said, has "no intention at this time to plead guilty to any of the charges against him."

Former Circuit Judge Frey yesterday estimated Obermeyer's liabilities at $150,000.

Sued on Notary's Bond.

Frey is attorney for the American Loan Co., which purchased $27,000 worth of forged deeds from Obeymeyer. Yesterday Frey filed four suits for $5000 each against the Union Indemnity Co. of New Orleans La., surety on Obermeyer's bond as a notary public. The suits allege that Obermeyer, acting as a notary, falsely attested to the authenticity of signatures he had forged on worthless deeds of trust.

Walter W. Davis, claim agent here for the Union Indemnity Co., said his company probably would be liable for the amount of the bond if the plaintiff's allegations were proved. He thinks the company would be liable only for $5000 and not for the full amount of the bond in each case. Obermeyer, he said, obtained the bond in the usual manner upon the payment of a fee of $15.

Two More Claimants.

Two more persons who think they have been swindled by Obermeyer consulted Frey yesterday in regard to their claims. Mrs. Bertha Beckman of Brentwood, said she had purchased a $2000 deed of trust the validity of which she suspected. Mrs. Mae Thirolf, 4219 Maffitt avenue, declared she had purchased deeds of trust totaling $9100 which she thought were worthless.

Jacob Sigoloff, receiver of the A. W. Obermeyer & Bro., Real Estate Co., appointed Wednesday, took formal possession of the office at 1502 Union boulevard yesterday. So far, he said, he had not been able to find any tangible assets other than the office furniture.

FOUR PARTIES START SEARCH FOR EIELSON

Missing Flyer Thought to Be 50 Miles Off North Cape, Siberia.

By the Associated Press.

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 22.—Four parties were scouting the terrain in the vicinity of North Cape, Siberia, today in search of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic pilot, who has been missing since Nov. 9, while Pilot Frank Dorbandt was waiting here ready to conduct a search from the air when the weather moderates sufficiently to make a flight feasible.

Eielson, in co-operation with Dorbandt, was engaged in transporting passengers and furs to Nome from the Swenson Fur Trading Co.'s ship, Nanuk, icebound near North Cape. They also were to take off passengers on the soviet ship Stavropol, locked in the ice near the Nanuk.

They made one trip from the Nanuk, landing six passengers and a quantity of furs in Nome. They were forced down at Teller, Alaska, by storms on their second trip, but took to the air again. Then Dorbandt was forced to return to Teller, but Eielson continued.

His plane was sighted by natives about 60 miles from the Nanuk, while the motor of the craft was heard 10 miles closer to the ship by a Russian trader. The trader did not see the plane, owing to heavy fog, word received from him here yesterday, however, was that he believed Eielson was flying inland. He said there was a mountain about 10 miles from the coast at that point, on which Eielson might have crashed.

Olaf Swenson, head of the company which owns the Nanuk, sent a radio message from the ship that a dog team from the Nanuk, should have reached the locality yesterday where Eielson was last seen. It would require considerable time for the team to report back to the ship, it was explained. Swenson said three more dog team parties were sent out from the ship yesterday.

TIDAL WAVE DEATH TOTAL REACHES 40 IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Lower Part of Peninsula Hardest Hit With Heaviest Loss of Life at Point Aux Gauls and Burin.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 22.—The death toll and property loss from a tidal wave which swept the coast of the Burin Peninsula after Monday's earthquake mounted today as reports arrived slowly from the devastated sections. A heavy snowstorm was reported along the coast, threatening to interfere with rescue work.

A check-up indicated that at least 40 deaths had resulted in various places along the peninsula. Owing to interrupted telegraphic service, few details were received at Government offices here where relief work was being organized.

The Government steamer Meigle, carrying doctors and nurses and medical supplies and provisions, was sent out from here.

Reports received here indicated that the full force of the tidal wave spent itself on the lower end of the peninsula where it was said the wall of water rushed inland for a considerable distance tearing away roads and smashing bridges nearly a half mile from the shore, leaving survivors in many places without means of transportation or communication.

Damage to property along the coast was heavy, homes and fishing schooners in the harbors and at the piers having been swept away, in some instances with the loss of provisions and fuel for winter. Many firms, it was reported, had lost their season's catch of fish, valued at thousands of dollars.

The heaviest losses of life were reported from Point Aux Gauls and Burin. At the former place 10 deaths from drowning and injuries were reported and in Burin, nine. Others reported were: Taylor Bay, 6; Lord's Cove, 4; Allan's Island, Lamaline Harbor, 2; Kelley's Cove, 2; Port Aux Bras, 7.

The first relief steamer with survivors was expected to arrive here late today.

The French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, near the Burin coast, also suffered severe damage, according to reports.

HENRY W. KARDELL, FORMER HEAD OF AUTO FIRM, DIVORCED

Wife Obtains Custody of Daughter and $40 a Month for Child's Support.

Mrs. Ella Kardell obtained a divorce yesterday from Henry W. Kardell, 1140 Edward terrace, Richmond Heights, a real estate salesman and former head of the bankrupt Reo-St. Louis Co., an automobile agency, in Circuit Judge Rosskopf's court on grounds of general indignities. The court awarded her custody of their 3-year-old daughter and $40 a month for the child's support.

Although she lost $3000 in her husband's unsuccessful business venture, Mrs. Kardell testified, he has failed to support her adequately the last two years, and lavished his affections on his 19-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, upholding her in her refusal to work around the house, and in her practice of remaining in bed until noon.

They were married Nov. 14, 1925, and separated June 17, 1929. Kardell did not contest the suit.

TWO DRIVERS INDICTED IN KILLINGS BY AUTOS

The jury also returned an indictment charging felonious flight from the scene of an accident against Harry Liekweg Jr., 4031A West Florissant avenue, in the death of Mrs. Nellie Scheiber, 45, 1821 Bacon street, who was struck by Liekweg's automobile Oct. 6 at Grand boulevard and St. Louis avenue.

DR. VICTOR VAUGHAN, POISON EXPERT, DIES

Former Dean of Michigan U. Medical College, Wrote 150 Scientific Papers.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22.—Dr. Victor Clarence Vaughan, 78 years old, eminent scientist and educator, died suddenly at his home here last night.

Although he had been in failing health for several years, death came suddenly. He was stricken with a heart attack in the morning and died at 9:40 p. m.

As dean of the department of medicine and surgery at the University of Michigan from 1891 to 1921, Dr. Vaughan was a pioneer in America of the germ era in medicine, and, as one of America's leading toxicologists, he was frequently called upon to give expert testimony in poison murder cases. He was the author of several books and of more than 150 original papers to current medical and scientific literature.

Dr. Vaughan was born at Mount Airy, Randolph County, Missouri, Oct. 27, 1851. He was married to Dora Catherine Taylor of Huntsville, Mo., Aug. 21, 1877. He had resided in Richmond for about two years.

After his retirement as dean of the University of Michigan, Dr. Vaughan served as chairman of the National Research Council in Washington.

Dr. Vaughan served in both the Spanish-American and World War. He was a Major and surgeon of the Thirty-third Michigan Volunteer Infantry in the Santiago campaign. During the World War he was Colonel in charge of communicable diseases, in which capacity he won the Distinguished Service medal.

He was president of the Association of American physicians in 1908-1909; president of the American Medical Association, 1914-15; member of the National Academy of Sciences, and other organizations, and was a knight of the Legion of Honor.

He left four sons, Warren Vaughan of Richmond, Va.; John Walter Vaughan, Herbert Hunter Vaughan and Henry Frieze Vaughan.

CONFESSES KILLING, OFFICERS HUNT BODY

Man Held at Seattle While Officials Dig in Cemetery—'Truth' Device Used.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 22.—Sheriff's deputies began digging today in a plot at the Bothell cemetery, 15 miles nortueast of here in search of the body of James Eugene Bassett, of Annapolis, Md., missing since Sept. 5, 1928. Prosecutor Ewing D. Colvin announced he had obtained a confession from Decasto Earl Mayer, in jail as a habitual criminal, that he had killed the missing man.

The confession followed the use by the prosecutor of "lie detecting devices," against which Mayer yesterday obtained a temporary restraining order.

Mayer and his mother, Mrs Mary Smith, were arrested in Oakland, Cal., in September, 1928, when found in possession of Bassett's automobile. Lacking a corpus deliciti, Seattle authorities extradited Mayer and his mother from California and charged them with theft of the automobile. Bassett's wrist watch also was found in Mayer's possession. Mayer said he bought the car and the watch from Bassett.

Yesterday Mayer appeared in court with his attorneys, charged that Colvin and Sheriff Claude G. Bannick had tortured him with the "truth serum" and the "truth machine." In the examination under the "truth machine" which it was admitted had been conducted for six days, Colvin was assisted by Leonarde Keeler, assistant criminologist of Illinois, said to have been brought here by special permission of the Governor of that State. Keeler, it was said, is a student of August Vollmer of Berkeley, Cal., proponent of the "lie detector" and other alleged scientific methods of investigating crime.

In court Mayer said that he had been given treatment in a "little torture room" in a disused portion of the old courthouse building since last Friday.

Envoy to China on Way Home.

By the Associated Press.

PEIPING, China, Nov. 22.—John Van A. MacMurray, retiring United States Minister to China, and his family started for home today. One of the largest crowds that ever assembled at the Peiping station wished the party bon voyage. The assemblage included the diplomatic corps, the American marine legation guard, members of the American colony, other nationalists and a large representation of Chinese including officials. The provincial governments presented several large silver trays and cups to Mr. MacMurray, while numerous bouquets were presented to Mrs. MacMurray.

CABMAN FINDS $50,000 PEARLS; $5000 REWARD

He Thought Strand He Picked Up in Street Was Imitation.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov 22.—Frank de Luca, a taxicab driver, cruised along the curb at Eighty-sixth street and Fifth avenue last Monday morning to take the place of another cab that had just pulled out. As he stopped he noticed a string of white beads in the street. He put the beads in his pocket, thinking he would give them to his girl as a joke.

In the Yellow Taxi depot two days later, De Luca put a hand in his pocket and again thought of the beads. He showed them to a group of his fellow chauffeurs and joked about what he would do with them.

"Pretty good imitation, aren't they?" he asked.

"Say," said another driver who had examined the beads more closely, "these look like something to me." On this suggestion De Luca decided to turn the pearls over to the police. The beads were real. Ever since Monday noon police, insurance company detectives, pawnshop keepers, street cleaners, garage proprietors and others had been searching for the $50,000 string of pearls which Mrs. Maude Browning Metcalf of 1060 Fifth avenue had lost Monday when she returned from a shopping reward of $5000 for their return. There were 77 graduated pearls in the string and a diamond clasp.

Mrs. Metcalf is the widow of Manton B. Metcalf, wealthy wool merchant, who died in 1923. He left her $500,000 with the explanation that she had also received liberal provision during his lifetime, as well as a $40,000 yacht and all his real estate and household effects.

Yesterday Mrs. Metcalf went to police headquarters to get her pearls. With her was John Lyons, representative of the insurance company, ready to pay the $5000 reward to De Luca. But De Luca could not be reached, being apparently too busy to call at police headquarters to claim the reward.

POET MAKES $25,000 A YEAR—BY LOBBYING

Gladys Moon Jones, Sugar Interests Publicity Agent, to Be Senate Witness.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Gladys Moon Jones, sometime attorney-poet-chautauqua artist, who to give the Senate Investigating Committee the feminine slant on the business of lobbying, is waiting eagerly to tell how she earns a yearly salary estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000.

"My right to represent clients before the bar of public opinion is as clear as any attorney's is to plead a case in court," she said.

She added that "in the judicial branch of Government, a Judge is disqualified for trying a case by having any personal interest in the matter at hand, but among the legislators now engaged in framing laws are many most vitally interested. So long as that situation obtains, there will be unofficial spokesmen of special interests in the capital."

Beginning life after college as an attorney, she turned author, into the news field, writing special scientific articles. She did a swing on the chautauqua circuits, giving dramatic lectures, shortly after she graduated from Northwestern University. Now in the middle thirties, she represents Americans whose investments in sugar production in Cuba she placed at just four times that of domestic producers.

Preferring to call her activities "publicity," Mrs. Jones will tell the committee how she conducts the All States News Bureau and acts as resident secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce of Cuba.

She will tell how she issues publicity releases, pleading her cause—that of a low tariff on sugar through interviews with prominent persons; how she and her staff of two women, a personal and a research secretary, have talked with "friendly" legislators; how they have furnished statistics and general tariff information which she says were sought "even by the advocates of a high tariff;" and how she has addressed women's clubs and other organizations on the tariff in general and thes ugar schedule in particular.

Her entrance into the publicity business, she says, was "an accident." She had an acquaintance who was a member of the law firm of Shattuck, Banks & Winant of New York, representatives of the investors in Cuba. They cause her acquaintance decided chose her to do their publicity bethat an enthusiastic woman, trained in law, could do the job more effectively than ayone else. So she started the All States News Bureau, through which she now serves, she says, "any reputable client."

In her elegant home she exchanges advice and assistance on professional problems with her husband—a young attorney connected with the Treasury Department. She finds hours in her crowded days for reading and playing and writing, and she closely supervises the regime her two young children follow under the guidance of their French governess.

TOWN PAVES TWO STREETS BEFORE BIDS ARE SECURED

Contractor Advances Work at Lawrenceville, Ill., Upon Property Owners' Guarantee.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

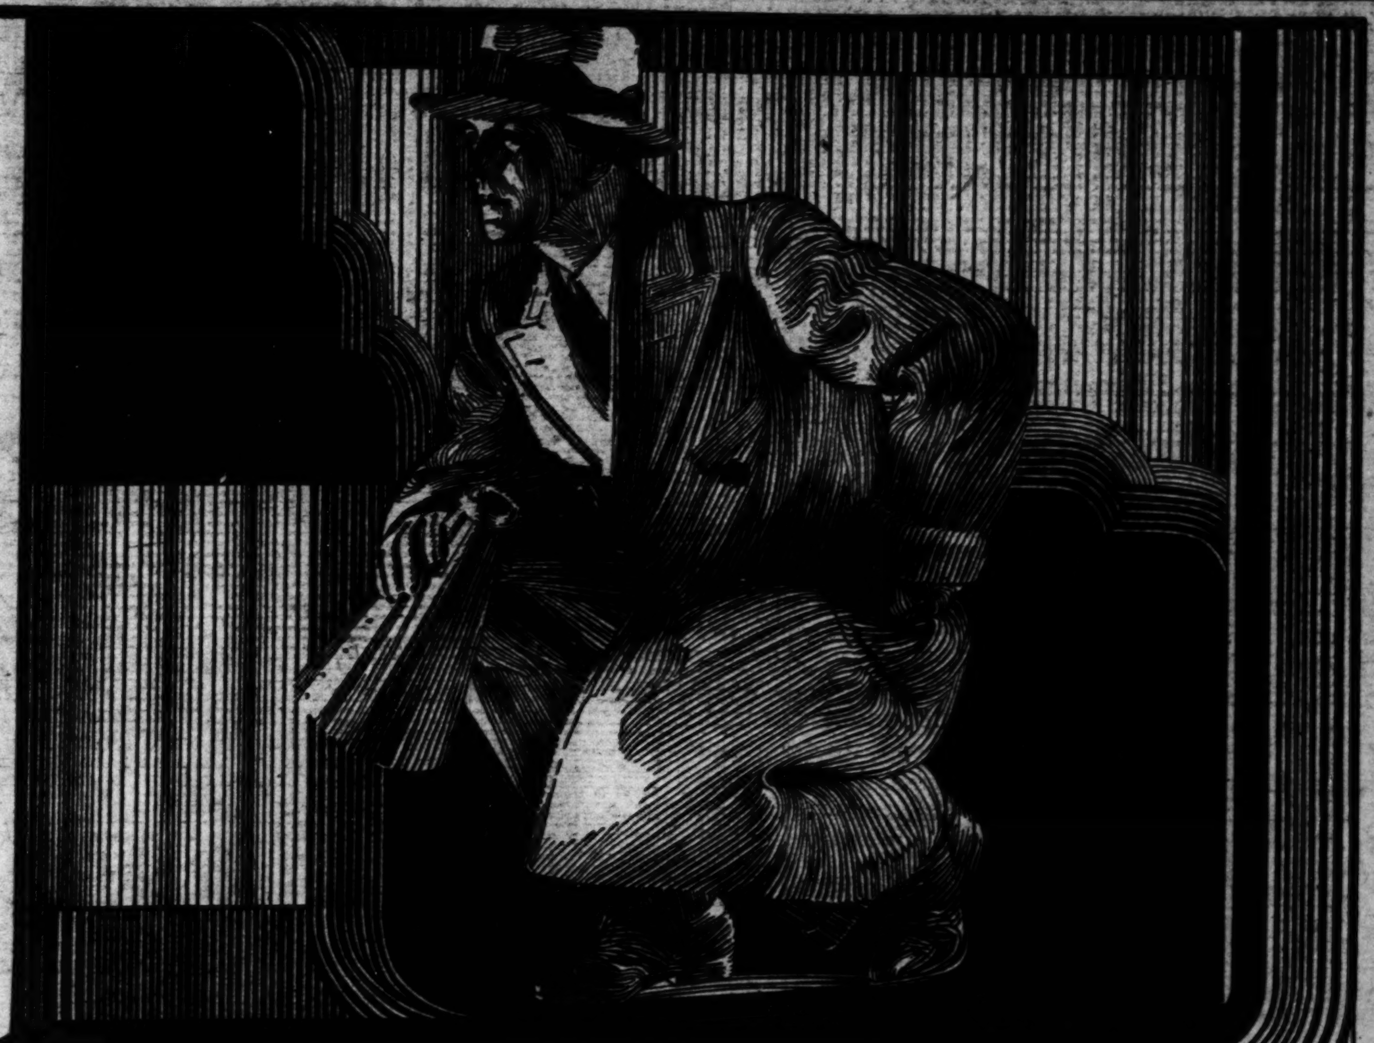
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., Nov. 22.—To satisfy a petition of property owners anxious to have their streets paved before winter weather interfered with such improvements, members of the Board of Local Improvements tell how one street was paved and another nearly completed before they advertised for bids.

The risk was assumed largely by the construction concern who upon a guarantee of the property owners ventured their work at the risk of being under-bid.

The ordinances to pave Adams and Seventh streets were passed by the council, but to work in advance of council procedure, the property owners gave their signatures securing assessment against their property for the work to be done immediately. Adams street was finished and Seventh street partially completed when the council called for bids. The Somers Construction Co., of Champaign, Ill., who had taken the chance, submitted the only bid and their quotation was considerably under the engineer's estimate.

At the YALE-PRINCETON game last Saturday—

This OVERCOAT outscored all others



—and at Bond's, it is repeating that performance daily—which simply bears out, once again, the judgment of our London representative! Weeks ago, he sent us an original model of this new Town Ulster. He reported that well-groomed Britishers were wearing it at the big rugby games; and that its vigorous, youthful lines had made it a prime favorite in the exclusive tailor shops of Regent Street and Saville Row ◆ The Bond reproductions bring you, in faultless manner, all the clean-cut modeling of the London-Designed original—the broad, well set-up shoulders—the jaunty effect of widely-spaced buttons—the graceful sweep and swing of the belted back ◆ In keeping with such distinguished style, Bond has employed those handsome woolens that usually command top figures everywhere—and that would be expensive here, were it not for a great 26-store volume—that could fill twelve Yale Bowls—and that keeps Bond prices consistently lower than any others in town, quality considered!

STUDENT SUICIDE

EDWIN A. GARRET.

MONEY HE ASKED FOR ON WAY WHEN STUDENT ENDED LIFE

Father's Letter Had Not Arrived When Edwin Garrett Stabbed Himself at Columbia, Mo.

By the Associated Press.

PARAGOULD, Ark., Nov. 22.—Funds for which he implored in letters to relatives were on the way to him at the moment Edwin A. Garrett, 20-year-old freshman at the University of Missouri took his life at Columbia, Mo., his father, James E. Garrett, said today.

In his letters, the youth said he was despondent over failing grades, was out of funds and lacked sufficient clothing.

Garrett, who arrived here from his office in Little Rock last night, did not tell the boy's mother that Edwin took his own life, but simply that he was dead.

The father said he sent Edwin funds this week, but apparently the letter had not reached him when he stabbed himself in the heart with a pair of scissors.

The elder Garrett said he had written to Edwin to leave school and return home. The youth graduated from Paragould High School last year. He was known as timid, but was studious. Edwin was born in Monterery, Mexico, and moved with his family here 16 years ago. The body will arrive here tomorrow from Columbia, Mo.

Besides his parents, the youth is survived by four sisters, Misses Helen and Jane Garrett of St. Louis, and Mrs. Paul Wood and Miss Nora Garrett of Paragould; and five brothers, James S. Garrett, Chicago; Fred, Robert and Thomas Garrett, St. Louis, and John Garrett of Paragould.

BLEASE SAYS CATHOLICS HAD PART IN MURDER EXONERATION

Senator Tells of "Common Talk" Around Capital in McPherson Case; Family Members Presbyterians.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Senator Blease, (Dem.) of South Carolina, said in the Senate today it was "common talk around Washington" that the Catholic church had made the fight for freedom of Robert A. McPherson Jr., exonerated by a grand jury yesterday of charges of murdering his young wife, Virginia, whose death is still a mystery.

Blease said he could "scarcely believe" the rumors, but wanted the people to know what was going on in connection with the case. The South Carolinan has frequently criticised Washington police officials for their handling of the case and more recently attacked the special prosecuting attorney saying he took defense witnesses before the grand jury.

Senator Walsh, (Dem.) Massachusetts, interrupted Blease to say he did not believe any official of the Catholic church had "moved in the matter" and added "it is a pretty broad statement to say that the Catholic church would become involved in a cheap murder case."

Blease then had a clerk read an anonymous letter to him saying the church might be using its influence in the case. Mrs. McPherson said her son and members of her family were members of the Presbyterian church.

NINE HELD IN DICE GAME AT STORE AT 3:30 A. M.

When police passed a cigar store and reputed handbook establishment at 822 Pine street at 3:30 a. m. today, the front lights were out, but one was burning in a rear room.

Nine men were gathered around a flat table. One was shooting dice—for $20, then $40, then $80. Sergt. Lemuel Olds slipped in and attempted to grab the dice, but failed.

The men were arrested. Two, John J. and Thomas Dwyer, were said to be the proprietors, as well as sons of a late Democratic City Committeeman. The dice were found on John, police reported.

Of the others arrested six said they were clerks and one asserted he was an attorney. They carried sums ranging as high as $350. They were released on bond.

To Defend State Gasoline Tax.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 22.—Attorney-General Shartel today assigned Assistant Attorney-General A. M. Meyer to represent the State in defense of the validity of the State gasoline tax law, the constitutionality of which was attacked in a suit filed in Federal Court in St. Louis last week.

Employe Missing With $15,000.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 22.—Police today reported the disappearance of an employe in the paymaster's office of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. at East Pittsburg with $15,000 of the company's payroll. The missing man, Milton L. Carren, 42 years old, was said to have been engaged in counting out the money this morning. NEW ANTI-SOVIET PLOT IS EXPOSED; LEADERS ARRESTED Widespread Counter-Revolutionary Activities Were Centered at Kharkov, in the Ukraine.

GEN. PETLURA'S AIDS AMONG ACCUSED

Conspirators, Police Assert, Hoped to Restore to Owner's Properties Nationalized by Reds.

By the Associated Press.

KHARKOV, Ukraine, Soviet Russia, Nov. 22.—The State political police today took steps to thwart widespread counter-revolutionary activities which they announced they had discovered to be centered here. All accused of participation will be tried before the Supreme Court.

Their announcement charged S. Efremov, member of the Ukranian Academy of Science, and M. Chekovsky, who was Premier of the Independent Ukranian Government proclaimed by Gen. Petlura in 1920, with heading the activities, which are said to be backed by a considerable organization.

Other Russians, identified with Gen. Petlura's "Ukranian National Republic," are said to be involved in the new plot, with close contact with a white Russian organization abroad and with a group in Poland, which calls itself "The Government of the Ukrainian National Republic."

The police said the plotters hoped to restore to original owners all factories, estates and other properties which have been nationalized by the Soviet Union. They were charged, too, with training their youth as counter-revolutionists, particularly in methods of terrorizing officials of the Soviet Government.

The alleged counter-revolutionaries are said to favor payment of the old Czarist debts to foreign countries.

Gen. Simon Petlura, in 1918, 1919 and 1920, attempted to set up an independent Ukrainian government, but late in 1920 met with reverses after Poland had recognized Ukrainian independence. He later was assassinated in Paris and his assassin exonerated by the French courts.

ON TRIAL FOR FORGING STRADIVARIUS VIOLIN SECRET

Italian Art Dealer Accused of Selling Diary He Represented as That of Famous Maker.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

BERGAMO, Italy, Nov. 22.—A local art dealer named Zanardi and two alleged accomplices, Rovaso and Rollini, went on trial here yesterday charged with forging a diary and papers which they represented to a purchaser as having been written by Antonio Stradivarius, famous maker of violins who died about 300 years ago.

The documents were said to have been found in an old desk which Stradivarius had used while he was living here and to have contained some of the "secrets" of his craft. The great violin maker of Cremona is popularly supposed to have held a "secret" which all stringed instrument makers have been vainly trying to discover. Zenardi completely convinced experts of the authenticity of the documents, the discovery of which caused a stir throughout Italy 18 months ago.

Andrea Bisiach, of Milan, bought a portion of the alleged forgeries for 10,000 liras (about $523.) He testified that Stradivarius' purported method of making violins, which he found among the documents, had given good results. Four violin experts, all University professors, testified that on first examination of the documents they believed they were genuine, but are now sure that they are forgeries.

BELL TELEPHONE SEEKS TO INCREASE CAPITAL STOCK

Purpose Is to Pay Floating Debt and Reimburse Treasury for Expenditures.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 22.—The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., yesterday filed application with the State Public Service Commission for authority to issue an additional $15,000,000 common stock. The proceeds are to go towards paying off the floating indebtedness and reimbursing the treasury for money expended for improvements and extensions.

The company operates in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and parts of Illinois and it was assumed by the commission that similar applications were being filed in those states.

The company has an authorized capital stock of $300,000,000, of which $200,000,000 is common stock and $100,000,000 preferred, the application showed. There is outstanding $141,000,000 of common and $21,785,000 preferred.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent company, holds all but 36 shares, which are the qualifying shares for the directors of the Southwestern Bell Co.

ARAB GRIEVANCES IN PALESTINE TOLD TO BRITISH BOARD

Representative of Race Says Jews Have Disproportionate Share of Civil Service Jobs.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (The New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

JERUSALEM, Nov. 22.—Arab grievances against the Zionist policy of the Palestine government were aired yesterday before the British commission investigating the causes of the disorders here last August, when counsel for the Arabs cross-examined H. C. Luke, who was acting high commissioner at the time of the riots.

Anui Abdul Hadi, one of the secretaries of the Arab executive, acting as Arab counsel, said that while an agency and a legislative council had been offered to the Arabs in 1926, they had refused both as insufficient.

By apporving creation of an Arab agency, he contended, the Arabs, although actualy a majority in the country, would have placed themselves on the same level as the Jews, who have an agency. If a legislative council had been formed, he declared, the British official members, together with the Jewish members, would have had a majority over the Arabs.

Jews in Civil Service.

In his effort to show that the administration here is pro-Jewish, he pointed out that the number of Jews in the senior civil service is disproportionately large compared with the number of Arabs, and that one Jew but no Arab is a member of the executive council, which consists of the High Commissioner, the chief secretary, the attorney-general and the treasurer.

Among other Arab grievances voiced by the Arab counsel was the charge that Jewish purchases of land have been injurious to Arab farmers, and that the Jews have asked for employment of a disproportionately large number of their co-religionists at the Haifa harbor works. The Government, Auni told the commission, has spent more than $291,600 on behalf of Jewish unemployed, grants $97,000 annualy to maintenance of the Jewish school system and spent large sums feeding Jewish refugees after the recent riots, while far less help was given to the Arabs.

Sir Boyd Merriman, counsel for the Zionists, quoted from a report of the Palestine Government showing that the unemployment crisis, which reached its peak in 1927, had not thrown a single Jew upon the Government's hands as a direct charge since the unemployment dole was supported by Jewish funds.

Refusal to Sign Proclamation.

Returning to the subject of what occurred at a meeting of Arab and Jewish leaders at Acting Commisisoner Luke's home, Aug. 22, Merriman produced the original draft of a proclamation, drawn up at that time to bring about an end to disorders. The document was in the handwriting of a member of the Zionist executive. The Moslems refused to sign it because they had not agreed to the issuance of any joint proclamation.

Leaving the commisisoners to infer that the disaster that overtok Palestine the next morning might have been averted if Moslem representatives had been less intractable, Merriman read the draft proclamation, which ran as follows:

"We, the undersigned, representatives of the Moslem and Jewish supreme institutions, wish to inform both Jews and Moslems that at a joint meeting we came to the conclusion that the present excitement among Moslems and Jews is chiefly due to misunderstanding.

"We are convinced that by good will the misunderstanding can be cleared up.

"For this purpose we demand that both Moslems and Jews do their utmost to endeavor to attain peaceful and quiet relations.

"We all deprecate any acts of violence and appeal to every one to assist their supreme institutions in the sacred work of obtaining peace between both institutions."

NATIONAL GRANGE OPPOSES HOOVER'S FEDERAL LAND PLAN

Organization Adopts Resolution Against State Control of Unreserved Grazing Areas.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20.—The National Grange, in convention here, voted unanimously yesterday against President Hoover's plan to turn unappropriated and unreserved Federal lands, mainly valuable for grazing, over to state control.

A resolution declaring these lands could be better attended by Federal authorities than by states, offered by A. S. Goss, Washington State Grange Master, was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Another resolution, unanimously adopted, insisted that the export debenture plan be added to Hoover's farm relief program and pledged support to Hoover's Farm Board.

Giant Gas Well in Oklahoma.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 21.—The South Oklahoma City field yesterday produced a huge gas well with a production estimated on the basis of 10 minutes of unrestrained flow at 100,000,000 cubic feet a day. The well is said by its owners, the Indian Territory Illuminating and Foster Petroleum companies, to be the largest in the State.

63 FOUND GUILTY IN POULTRY TRUST TRIAL

Three Organizations Also Convicted After 45-Day Hearing —15 Acquitted.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Forty-five days after going on trial in Federal Court on charges of restraining trade in connection with operation of the New York poultry trust, 63 individuals and three organizations were convicted yesterday. Joe Goldman and Emanuel Herbert were acquitted.

The jury had been out more than 27 hours, going over the testimony which filled four large volumes. Federal Judge Knox announced sentences would be passed Dec. 2 and the defendants were released on bonds. The maximum penalty for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act is a year in prison or $5000 fine or both.

Judge Knox asked defense and prosecuting attorneys to prepare a digest showing the financial, family and personal conditions of each of the defendants, so that he might pronounce sentence accordingly.

The organizations found guilty were the Greater New York Live Poultry Chamber of Commerce, Local 167 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, and the Official Orthodox Poultry Slaughterers of America, Inc. All of individual defendants are residents of New York.

When the trial began Oct. 7, there were 90 defendants. Three pleaded guilty, verdicts of acquittal were ordered for 15 others and four were severed, leaving 68 to face the jury.

Special bleachers were set up in the courtroom and the defendants were seated alphabetically.

TELLS OF NEW CORN WHICH RESISTS BORER

Michigan Expert Describes Experiments Before Ontario Entomological Society.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 22.—Development of a strain of corn which resists the European corn borer has been announced by A. R. Marston, superintendent of the Michigan corn borer experimental station at Monroe, Mich.

In an address before the Entomological Society of Ontario yesterday, Marston said Maize Amargo, a South American strain, had been cross-bred with Duncan Golden Glow and Red Cob Ensilage strains and then in-bred.

After three years of experimenting, he said, the strain had proved 100 per cent resistant when planted with alternate rows of corn infested with the parasite. Five years would be required, he said, before the new strain would be available for general planting.

AMITY APPEALS FOR CLOTHING AS COLD WAVE ARRIVES

Supply Virtually Exhausted; Particular Need for Children's Garments.

Joshua P. Solven, director of Amity, an independent charitable organization, appealed yesterday for clothing to be distributed free among the poor.

Demands following the cold weather have practically exhausted the supply left over from last winter and there is particular need for children's garments because robbers broke into a branch office of Amity several weeks ago and stole children's clothing which had been stored, Solven said.

Amity distributed about 40,000 through American Legion posts and other veterans' organizations. Clothing will be received at Amity headquarters, 316 Morgan street, or will be called for if donors telephone to the headquarters.

THE NEW SUPER-AUTOMATIC

KELVINATOR

Greatly Increased Ice-Making Capacity

A Cold Storage Compartment . . . In Larger Models

All Under FULL AUTOMATIC CONTROL

TODAY, with the announcement of the new Super-Automatic Kelvinator, electric refrigeration enters a new and wider sphere of usefulness for thousands of home-makers the world over.

If you, for one, have sought an electric refrigerator that completely divorces from your mind all worry as to the proper care of food, you will find your highest expectations realized in this new Kelvinator.

Nothing to Regulate 100% Automatic

Kelvinator, never deviating from its path of making electric refrigeration even more trouble-free, more convenient and more economical, has designed its newest product to be 100% automatic in operation.

There is nothing to regulate—whether you want speedy freezing of ice cubes and desserts or delicate foods kept at their palatable best for hours and days at a time.

Ice-O-Thermic Tubes —A Startling Advance In Electric Refrigeration

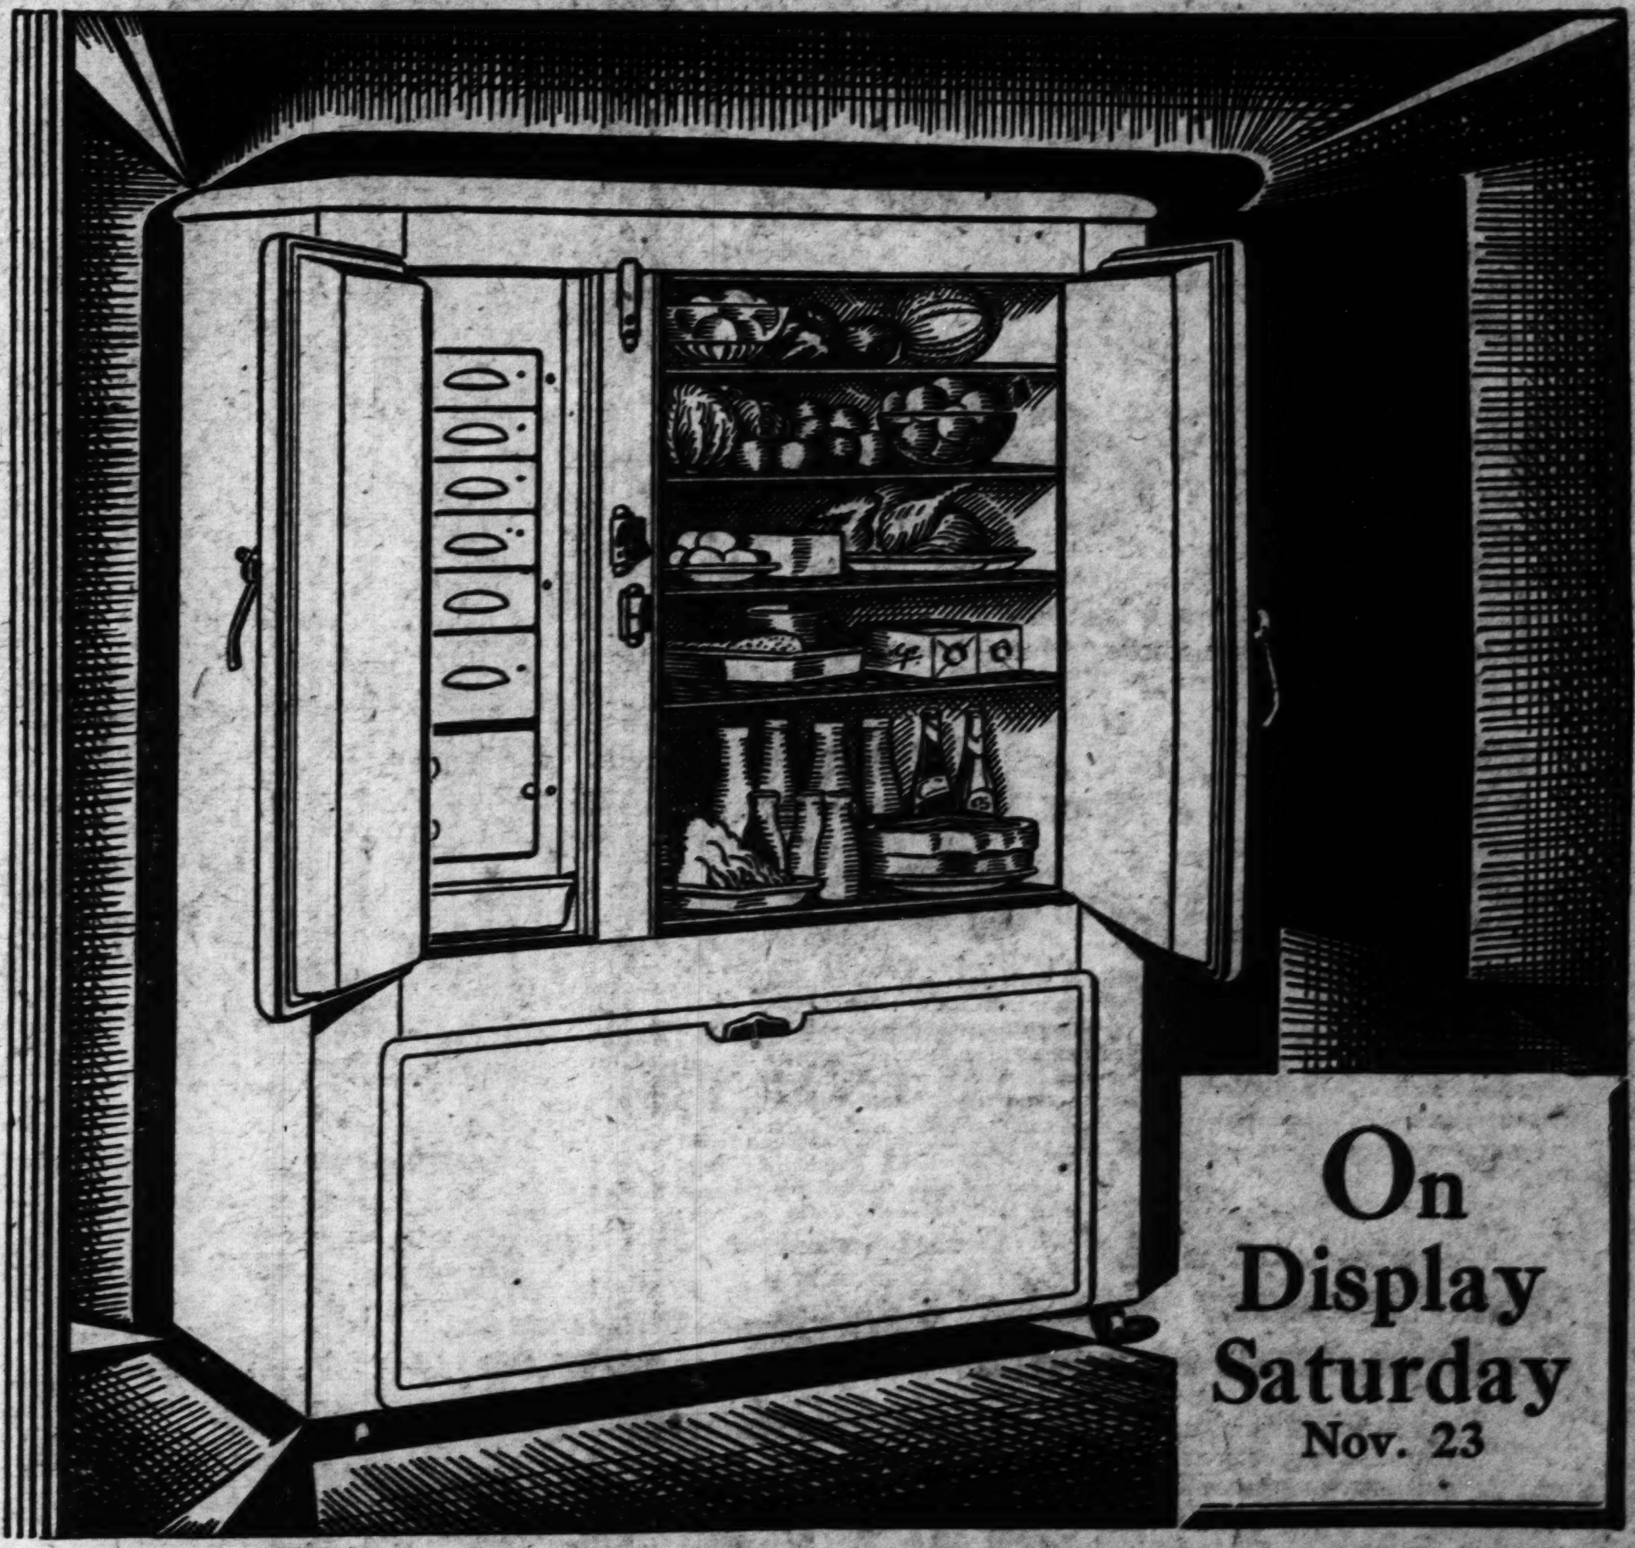
A new Kelvinator discovery—Ice-O-Thermic Tubes—makes possible for faster freezing of ice cubes. For example, the mere placing of a tray of water in a special ice compartment concentrates intense freezing power in this direction. Ice is ready in a remarkably short time. Desserts in a correspondingly brief period. Yet food compartments remain always at the same safe temperature—between 40 and 50 degrees—neither too warm nor too cold.

Not content with bringing you the finest automatic care of food and far faster freezing of ice cubes, Kelvinator surrounds this more efficient service with fresh beauty and sterling quality in cabinet construction.

New Metal Cabinets—Will Last a Lifetime

Each new Kelvinator is of rugged metal construction, porcelain-lined throughout to permit easy cleaning. Massive chromium-plated hardware in dull finish adds both to the attractive appearance and durability of these models. Larger models are equipped with separate cold storage chambers and are electrically lighted.

See the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators now on display at all Kelvinator Dealer showrooms. Learn how easily you may enjoy the convenience of Kelvinator Refrigeration, through our monthly budget plan.



On Display Saturday Nov. 23

Features Which Place Kelvinator Years Ahead in Modern Refrigeration—

1 Ice-O-Thermic Tubes—giving new fast freezing of ice cubes and desserts. Fully automatic—no regulation needed.

2 Balanced Refrigeration—separate temperatures for food preservation, cold storage and ice freezing.

3 The Cold-Keeper—Holds cold over longer periods—thus reducing operating periods of mechanical unit.

4 Greater Economy—Less current consumed, because of infrequent starting and stopping.

5 Abundant Ice Supply—Capacities up to 34 pounds of ice at a single freezing. New flexible rubber ice tray.

6 New Metal Cabinets, Porcelain-Lined—Will last a life-time without deterioration. Larger models electrically lighted.

7 Generously Powered—Each Super-Automatic Kelvinator shows; 100% over-load capacity under test in room with 100 degree temperature.

MANY GERMAN BANKS CLOSE; FRAUD ALLEGED

"Charitas," Catholic Charity Body, Loses $75,000 in Crash of Depository.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—A large number of small German banks suspended payments recently and fraudulent manipulations are alleged to have been the cause in many cases. The private bank of Otto Duerkle Co. in Freiburg, Baden, closed its doors with liabilities of several million marks. The two partners were arrested for alleged embezzlement of deposits.

Most of the clients were Catholic priests, many of whom lost all their savings. The Catholic charity organization "Charitas" lost $175,000 and the St. Rudbert convent $100,000.

In Luebeck, the Bank for Trade and Industry suspended payments, and its entire capital of $250,000 is said to have been lost. The manager was accused of fraudulently manipulating accounts after he had lost large sums speculating on the stock market.

Small banks at Magdeburg, Warburg, Karlsruhe and Schueidemuehl failed. The private bank of Rudolf & Bauer at Frankfort-on-Main was declared insolvent. Bauer was found dead from poisoning in a hotel.

MOONEY APPEALS TO CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE CASE

Wants New Inquiry Into San Francisco Explosion in 1916 for Which He Is Serving Life Term.

CITES EVIDENCE NEWLY DEVELOPED

Alleged Death-Bed Confession at Cleveland Pointed to in Letter to Senator Schall.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Investigation by Congress of the preparedness day explosion of 1916 in San Francisco, in which 10 persons were killed, was asked by Thomas J. Mooney, who is serving a life sentence for the crime, in a letter received today by Senator Schall (Rep.), Minnesota.

In support of his appeal, Mooney asserted the explosion was part of a dynamiting plot executed by Louis J. Smith, who was alleged to have made a death-bed confession in Cleveland, O., and who, Mooney said, was hired by German agents. Mooney has charged he was "framed."

"I ask you," Mooney said in the letter, which was put into the Congressional Record, "to place before Congress a nappeal for an investigation of the entire matter insofar as it has a Federal relationship in that they committed this crime in furtherance of their general plan of attack on the Allies' cause in this country."

Others named as plotters by Mooney were Col. von Bopp, German Consul; C. C. Crowley, alleged "go-between" and "close-up" man to the consul, and a man described as Von Brinken, military attache.

CALIFORNIA PARDON BOARD GETS APPEAL

By the Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 22.—The pardon appeal of Thomas J. Mooney, who for years has protested from a prison cell that he is innocent of the 1916 preparedness day bombing in San Francisco, which killed 10 persons and injured 45 others, rested almost entirely today in the hands of the State Pardon Board.

Gov. C. C. Young indicated he would let the decision of the Parole Board be the final word in the case when he requested yesterday that it investigate and recommend action.

The Governor said he had been blocked in a personal investigation by the unwillingness of witnesses to give information and also said he had been unable to form an opinion after months of study.

Billings Case in Supreme Court.

While the State Supreme Court considers the case of Warren K. Billings, convicted with Mooney and also serving a life sentence, the Pardon Board, consisting of Attorney-General Webb, Lieutenant-Governor Carnahan, James Johnson, director of the Department of Penology; Warden Smith of Folsom Prison and James Holohan of San Quentin Prison, will be studying the Mooney case.

Billings has asked the Supreme Court for permission to appeal to the Governor for a pardon.

Gov. Young has expressed satisfaction in the turn of affairs brought about by Billings' move. He has felt that the Billings and Mooney cases were parallel and he has studied together the transcripts of the cases. They dovetail in many instances, he says.

Can Subpena Witnesses.

The Governor said the Supreme Court and Pardon Board would be able to make headway where he had failed because they could issue subpenas and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents.

Meanwhile he will continue his own studies and investigations.

The studies by the Supreme Court, Pardon Board and himself will take some time, the Governor stated, but "it will be time well spent."

"Entirely irrespective of whatever other crimes may be charged against Mooney and Billings—if these men were not guilty of this particular crime, to keep them in prison would be an ineffacable blot upon the good name of the State," said the Governor.

"On the other hand, if they were guilty of this terrible crime—a crime resulting in the death of 10 persons and the injury of 40 others—I am certain that no one would ever wish to see them released from prison."

Not Shifting Responsibility.

"The Governor made it plain that in asking the Pardon Board to consider the case, he is not shifting responsibility from his shoulders.

"I am satisfied that the public is earnestly desirous of a final determination as to the cases of Mooney and Billings," he said. "It

The Governor said he had been blocked in a personal investigation by the unwillingness of witnesses to give information and also said he had been unable to form an opinion after months of study.

Billings Case in Supreme Court.

While the State Supreme Court considers the case of Warren K. Billings, convicted with Mooney and also serving a life sentence, the Pardon Board, consisting of Attorney-General Webb, Lieutenant-Governor Carnahan, James Johnson, director of the Department of Penology; Warden Smith of Folsom Prison and James Holohan of San Quentin Prison, will be studying the Mooney case.

Billings has asked the Supreme Court for permission to appeal to the Governor for a pardon.

Not Shifting Responsibility.

The Governor made it plain that in asking the Pardon Board to consider the case, he is not shifting responsibility from his shoulders.

"I am satisfied that the public is earnestly desirous of a final determination as to the cases of Mooney and Billings," he said. "It wants that determination at the earliest possible moment, but above all, it desires the determination to be a correct one. For that reason I have been repeatedly urged to appoint a commission of impartial and outstanding men to make a thorough study of the case, in order that the final decision might be based upon something more conclusive than the results of the study of one individual. While I recognize the value of this suggestion, I have never felt the need of such an extra legal body; since in California we have a Pardon Board set up by statute for this express purpose, as well as the Supreme Court, in cases of persons twice convicted of felony."

City Could Obtain Decision On P. S. Co.'s Franchise Rights By Suit in Supreme Court

Not Necessary to Go Through Circuit Court—Attorney-General Would File Suit at Instance of City Officials or Board of Aldermen.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 22.—On the initiative of the proper city authorities of St. Louis, action could be instituted directly in the State Supreme Court to determine the operating rights of the St. Louis Public Service Co. on the Jefferson avenue line and other lines whose original franchises have expired. Such action would avoid the delay of first suing in the Circuit Court.

This is the informal opinion of several recognized legal authorities given to the Post-Dispatch correspondent. It points the way to steps by which the city, if successful in showing that no valid franchises exist on certain lines, could regain home rule over the street car system.

The action would be quo warranto, or a demand upon the company to show by what right it operates on the lines in question. On trial of the issue the Supreme Court would decide whether the Transit franchise and the Central Traction franchise extended any of the underlying franchises. The city long ago contended they did not, but in a suit on the Jefferson avenue line former Circuit Judge Cave held the franchise was extended by the Transit grant, provided the company continued to pay the tax required of it under its original franchise.

No Decision; Compromise in 1919.

This case was taken to the State Supreme Court on appeal by the city, but was never tried in that court, having been affirmed pursuant to stipulation by the then City Counselor and attorneys for the company. This was the 1919 United Railways compromise, details of which have been reviewed in the Post-Dispatch.

As has been told the company has not paid the franchise tax required under the Jefferson avenue franchise since 1912, amounting to about $10,000 a year, and City Counselor Muench recently announced he would make formal demand on the St. Louis Public Service Co. for the tax for the period since that company took over the property Dec. 1, 1927.

Muench has not announced what, if any, action he proposes to take with reference to questioning the franchises, but he is known to be making an exhaustive study of the franchise situation. It will be recalled that in an opinion given the Transportation Survey Commission Oct. 25, he expressed the view that under no form of franchise can the city have home rule over the street car company. It also will be recalled that Mayor Miller and 28 of the 29 members of the Board of Aldermen have declared they favor home rule by the city over all its public utilities.

Would Strengthen City's Position.

In case the company should be declared by the Supreme Court to be without valid franchises for one or more of its important lines the city would be in a commanding position with reference to the continued operation of the system. That is, the city could refuse to grant further franchises, but through the Board of Public Service could grant permits to operate on the condition that the company deal only with the city on the matter of fares, valuation and service. And in case the company failed to live up to these conditions the city could withdraw the permits and the company would be without operating rights as to the lines affected.

The United States Supreme Court held in the Detroit case that a city could lawfully require a street railway whose franchise had expired to remove its tracks from the streets, but in that case the company acceded to the city's wishes rather than stop its service and its revenue.

A quo warranto suit in the Supreme Court for this purpose would have to be instituted by the Attorney-General of the State. But is is understood that before his office could be expected to act there would have to be a showing that such action was in the public interest and that a benefit to the public would result.

The city, through City Counselor Muench, has long contended that street car fares are fixed on a valuation of $63,500,000, a figure far too high, being based on reproduction costs required by the courts in the case of franchised utilities. If the city should undertake a quo warranto suit, it undoubtedly would attempt to show that it would be in the public interest to enable the city to fix fares on the basis of reasonable and fair value of the property used in the public service, or the purchase price, which was $49,101,000.

Officials or Aldermen.

The wishes of the city in the matter could be expressed through its executive officials, or through the Board of Aldermen. The latter alone has the power to bind the city and it is likely that the Attorney-General, although he will not be interviewed on the matter, would institute a suit in the Supreme Court if requested to do so by resolution passed by the Board of Aldermen setting forth the benefits to the public that might result therefrom.

The suit might be as to the Jefferson avenue franchise or one of the others that have expired. Although the Court might refuse to entertain a suit as to the Jefferson avenue grant on the grounds that the matter has been adjudicated, some authorities take the view that since the court never passed on the merits of the case and the City Counselor had no authority to bind the city in agreeing to an affirmation of the Circuit Court judgment, the present Court would take jusicdiction for trial of the issue.

In any event the question could be raised that the company has not lived up to the conditions under which the franchise was held to be extended, and therefore that the grant was forfeited.

At least two other important franchises have since expired and could be the basis of quo warranto suits. One of these is the Union Depot franchise covering the Grand avenue, Eighteenth street and other lines. This grant expired Jan. 11, 1927. Another is the Southwestern Railway franchise which expired April 1, 1928. The Public Service Co. has continued to pay the franchise taxes required under these grants.

NEW AIR MAIL LINES DELAYED

Routes Not to Be Started Before July 1, 1930.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Establishment of new air mail routes in the country is not to be undertaken until after the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1930.

Assistant Postmaster-General Glover made this announcement today in connection with a statement that insufficient appropriations and the inability of the Commerce Department to finance the lighting of fields would prevent opening of a new route from New York and Los Angeles by way of New Orleans.

Bacteriologist at Trinidad Makes Trip by Plane; Many Deaths Reported.

By the Associated Press.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 22.—An epidemic of some undetermined disease on the Island of Antigua has caused Dr. J. J. Pawan, chief bacteriologist of Trinidad, to make a hurried trip by airplane to Saint Kitts. This word was brought here by Pilot Brooke who said he landed the plane at Saint Kitts, more than 100 miles from Antigua, to avoid quarantine of the machine. He said the doctor would continue to the stricken island by ship.

Trinidad officials are noncommittal, but it is currently reported that there have been many deaths in Antigua.

MONT PELEE STILL ACTIVE

Residents of Martinique Warned of Possible Danger.

By the Associated Press.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, Nov. 22. — There has been continued activity in Mont Pelee within the last few days. Smoke columns and increasing steam clouds with heavier showers of ashes have been noted. The population has been warned of possible danger since the present activities compare with those which preceded the disasters of 1902 and 1904.

Observations have been made difficult as winds from the west have massed the mountain with clouds. The ashes drift slowly toward the Blanche River. No lava has been observed.

SENATE ABANDONS WORK ON TARIFF, ADJOURNS TONIGHT

Hoover Is Notified That Congress Has Completed Labors—"So Far as Possible," Jones Adds.

TILSON JIBES UPPER HOUSE

Declares Senators "Had on Their Best Poker Faces" When They Called on President.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Unable to make any progress with the tarifff bill, the Senate recessed at 12:32 p. m. today until 9:45 o'clock tonight, 15 minutes before the special session adjourns sine die.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee made several attempts to obtain action on amendments to various schedules, including those affecting wool, silk, papers and books, but each time indications pointed to extensive discussion.

Senator Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, a member of the committee, proposed the recess after stating "everybody seems to be loafing on the job."

Meanwhile the House adjourned sine die at 12:50 o'clock.

Formalities were carried out punctiliously today, when the joint committee of the Senate and House informed President Hoover that Congress had completed its special session labors and was ready to adjourn. Although the usual form of address was used to tell the President that Congress had completed its work, Senator Jones of Washington, acting Republican leader, the spokesman of the group, added, "So far as possible." The committee members said Mr. Hoover then informed them he had no further communication for Congress.

Tolson Jibes the Senators.

On leaving the White House, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican leader, said the members of his branch of Congress "did not have their tongues in their cheeks" when the President was told Congress had finished its work.

"How about the Senators?" he was asked.

"Oh, they had on their best poker faces," Tilson replied.

In addition to Jones and Tilson, the delegation consisted of Senator Walsh of Montana, the acting Democratic leader; Representative Garner of Texas, the minority leader in the House, and the Sergeants-at-Arms of both branches.

The Senate voted 44 to 26 late yesterday to increase the duty on raw clothing wool from 31 to 34 cents a pound of clean content.

Coming back in December, the Senate still must act on committee amendments to the sugar, silk, rayon, papers and books, and sundries schedules and the free list. Then individual amendments to all schedules will have to be disposed of as well as the scores of House increases left untouched by the Finance Committee before the measure will be in shape for final passage.

House Rate Approved.

As a result of the increase in raw wool for clothing, which was against the recommendations of the Finance Committee and in accordance with the rate adopted by the House, Chairman Smoot announced that levies on all manufactures of wool must be stepped up to the level of the House measure. These duties known as compensatory rates, were cut by the commtitee in proportion to the reduction in the raw wool tariff.

Thirty-four Republicans, nine Democrats, and the sole Farm Labor member, Shipstead, of Minnesota, voted for the House increase.

FOR 34 CENT DUTY:

Republicans: Allen, Blaine, Borah, Capper, Cutting, Fess, Frazier, Gillett, Glenn, Goldsborough, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Howell, Johnson, Jones, Kean, La Follette, McCulloch, McNary, Moses, Norbeck, Nye, Oddie, Robinson of Indiana, Sackett, Schall, Shortridge, Steiwer, Thomas of Idaho, Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott, and Waterman—34.

Democrats: Ashurst, Bratton, Broussard, Connally, Dill, Hayden, Kendrick, Sheppard and Wheeler—9.

Farmer-Labor: Shipstead, Minnesota—1. Grand total 44.

FOR THE 31 CENT RATE:

Republicans: Bingham, Couzens, Hale, Keyes and Norris—5.

Democrats: Barkley, Blease, Brock, Caraway, Copeland, Fletcher, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Heflin, Overman, Simmons, Stephens, Swanson, Thomas of Oklahoma, Trammell, Tydings, Wagner, Walsh of Massachusetts, and Walsh of Montana—21. Total 26.

Senators Walsh of Massachusetts and George of Georgia delivered scorching speeches against the increase, the latter saying that the 34-cent rate was much higher than that provided in the "same old obnoxious, offensive schedule K" of the Payne-Aldrich act of 1909.

Senators Steiwer, Thomas and Fess, Republicans, and Connally and Bratton, Democrats, led the drive for the higher rate, contending the wool grower would be greatly benefited and deserved greater protection.

Carpet Wool Changes.

Except for committee changes in the first paragraph of the wools schedule, relating to coarse wools used chiefly for carpet and rug manufacture which were approved, no other rates were acted upon.

Committee increases in the coarse wool rates were 27 cents a pound on such wools if scoured, compared with 24 cents in the House bill and the present law; on the skin, 24 cents as against 23 cents in the House bill and 11 cents in existing law; and if sorted and unscoured, 25 cents as compared with 28 and 24 cents, respectively.

Only in a few instances are the coarse wool duties effective, however. Such wool is permitted to come in under bond and if used for carpet manufacture it pays no duty. The present limitation is four years, but the pending bill lowers this to three.

Wool Tariff and Farmer.

Contending the market was demoralized and growers were selling their product this year 15 cents a pound below last year's prices, Senator Thomas contended wool was the one farm commodity on which the tariff could be made effective.

Senators Fess and Connally argued the higher duty would encourage farmers to convert their marginal lands into sheep granges.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts asserted adoption of the higher duty would do more to bring about a "political Waterloo" than any other rate increase in the bill. That increase and the one proposed on wool rags from 7½ cents to 24 cents a pound, if enacted, he said, would add $13,000,000 to manufacturers' costs and ultimately to consumers' prices.

Walsh also contended it was not fair to levy a specific duty on raw wool as fluctuating prices within the short space of a week had resulted in equivalent ad valorem duties from 23.8 to 187.9 per cent.

TO RENEW FIGHT TO END TRANSIT BOARD

Alderman Wimer to Press Motion Since Kelker Says City Isn't Up to Subways.

Alderman Samuel Wimer of the Twenty-seventh Ward, advocate of rapid transit, said today he could see no reason for keeping the Transportation Survey Commission in existence, since the commission's expert, R. F. Kelker Jr., of Chicago, had decided to make no recommendation for subway or elevated construction.

Wimer recently introduced in the Board of Aldermen a measure repealing the ordinance by which the Transportation Survey Commission was established. The commission, under the ordinance, was appointed in July, 1928, to serve two years. Of its $50,000 appropriation, some $18,000 has been spent.

The Wimer repeal bill is now in the Ways and Means Committee of the board. Wimer said he would consult Alderman Kuhs, chairman of the committee, as to taking the bill out of committee and bringing it to a vote of the board. As Kuhs is out of the city, the matter may not be reached until next week, though the board meets this afternoon. Kuhs and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen are members of the Transportation Survey Commission.

"Mr. Kelker's prospective report to the commission, as outlined in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, shows conclusively that the commission exists not to bring rapid transit, but to help the Public Service Co. get a franchise," Wimer said. "All Mr. Kelker seems to be trying to do is to make it soft for the existing street railway company. He proposed a no-parking rule, a makeshift dip under Grand boulevard, and elimination of service cars. His proposals are all for the benefit of the antiquated surface system.

"C. E. Smith's report, which was a real rapid transit document, showed that by spending $50,000,000 we could get five miles of subway, along Olive street from Nineteenth to the Levee, along Grand from Chouteau to Cass avenue, and on a section of Broadway.

"He did not hold, as does Mr. Kelker, that there is not enough business here for a rapid transit system. Boston has such a system. Our people would be willing to pay a 10-cent fare for rapid transit. They pay 15 and 25 cents now for such rapid transit as they can get, in service cars.

"Mr. Smith held also that the Eighth street tunnel was not an insuperable obstacle to a subway through the downtown district, as Mr. Kelker holds it to be.

"I don't wish to embarrass Mr. Neun and Mr. Kuhs, as members of the commission, but I think the city should save the rest of the commission's $50,000 appropriation, since there is no prospect of getting results of value."

SECRETARY J. W. GOOD BURIED AT IOWA HOME

Military Ceremony at Grave in Cedar Rapids After Brief Church Service.

By the Associated Press.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., November 22.—James W. Good, late Secretary of War, was buried this afternoon on a hilltop in a cemetery a few miles from his birthplace on an Iowa farm.

A brief service at the First Presbyterian Church, from which hundreds were turned away, bespoke the esteem in which all Iowa held the late Secretary of War. Dr. Harry Morehouse Gage, President of Coe College, and Dr. Robert Little, pastor of the church, spoke at the services.

"From beginning to end," Dr. Gage said, "Mr. Good revealed a pure quality of personal and public righteousness. In all this the city, state and nation find something characteristic of America."

A prayer, three volleys of Musketry, a cabinet officers' 19-gun salute, and the playing of taps were the final honors accorded the late secretary. Three thousand persons were present at the cemetery.

The Fourteenth Cavalry band, two squadrons of unmounted cavalry, the Coe College R. O. T. C. unit, the Iowa National Guard, and the Pershing Rifles from the University of Iowa led the funeral cortege. Thousands lined the streets along which the procession proceeded. As the cortege passed the Immaculate Conception Church, the bell was tolled. At the cemetery minute guns were fired while the coffin was carried from the church to the grave.

STONES PUT IN RICE IN TURKEY

Signs Ordered on Stores Which Sell Adulterated Food.

By the Associated Press.

STAMBOUL, Turkey, Nov. 22.—Grocers who have been selling white pebbles in rice or using other more subtle adulterations, were in fear today when the Government issued an order that the shop windows of all such dealers shall be labeled with signs cataloging delinquencies discovered by food inspectors.

The pure food campaign has become so ardent that on one day the inspectors confiscated 4500 pounds of adulterated foodstuffs in the Galata Bridge district alone.

Commander Thinks They Will Show Barrier Extends 100 Miles Farther East Than Was Supposed

Leader of the Antarctic Expedition.

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times and Post-Dispatch.)

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Nov. 21.—Day before yesterday our Ford plane, the Floyd Bennett, established a tiny base almost within the shadow of the South Pole. The Stars and Stripes fly there, 440 miles due south, beating by that distance the southernmost position of our flag when Little America was established.

Such a flight over this extraordinary ice barrier, which is still to us a mysterious phenomenon, could not help be interesting. Capt. Ashley McKinley photographed every inch of the way and we hope a minute study of the surface, which is full of surprises, will tell science something about this great natural wonder.

Before we started on the flight, I told Dean Smith to deliver the mail to the mountains. We all know that an air mail pilot with mail aboard will go through when it can be done. Smith did a fine job, holding the indistinct trail made by the dog teams of the geological party.

We passed the party about 200 miles out and also looked down at our comrades 2000 feet beneath us, making only 10 or 15 miles a day while we were making 100 miles an hour.

The dog team party, however, will be able to remain several weeks at the mountains, where an airplane might be blown away in a storm. That is why the minute geological investigations must be made by the foot traveler. Even now, however, we have learned enough to design a plane that we can anchor to the snow.

About midway in the flight we passed over the terrible crevassed region that the supporting party worked its way through. We could see its zigzag path among bottomless crevasses and dangerous pits.

There were several places where landing would have been bad. When we passed over these crevasses my thoughts turned also to those mechanics back in camp who had worked hour after hour in the bitter cold to make the motors right for us.

Unfortunately, the mechanics who contribute to successful flights are generally forgotten. I do not see how it would have been possible to find three better men than

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Proposed Metropolitan Plan.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A ST. LOUIS newspaper declares that "the present movement (to combine St. Louis and its overgrown population) does not contemplate either the annexation of St. Louis County, or parts of it."

Such a plan will admirably suit the hundreds of politicians who live and thrive upon the 16 municipalities (many more to follow) of St. Louis County. They want a plan of "merger" which will forever prevent any town of the county from becoming a part of the city no matter how badly the town might want to join the city or how willingly its people would vote to become a part of it.

All the county knows how much better the city can administer the needs of a growing population than do or can the 16 small municipalities of the county. The people of the county showed respect for that doctrine when they voted, more than two to one, in favor of the existing constitutional amendment which provides three modes of annexation or merger. Several localities adjoining St. Louis have repeatedly knocked to be admitted to the city of St. Louis because the population there was badly governed.

The city does not covet the farm and wild lands of the county. It wants only that portion of its own population which has outgrown the city's boundaries, and it wants to give to its overgrown section the right to become a part of the city. If the loss of its urban fringe would make it difficult for the remainder of the county to function, then the more reason why the entire county should join the city for its protection. This word is thoughtfully used. If the present basic law proved inadequate for the purpose of fair dealing, the state would vote overwhelmingly for a measure that would equitably adjust the relations between the urban and rural portions of the city. Why perpetuate a system based upon multiple instead of unified government when all real argument and all human experience point to the latter?

JUSTA CITIZEN.

Risks and Rates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

OPPOSITION to a State insurance fund voiced by a spokesman for the Associated Industries of Missouri calls to public mind again the proposal of labor leaders for altering the present administration of the workmen's compensation act. It further indicates that two groups already have made up their minds, one proposing, the other opposing.

In brief, the petitions for an initiative vote propose that instead of each employer insuring his working force against accident in a private risk concern, he will contribute to a State fund, out of which damage claims will be paid. Labor leaders take the view that adjustments will be made with less controversy and delay under this program.

To this the opposition replies that it would be inadvisable in the highest degree to intrust the administration of such fund to a politically appointed bureau. That the proposed bill probably would prevent any privately owned insurance company from carrying workmen's compensation risks is also advanced as an objection.

What the general public will want to know, however, has not been touched. In those states having a public insurance fund, how is the plan working? Are the employers and employes concerned satisfied? And, finally, are rates lower under one plan than under the other?

CITIZEN.

Pean to the French Army.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

SOME world benefactors arrive, stand in the shadows and finally pass into nothingness without recognition. Yet their influence, though unperceived by dull eyes, swayed history. Thus the French army. Unobtrusively since the war it has stood as the big policeman of Europe and its presence has been of incalculable value to peace. The wild spirits of disorder that always trail such an upheaval were cowed before its frown like beasts before their tamer. The dearly-bought fruits of victory owe their preservation solely to it. If a reaction had come like a tidal wave to engulf the liberties that cost 30 million lives, this country, with arms laid aside, would have remained immobile. Almost as certainly would England. But France, unable to leave the blood-stained arena of war, still gripped her arms, still stood poised, the alert gladiator.

The rebellious monarchists of Germany snarled at it across the Rhine but dared not sink their fangs into the new republic they hated. Soviet Russia, drunken with revolution and sweeping across Poland to perchance join hands with German sympathizers, halted and returned to its lair when French arms said "Enough." The newly-emancipated nations of Central Europe, insecure and fearful in their newly-worn robes of independence, hastened to unite into an entente and place themselves under the protection of the only force that still guaranteed the Versailles treaty. Mussolini assumes the pompousness of a Napoleon but he is well aware that schemes of conquest are only visionary while his listening ear can hear the tramp of legions across the Alps.

To maintain peace is often nearly as difficult as to win it. This latter task has fallen to the French army and gloriously has it fulfilled it.

L. R. JOHNSON.

Cape Girardeau, Mo.

A BITTER LESSON.

The unprecedented collapse of stock values which carried ruin to so many people in its wake has been a bitter lesson to the country.

Mr. Ford's explanation of what happened is probably that held by most observers. The Detroit manufacturer says it was a condition in business that precipitated the panic in stocks. There would, in his opinion, have been no such disastrous collapse had not stock values been inflated by speculation. They were inflated to a point which rendered the market highly sensitive, and when business faltered the crash in the stock market followed. Says Mr. Ford:

> Collapse of speculation may have been the occasion of a business hesitation, but it certainly was not the cause.
> The stock market does not make prosperity, but prosperity is absolutely essential to such an inflation of values as we have seen during the past year. When an inflated stock market breaks it does not necessarily carry general business down with it, but when general business declines it invariably deflates the artificial values of the stock market.
> That is what happened. It was only the temporary diversion of business men's attention that prevented them from seeing what was happening. It is now clear to all that the real explanation of the present situation is not to be found in recent stock market history but in recent business history.

It is refreshing to have this diagnosis come from such an authoritative industrial quarter after the foolish charges made by Banker Kent, the Washington Post, and others, that the disaster was caused by the refusal of the coalition in the Senate to let industry have the kind of tariff bill that some part of it wanted. The condition of business was never serious, but the slight depression, particularly in the automobile industry, the second largest in the country, was sufficient to upset a market in which the speculative levels had become too dependent upon prosperity. It was possible for what happened to be altogether misunderstood. There was grave danger that the exaggeration of values in the stock market might be followed by exaggeration in the business condition which precipitated the collapse. Mr. Hoover realized this danger, and he acted promptly to avert it. It is fortunate that there is in the White House at this time a man whose services as Secretary of Commerce in the Coolidge administration gained for him the intimate knowledge of business that Mr. Hoover has, and so highly qualified him to act in an emergency.

The next time the country sees stock values rising so far above the level logically resulting from their actual earnings and prospects, it will be worth while for it to recall what Mr. Ford says about the "hesitation" in business which sent the stock market reeling. He thinks it resulted from diversion of the brains of business to stock gambling. Whether sound or not, the Detroit industrialist's postulate that so great an institution as American business needs all the brains it can rally to its support is credible. It is the greatest structure of the kind in history, and one can readily believe that its demands upon its support are stupendous. One need not go beyond the circle of one's own acquaintance to agree with Mr. Ford that the diversion of thought, like the diversion of surplus capital, must have been immense when the stock market was at its height.

At any rate, the country is home from school. Let us hope that it learned its bitter lesson.

PARASITES OF CHARITY.

Sharpers who prey upon the citizens' laudable impulse to aid the unfortunate are the subject of a warning issued by the Chamber of Commerce Charities Committee. A number of fake solicitors are abroad, and as the holiday season approaches, more are expected. Goods are being sold by canvassers on the representation that the profits go to charity. In truth, a very small percentage goes to an institution, but this gives the agents their best selling talk. The favorite game, however, is for promoters to pay an organization a flat sum for use of its name in selling tickets to a dance or other function. A whirlwind ticket-selling campaign then is launched, generally by telephone, and the promoters wind up with a handsome profit. Seven or eight such campaigns now are under way in St. Louis and Kansas City, according to Better Business Bureau agents, who estimate the promoters will take in from $125,000 to $250,000 before Christmas, most of which will be profit to them. The agents want the State Public Service Commission to approve refusal of telephone service to ticket campaigns of this type.

Such frauds garbed in the "white robe of charity" not only swindle the citizenry but work a hardship on the legitimate charitable organizations. The community has a definite capacity for giving, and money wasted must be deducted from gifts to worthy causes. The Charities Committee keeps a record of deserving charities, and urges persons who are solicited to make inquiries.

THE BRIDGE TRADE.

With the Terminal Association agreeing to the proposed trade of the vehicle deck of the Eads Bridge for the railroad deck of the Free Bridge, the matter goes to the Board of Aldermen with the blessings of the Mayor and Comptroller Nolte.

Indeed, there is no reason in equity why such a mutual accommodation cannot be arranged. The railroads need a more direct connection with Union Station, and the city needs a free bridge at the heart of the retail district. The Board of Aldermen must consider if the arrangement is equitable. There is no question about the soundness of a public policy which seeks such a mutual accommodation as this would be. That is, the city has a bridge where the railroads need it, and the railroads have a bridge where the city needs it.

Mr. Kelker, traffic expert of the Transportation Survey Commission, says we need more bridges for automotive traffic. Such an arrangement with the railroads as is proposed would to a degree meet that need. The Free Bridge has shown what a difference tolls make to the public. In the 11-hour period from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m., an average of 15,000 automobiles and trucks pass over it, as opposed to 1900 crossing the toll-charging Eads Bridge.

The detail by which the railroads agree to advance approximately $3,000,000 for necessary approaches to the Free Bridge and absorb it in charges obviates a necessity to take this money out of city funds. A bond issue would be required for the purpose, and it is unlikely that after putting some $10,000,000 into the Free Bridge the people would care about voting more. They probably would feel that the bridge is a property of such convenience and necessity to a growing metropolis that it ought to pay its own way, and it should.

ACTION AT LAST.

Mr. Hoover, who is making the fur fly in various directions, has tackled the problem of consolidating Government bureaus and departments which has been the subject of discussion for the past 10 years. He will ask Congress to authorize a plan to consolidate within the Department of Justice, where they belong, all prohibition enforcement activities, and another plan to gather under one head all agencies dealing with war veterans and their dependents, now scattered in at least four separate departments.

It is expected these two consolidations will save several millions of dollars and are, therefore, strongly to be desired from the standpoint of economy. Greater efficiency, of course, is another argument for them. As constituted at present, the structure of our Government resembles an old house to which numerous additions have been made from time to time, tacked on to the original building, as it were, without any regard for the symmetry of the whole.

This condition is something of an anomaly in a country noted for the skillful manner and lack of wastefulness in which the business of its huge corporations is conducted. It would seem natural that our Government should reflect the progress that has been made in business management. Instead it horrifies every business executive who has studied the numerous duplications and overlappings of its departments and bureaus.

President Harding, it is true, took the first step toward reorganization of official Washington by appointing a commission to look into the subject. His successor, Mr. Coolidge, had every opportunity to carry into effect the commission's findings; but, as in everything else, he followed the policy of negation. Happily, we now have a President who is not content with sitting in the White House as immobile as a graven Buddha. He craves action, and is getting action on a reform which everyone has agreed for a decade should be accomplished but which we have until now waited for in vain.

OUR MUDDLED JUDGES.

Totally misinterpreting the Volstead law, Federal Judges Reeves and Dawson hold that the buyer is equally guilty with the seller. This, as we have explained, is negatively to apply the clause which relates to obtaining a permit to manufacture, sell, purchase, transport or prescribe liquor, which, of course, neither a bootlegger nor one buying from a bootlegger can do.

Now comes Federal Judge FitzHenry of Illinois to say that under an old statute dating from 1790 it is a felony to have guilty knowledge of a crime and not to expose it. Thus, to buy liquor from a bootlegger and not expose him becomes a felony in the grotesque jurisprudence of Judge FitzHenry.

The Constitution says that one cannot be compelled to testify against one's self. Where does this leave Judge FitzHenry's notion that the buyer of liquor commits a felony in not exposing the seller?

SPEAKING OF PANICS.

There is no such phenomenon in our political cosmos as a Republican panic. When a panic occurs in a Republican administration it may be anything in the dictionary except one thing. It is not a Republican panic. And if a panic occurs in a Democratic administration it can be only one thing—a Democratic panic. This may not be exactly fair, or precisely intelligent, but it certainly is funny and it certainly is the fact.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican frankly admits that a panic is either Democratic or nameless. "It is as plain as the nose on a man's face," says the Republican, "that Mr. Hoover is in no way connected with the market tumble, since he has been President but a few months." We would make that point even stronger. It is as plain, we believe, as the nose on Cyrano de Bergerac's face. Still, glancing back at the Mauve Decade, one discovers that Grover Cleveland was inaugurated President on March 4, 1893, and that the midsummer panic which followed his even shorter tenancy of the White House than Mr. Hoover's was placed on his doorstep and there remains to this day—a genuine, bona fide Democratic panic. Of later vintage, in the Roosevelt reign, was the 1907 panic, which was cheerfully dismissed as a shin-plaster episode, not to be dignified or accepted as a panic. But if Judge Parker had beaten the Colonel in 1904, which is about as big a political "if" as can be contrived, those moneyless moons would have been a Democratic panic.

So it seems pretty clear that the Democratic party has a reason for being. That party is a most obliging goat on which to harness responsibility for a panic. On the principle that they also serve who only stand and take it on the chin, it behooves the efficient Republican organization, we submit, to keep the Democratic party alive as a horrible warning to the people.

ENGLAND'S ROYAL KNITTER.

Domestic virtues flourished and thrived in the long reign of good Queen Victoria. The Prince of Wales, heir apparent to Victoria's crown, seems determined to remain a bachelor, and so will be unable to exalt family life in person, as did his great-grandmother; but he is taking other steps to honor the household gods. The Prince has taken up knitting, and some of his work was the center of interest the other day at Queen Mary's needlework guild. This is a good omen for England, and for the world.

Knitting is a new hobby for masculine royalty, and it is an appropriate gesture in this day of concerted movements for peace. One cannot imagine a nation going to war while its monarch sits in the royal palace contentedly knitting as the kettle for tea purrs soothingly on the hob. Artillery may rattle as it will outside the windows, but the click of the royal knitting needles will drown it out. May the dove of peace perch eternally on the back of Edward's throne, standing primly on a knitted antimacassar.

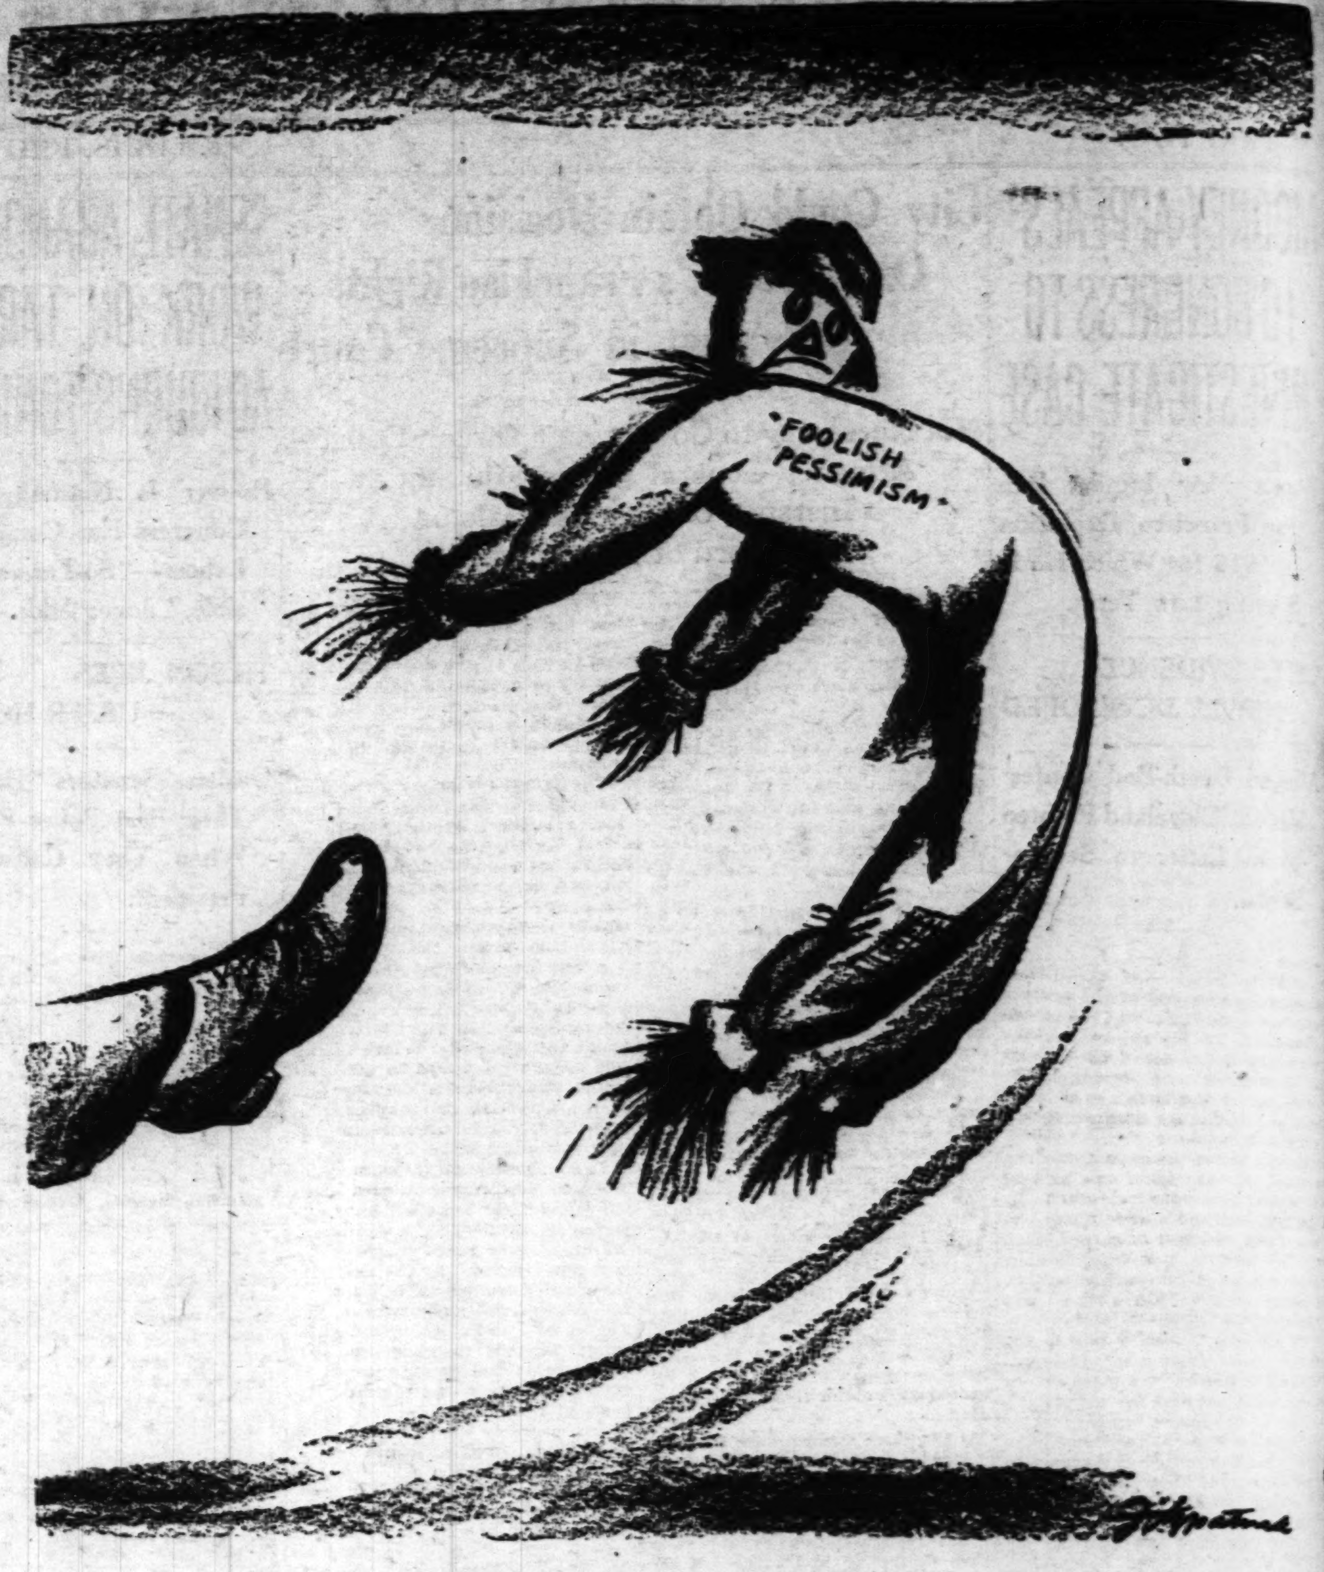
Messrs. Hawley and Smoot may be remembered as joint authors of the unwritten tariff law.



OUT OF THE HOOVER CONFERENCES.

The Protection Swindle Bared

Cynicism and selfishness of tariff beneficiaries exposed by recent developments; all pretense that levies aid laborer or consumer is ended; whole theory could now be wrecked if Democrats or Progressives had bold leaders; Grundy admits manufacturers are out only to get profits; Bingham disclosures also shed new light.

From the Nation.

THESE are glorious days in Washington for those who have been for years declaring protection a pure swindle and a bold-faced robbery of the people. Never since the time of McKinley and the Mulhall inquiry of 1913 has the machinery of tariff-making been so exposed to public view and the utter cynicism and selfishness of the tariff beneficiaries so revealed in all their nakedness. From the purchase of tariff favors to the deliverance of the bargain, the complete modus operandi has been exposed for everybody to see.

Henceforth no honest man can deny that as tariff-making is now carried on it is merely a question of bargain and sale plus political influence. All pretense that this is to benefit the American laborer or the consumer is at an end. Only Joseph Grundy himself has had the effrontery to bring up that long-discarded shibboleth "the foreigner pays the tax." That the tariff hurts the farmer has been freely admitted. The very object of this session of Congress is to offset the injury done him by the magic hocus-pocus of including him within the sacred tariff wall, as if this would in some way raise the prices of his products to him and lower them to the consumer.

Were there bold and radical leadership in Washington in either the Progressive or Democratic camp, irreparable damage could now be done to the whole protection theory. Had the Democrats, and Al Smith in his utter ignorance of things economic, not entirely abandoned in the last presidential campaign their historic party theory that the tariff should be for revenue only, they would have in their hands today a mighty weapon with which they could certainly wipe out the Republican majority in Congress, as the Democrats were able to wrest control of the House from the Republicans in 1892.

Were the Progressives able to free themselves from the entire tariff fetish and refuse to uphold it in any manner, they could electrify the country and could drive home beyond dispute the crookedness and the economic folly of the whole business. But the Progressives, with due respect for their courage and their fine intentions, are economically blind on this tariff issue. They fight valiantly against corruption in the field of oil, against the misuse of water power, against lobbies and the prostitution of government to personal advantage and profit, but they do not see that there is no other source of special privilege as potent of evil as the tariff.

Senator Bingham has been deservedly censured by the Senate for his imposition upon the Senate Finance Committee of an official of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association in the guise of his confidential private secretary, and for imputing political motives to the Norris committee of inquiry which properly criticised this dishonest and dishonorable procedure. We are heartily ready to thank heaven for his stupidity, since it has revealed to the public how one Senator thought of his office—that he was the servant not of all the people of the State of Connecticut, but of its manufacturers; that his prime duty as he saw it was to increase their profits. Senator Bingham was stupid enough to get caught; but no one need think that his position was otherwise unique.

Joseph Grundy of Pennsylvania, too, deserves well of all tariff reformers. He has unblushingly stated that he raised a million dollars for the Hoover campaign fund. When Senator Caraway asked him: "You feel that the manufacturers bought this legislation and ought to have it?" he replied: "If the legislation was mentioned in the platform it ought to be enacted." Finally the very frank Mr. Grundy admitted in reply to a question from Senator Walsh that "we were seeking increases generally." "Were you seeking for any reductions?" "Not a single reduction."

So there we have it! A deliberate, brazen assertion that the manufacturers were out only for increases in tariffs to enlarge their profits—not even the claim that foreign competition demanded it, or that it was done to benefit labor, or to raise the American standard of living, or to protect infant industries. The farmers may go hang, and all the consumers, too. The manufacturers having got their snouts in the tariff trough want to get their feet in, too. They do not pretend that they are going bankrupt. How can they?

Take our poor down-trodden steel industry. Since the last revision of the tariff in 1922 the profits of the United States Steel Corporation have been $642,875,105; those of the Otis Steel Co. rose from $492,207 in 1922 to $3,476,811 in 1928, while the starving Bethlehem Steel Co. could only increase its profits from $4,607,254 to $15,908,830 and the poverty-stricken Inland Steel Co. of Chicago could barely raise its profits from $1,150,068 in 1922 to $10,294,297 in 1928.

So all along the line. The weak little chemical industry, Senator La Follette pointed out in an admirable speech, has now surpassed the steel business in size; Treasury statistics show that it is the "most prosperous" of all the large American industries. Yet it secured in the new bill more than 90 increases in tariffs, some as high as 700 per cent, while only 50 decreases of no great significance were made.

The Du Pont Co., Mr. La Follette showed, was interested in 14 of the paragraphs in the new bill in which increases were granted, and the Allied Chemical Co. and Union Carbide Co. in five paragraphs each. Yet the Du Pont net profits rose from $12,720,458 in 1922 to $66,853,029 in 1928, during which period their invested capital grew from $234,000,000 to $527,000,000. The Allied Chemical net profits in the same period rose $12,000,000, and the Union Carbide $22,000,000. Yet these poor starving concerns demand more protection!

The picture is complete. We are utterly opposed to the whole tariff swindle and we devoutly wish that it could be put up to the people as a single issue in a political campaign.

WASHINGTON
DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.

START out in quest of the "lowdown" on a question of importance in the United States Senate and it's a pretty safe bet before you get very far someone will advise: "Go and talk it over with Charlie McNary." For they all know on the hill that the dapper, well groomed, youthful appearing Senator from Oregon perhaps keeps his ear closer to the political ground than any other of his colleagues. Very little indeed transpires around the Capitol that McNary is not familiar with.

A Stanford University man and a personal friend of Herbert Hoover, there is little doubt that many Senators have relied on the tall Oregonian for the correct steer during the hectic days of this special session of Congress. Aside from his personal connections, it long has been recognized that McNary is a power in his own right.

It occasioned no surprise, therefore, when Senator Jim Watson packed his bag and left the Senate for a three-week rest in Florida, that McNary's name was heard in connection with conversations as to who would succeed to the majority leadership. Such rumors were given more weight when it was recalled that Senator Wesley Jones, assistant majority leader, had previously declined to contest with Watson for the post.

THE name McNary is synonymous in the minds of most people with the words farm relief. As chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, he and Representative Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, in an effort to solve the difficulties of the farmers of the West and Middle West, offered the McNary-Haugen bill. Because of the wide interest in the bill, it became one of the best known titles of proposed legislation that had appeared in Congress in years.

It is as a champion of farm relief that McNary now enjoys a national reputation. He was born on a farm, and from childhood has been familiar with the problems that confront the farmer. He confides that after making up his mind to be a senatorial candidate, he devoted all of his time to an intensive study of agriculture and its various problems with a view to working for their relief in the event of his election. Thus he became one of the best informed men in the Northwest and later in the United States Senate on agricultural affairs.

From his first year in the Senate to the present he has fought for the cause of the farmers. One of the first acts as a Senator was to take the side of the wheat growers. He was credited with the establishment of the primary wheat market, which later brought $7,000,000 for the farmers of the Northwest.

McNARY enjoys tremendous popularity among his colleagues. They all respect his ability and admire him as a man. He is inclined to be a bit impatient at times with [illegible] and insists on direct answers to queries.

When not considering a witness himself he listens intently, meanwhile drawing figures on a pad of paper.

idden Treasure

AT CONQUEROS OF UTH AND CENTRAL AMER- CA. By A. Hyatt Verrill. (Ap- leton.)

y yesterday's news there was item stating that prospectors the mountains of Peru, hav- discovered a small treasure of the Incas, believe they are hot trail leading to the hiding of vast quantities of gold jewels concealed by the Pe- ans in the time of Pizarro al- 400 years ago.

may be that the item was in- ted by some enterprising news d in an off day of dull hunt- or the prospectors themselves have been doing a bit of wish- thinking out loud. But it may well be true; for it is a mat- of sober history—if history may be called quite sober—that ewhere in those mountains asure estimated to be worth dreds of millions of dollars is iting to be discovered. One lit- item consists of 11 life-size es of the Incas in solid gold, ch are known to have been hed somewhere near Pisco- mba!

How much longer may the an- nt secret be expected to hold against the ingenuity of a go- tting age like ours?

In his "Great Conquerors of uth and Central America," A. att Verrill retells the all but in- dible story of the looting of ancient and fabulously wealthy dom of the Incas by a Span- swineherd whose education, in matter of honor and pity, was ly neglected by his superiors, swine. He tells how Pizarro, ing imprisoned his trusting the Inca Atahualpa, agreed accept as ransom a quantity of sufficient to fill a room 18 wide and 20 feet long as high the royal prisoner could reach. how, when the room had been as promised, more and more was demanded and produced. as when Pizarro, in a particu- y violent stage of his madness, ally garroted the Inca like a mon thief that the vast treas- s were hidden by the terrified ople.

"Somewhere on the Inca's Road," ites Mr. Verrill, "hundreds of In- ns and an almost endless train llamas were trudging across the ntains from Chuquis, bearing them 7000 loads of gold of 75 unds each. And somewhere else 0 carriers were making all haste wards Cajamarca, bending under burden of the 10-ton, 700-foot in of solid gold that the Inca, ayna Kapah, had had made to mmemorate the birth of Hua- r. When the news of Pizarro's rfidy and the Inca's death ched the bearers of the treasure, entire amount was so carefully cealed that to this day it has not been found. Throughout the country it was the same. Wherever there was gold, or other treasures, the natives hastily concealed them."

What a romantic quest lies yonder for some potentially daring youth now going stale in the economic treadmill!

In addition to the complete story of Pizarro and his associates, Mr. Verrill retells the equally astonishing tale of that other highly courageous and bloody rascal, Cortez. Even if Prescott were still in fashion, Mr. Verrill's book would deserve attention for the vividness of its descriptions and the fine flow of its narrative; and there is much in the book to indicate that the author has based his work to a considerable extent upon his own researches and explorations. Since it may be doubted that any large portion of this generation's readers can be acquainted with Prescott, Mr. Verrills' popular version should make a strong appeal.

Surely it has in a high degree nearly all the elements of a popular modern thriller, aside from its value as history. It is a record of crime hardly surpassed in the history of mankind, and no murder yarn concocted by the most ingenious of our venal thrill-mongers could equal in gore and ghastliness these tales of fact. The shrewd trickery of the currently admired go-getter is here in generous measure, and the humble wealth-worshiper may gloat over heaps upon costly heaps of gold and jewels that once were real.

These tales lack only a strong spice of "love" to make them perfect for our day. Not that the sixteenth century Spaniards were above that sort of thing, for they were truly virile men; but, being so, they took the obvious for granted where they found it and went their daring ways.

THE NEW ARTS. (W. W. Norton & Co.)

Five slender volumes presenting a survey of five arts from the modern viewpoint. Music is discussed by Alfred J. Swan; Painting, by Mary Cecil Allen; Sculpture, by Joseph Hudnut; the Theater, by John Mason Brown; Poetry, by Babette Deutsch.

A publishing company recently organized has hit upon a new wrinkle in the magazine business which bids fair to succeed enormously. Its publications, which appear to be worth anywhere from 35 to 50 cents, will be distributed by the 10 cent stores. One of the publications is devoted wholly to love; another, to grewsome murder; a third, to the movies. Murder for father and brother, sex for mother and sister, and movie heroes and heroines for the whole family! Thus culture is to be brought to the multitude at a price within reach of all.

'PETER IBBETSON' FOR METROPOLITAN CAST

Deems Taylor's New Opera Adapted From Play Based on Du Maurier's Novel.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The next opera by Deems Taylor, to be produced next season by the Metropolitan Opera Co., will be "Peter Ibbetson," Taylor announced last night. The libretto, also by Taylor, has been adapted from the play based on Du Maurier's novel, in which Constance Collier and John Barrymore starred some years ago.

The opera is in four acts, with tenor and soprano roles predominating. It will be delivered before the end of the present season, and rehearsals will start immediately. The premiere will take place early next autumn, although the date is still undecided.

Taylor signed a contract with the Metropolitan two years ago to write an opera. This was to have been produced this season. In the spring of 1928 he asked for more time, and requested another extension last March. He had been working on several librettos, he said, but had been unable to find one satisfactory.

The material which engaged his attention included Heywood Broun's "Gandle Follows His Nose" and Elmer Rice's play, "Street Scene."

Taylor explained last night that he had not entirely discarded this material. "When I got into 'Street Scene,'" he said, "I found it was going to be a terrific job, rather than a sketchy and hurried piece of work, I thought it would be betable to the requirements of opera. able to the requihements of opera. I've laid aside the others, but haven't discarded them entirely."

"The King's Henchman," written by Taylor to the blank verse libretto of Edna St. Vincent Millay, had its premiere at the Metropolitan Feb. 17, 1927.

Although Taylor's announcement was confirmed at the Metropolitan last night, no details of cast or date of premiere were disclosed.

He formerly was master of novices at Frederick, Md., and later was a national director of the League of the Sacred Heart. For a three-year interval he was rector of Brooklyn College.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.

THOUGHT while strolling: Wonder if fish merchants ever eat fish? Sign on a blind man's hat: "Cheer up—it might be worse!" A 5 and 10 grocerteria. The melancholy wail of river tugs. Jane Cowl's dreamy languor. Male flappers with eyebrow mustaches. Few of us are as well to do as formerly, heigh ho!

Gil Boag, former king of the night clubs. Now a Broadway producer. Two dollar jellies in gold-leafed jars. And sold by clerks in braided coats. Barber shop sign: "Our manicure girls are beauty prize winners." Joe Williams, the sport writer. Clay Morgan of the French Line.

The white taffy blondes featuring heavy black eyebrows. Near-society chatterers who call each other "Old Dear." And rush up and down theater aisles waving at people between acts. Mrs. Fiske's mincing walk. And the bird-like flirts of her head.

Those snooty imported cars without an identifying name anywhere. The melancholy placidity of a curio shop. A playwright wearing patent leather spats and a red lapel rose. Phil Plant, the young millionaire sportsman. The real Countess who is housekeeper at a fashionable hotel.

The venerable East Side hags with discarded baby carriages who hunt kindling. Always blooming flowers in Helen Gould's window boxes. The little girls who used to roll hoops now drive roadsters. Henry Blackman Sell, a Chicago, Ill., boy who made good in the city.

Cream colored overcoats with dazzling polka dot handkerchiefs. Nothing looks so utterly bored as a stretching dog. Unless it is a stretching cat. Dice shaped hats for girls. A new drink—beet juice. "Duke" Herrick, the Park Commissioner, who looks like the Mayor.

The silver-haired twins who promenade Fifth avenue wearing gray derbies. The grim look of back seat motor cycle riders. Billie Burke wears her hair in a little knot in the back. Night watchmen who sit on chairs backward and lean on the backs. Who remembers when a chateau was a house?

A DEPARTMENT store has an all night telegraph service. If a customer wants something after closing, a wire order will bring it on the first morning delivery. Thus making it dandy in case you should run out of book-ends or something.

SCANDAL does not always affect property or trade values. The hotel where Rothstein was murdered and the apartment house in which he lived have had a greater prosperity since his mysterious murder than ever before. And the little Broadway cafe from which he was called to his death is usually packed to capacity.

ON the other hand, a West Side apartment house in which a Broadway rose was found garroted several years ago, proved such a heavy financial loss it was finally torn down, and is now occupied by a garage.

A GREAT theatrical producer now is ripening years and very rich has a household keyed up to royal pretensions. His insatiable vanity is fed with all the flattery and complete servility of noblesse oblige. Even his bed is that of a dethroned ruler in a small European principality. He usually dines alone and with great pomp—and perhaps with a sly chuckle. He says he has always lived in a world of illusion and he wants to continue the regal manner until the end. It might be added, too, his name is not David Belasco.

MANY of us appearing so prosaic are nursing romantic repressions. Since boyhood I have dreamed of being the swashbuckler with flashing lance, hip boots and jangling spurs. The nearest I came to it was to don chaps and a six-shooter on a far away Mexican ranch and at last reports the boys around the bunk house were still hysterical.

FROM T. S.: "On West Forty-seventh street at night we are making the short-skirted flappers step. With invisible strips of leather we flick their calves as they pass along. And you should see them jump!"

You are certainly full of pranks, you and Harry Thaw.

Indictments Against F. X. Mancuso and Six Others Quashed as Unconstitutional.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The indictments against former Judge Francis X. Mancuso and six other directors of the defunct City Trust Co. charged with participation in the bank's fraudulent insolvency, were held to be unconstitutional yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Tompkins.

Those indicted with Mancuso who was chairman of the board, were Anthony Di Paolo, Salvatore Soraci, Leonard Rose, Frederico Ferrari, brother of the bank's late president; Isadore Siegeltuch and Francis S. Paterno. It was announced that an appeal would be taken by the State.

Mancuso resigned from the General Sessions bench two days before news of the indictment against him came out. The investigation into the Trust company's tangled affairs also resulted in the resignation of Frank H. Warder as State Superintendent of Banking. Warder was convicted of accepting a $10,000 bribe to forego examination of the bank.

BRIBERY TESTIMONY IN DRY LAW TRIAL

Paris, Ill., Witness Says Defendant Told Him He Paid County Official.

Testimony that Willard Large, alleged owner of a still near Paris, Ill., paid an Edgar County official for protection, was introduced by the Government today in Federal Court at East St. Louis in the trial of Large and 10 other men for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act in connection with the operation of the still.

Thomas E. Jeffers, a mechanic, who had pleaded guilty under the indictment, testified that he was employed in the construction of the still, relating that Large told him he had contributed $500 to the campaign fund of an official he described as the "big boy," and that the official exacted periodical payments of $100 each.

"The trouble with this business is that the big boy is making more money out of it than I am," Large said, according to Jeffers.

The men on trial with Large are: His nephew, Orville Large of Paris, Rudolph Berkley, Taylorville, Ind.; William and John McCleverty, Chicago; Arthur Faut, Paris; Julius Ugt, Indianapolis; Elmer Matherly, Benjamin Japone, William Ewing and William Muskett, all of Paris.

The men are charged with having operated the still, manufactured the liquor and transported it from January, 1927, until it was raided last March. Ugt, a grocer, is alleged to have arranged for sugar shipments which William McCleverty is accused of receiving. The trial began Wednesday.

BYRD'S OWN STORY OF FLIGHT ON WHICH BASE WAS LAID

Bubier, Roth and Demas. The marine corps, army and the Wright company each has every reason to be proud of its representative.

Not long after passing the crevassed area, we sighted great mountains on the starboard bow. Later, on the return, from 5000 feet we thought we could follow them for 150 miles. We judge that we saw all the way to Beardmore glacier, where Scott and Shackleton ascended to the plateau on their Polar effort.

McKinley photographed this range and a new one running near it in the same direction. We can definitely join up Axel Heiberg glacier with Beardmore glacier. This is a magnificent range.

As we approached the mountains, peak after peak came into view until finally the whole horizon from the southeast to the southwest was filled with mountains. As we drew nearer, we saw huge glaciers debouching ice into the barrier through great ragged gashes in the mountains. These are the outlets for the two-mile high plateau of ice in the center of which lies the South Pole.

Never have I seen such rugged mountains or such magnificent scenery—great mountain masses rising from sea level precipitously to thousands of feet, peak after peak towering heights of 10,000, 12,000 and 15,000 feet.

McKinley photographed with his mapping camera dozens of mountain peaks never before seen. He will develop his films so that the world can see what we saw and science can study at its leisure and with a microscope these extraordinary glacial phenomena.

Perhaps one of the biggest moments of the whole expedition was the landing at the foot of the mountains, for landing away from base on an unknown field is always uncertain and even more so in the polar regions with a heavy load aboard.

All was staked on that landing. What a colossal mess it would have been had we failed! It was one of those risks one must sometimes take in the polar regions to win.

To Smith was given the responsibility of landing on unknown ground, the character of which is not easy to judge from the air. But he carried the mail to the mountains!

When we had built our base and took the air again we could look back at the little pile of food and gasoline. It appeared very tiny and utterly lonely there on the great expanse of snow with these tremendous mountains in the background.

Non-Stop Trip Impossible.

These great mountains make our problem a peculiarly difficult one and prevent a non-stop flight to the Pole from Little America. We cannot carry a sufficient load of gasoline to scale these peaks, reach the Pole and return non-stop, so that is why we must have gasoline available at the foot of these mountains when we will become short of fuel on our return.

Soon after passing the crevasses on our return, we reached the area between 75 and 100 miles from Little America which the dog teams had reported as being dangerous for airplane landing. Some parts of it, they said, were impossible.

About this time the motors began to miss. Harold June reported we were running low of gas. What had become of the gas we did not know, but we had plenty aboard when we left the mountains.

Suddenly all three motors stopped. Things looked black, for we were in that dangerous area. Smith had the wheel. Again it was up to him. The terrain looked rough from the air. As we glided down for a landing there was plenty of time to wonder just which sastrugi would smash the landing gear.

When we bumped hard and rocked along crazily and finally came to rest without smashing up, we were greatly astonished. This is the third time that Smith has landed successfully away from base.

Tribute to the Men.

During the next 36 hours out there on the barrier, 100 miles from camp, working in the cold, June, McKinley and Smith showed the stuff they are made of.

June was a great help from the time we left. He is an expert radio operator, mechanic and pilot. McKinley had the most strenuous task of all as he mapped every inch of the flight with a 50-pound camera.

After we got on the ground McKinley worked like a Trojan. I couldn't make him rest. Mac is preparing to spend tonight developing some of his photographs.

It was, of course, good that we could follow the trail, because if we had landed in an unknown region it would have been most difficult for Bernt Balchen and Carl Peterson to have found us to give us gasoline.

We had perfect weather the whole way. It is remarkable that Bill Haines and Henry Harrison could have predicted with accuracy good weather for 500 miles in this unusually changeable region.

Now to come to the scientific aspects of the flight. We naturally do not want to draw conclusions until we have studied the photographic maps.

But we can say, in addition to what we have told about the mountain range to the west, that we seem to have extended the eastern limit of the barrier about 100 miles and that there appear to be no mountains at latitude 82 to the east, as reported by Capt. Amundsen. He, himself, was doubtful about this land and did not name or chart the mountains.

The fine view we had from 5000 feet seems to indicate it is not impossible the barrier may run on to the east hundreds of miles and there is no proof yet that there is not some connection with the Weddell Sea.

But it is too early to make any definite statements along these lines. Our photographs, we think, will show a different position for some of the mountain ranges than that shown on the chart.

Raising Turkeys on Small Tract.

JACKSON, Mich. — The Layher brothers for seven years have been raising from 500 to 1500 turkeys on a two-acre tract. They have been able to shatter the orthodox theory of wide range and fresh fields by practicing sanitary measures during the first 10 weeks of breeding.

U. S. JUDGE DAVIS SAYS PRISONS DO NO GOOD

Makes Statement in Imposing Six Months' Jail Term on Former Policeman.

Federal Judge Davis, in sentencing John Thiery, a former policeman, to six months in jail yesterday on a plea of guilty of defrauding the Government by altering and raising money orders, declared, "We ought not try to send everybody to the penitentiary that we can."

"It doesnt' do the prisoner any good, it doesn't do us any good and it doesn't do society any good," the Judge continued. "The jails and penitentiaries are filled with people now who, when they come out, will be worse than when they went in. If I could save any of these defendants by not sending them to the penitentiary I would gladly do so because we haven't been getting anywhere sending them to the penitentiary."

The maximum punishment fixed by statute for the offense to which Thiery pleaded guilty is five years in the penitentiary, a fine of $5000, or both. He had purchased money orders in small amounts made payable to himself and then altered and cashed them for larger amounts.

A few minutes before, Judge Davis sentenced Joseph Novak, who sold a drink of whisky to a prohibition agent in a saloon at Fourth and Walnut streets, where he worked as porter and bartender for $8 a week, to a year and a day in the penitentiary and a fine of $500 under the Jones amendment to the Volstead act, which provides a maximum punishment of five years, a fine of $10,000, or both. Novak had been in jail, unable to furnish bond, since his arrest, Sept. 7.

Other penitentiary and jail sentences imposed were: Leonard Gowers, two years for violation of the Mann act; Granville Latimer, two years for violation of the Dyer act; Pearl Thomas, Negro, two years for violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act; Omar Reed, two years for violation of the Dyer act, and Nick Lawson, six months for violating the Dyer act.

Joe Cross, a Negro, charged with stealing and transporting an automobile from Flint, Mich., was let off with the four months he had been in jail since his arrest on his assurance to the court the man from whom he stole the auto owed him money for wages and refused to pay.

BRITAIN WILL NOT REPAY GERMANS FOR SEIZED ASSETS

Amount Figured on Reparations Annuities by Expert, Chancellor Snowden Says.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, discussig the Government's attitude on the liquidation of German private property, held since the war, said that it was the intention of the creditor governments to retain the proceeds of these properties and not to repay any part to Germany. He said this decision had been reached by the Government after consultation with the British experts on the Young committee and the experts of all the other creditor governments.

It was only on this understanding that the creditor experts had recommended a reduction in the German obligations proposed under the Young plan. Any surplus, he said, would be credited to Germany on account of reparations payments.

The Government had, however, released properties to the value of $24,500,000 to alleviate the hardships of individuals and had offered to waive claims on property as yet not liquidated, including dollar securities which are subject of litigation, estimated be worth another $24,500,000.

Conviction of Michigan Man and Woman Obtained Improperly, Former Lansing Officer Says

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The Tribune today publishes a statement by Frank Eastman, ofrmer Lansing, Mich., policeman, in which he says Fred Palm and Mrs. Etta Miller, known as Michigan's "life for a pint" prisoners, were convicted on evidence improperly obtained.

'LIFE FOR A PINT' EVIDENCE ASSAILED BY EX-POLICEMAN

Conviction of Michigan Man and Woman Obtained Improperly, Former Lansing Officer Says

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The Tribune today publishes a statement by Frank Eastman, ofrmer Lansing, Mich., policeman, in which he says Fred Palm and Mrs. Etta Miller, known as Michigan's "life for a pint" prisoners, were convicted on evidence improperly obtained.

Eastman and William Knapp were the plain clothes men who arrested Ed Palm and Mrs. Miller.

Possession or sale of liquor in Michigan is a felony, and under the State's habitual criminal code, as it then stood, a person, upon fourth conviction of a felony, was automatically sentenced to prison for life.

In the Palm conviction, Eastman says, the third and fourth convictions were for the same offense—an arrest on July 27, 1927, for possession of liquor. Palm, the Tribune story continues, forfeited his bond and when arrested again for the same charge on a bench warrant, a pint of liquor was found in his home.

State Senator Seymour Person of Lansing, counsel for Mrs. Miller, who was present when the Eastman statement was made, said that a bench warrant gave two detectives the right to do nothing but arrest Palm as a fugitive on the old charge.

It was on the pint of liquor found in the bench warrant arrest, Eatsman says, that the fourth conviction was obtained.

In explaining the Miller convictions, the Tribune quotes Eastman: "Mrs. Miller's fourth conviction was bad enough, but the liquor in the third one was planted in her house and I can prove that."

Eastman says his resignation from the Lansing police force was brought about by a policeman, who, with a man Eastman spoke of as a bootlegger, "framed" him on a charge of taking bribe.

WARRANT FOR BILLY SUNDAY'S SON AND CLOAK MODEL ISSUED

George M. Sunday and Mrs. Mauryne La Salle Sought on His Wife's Complaint.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Assistant District Attorney George Stahlman issued complaints charging misconduct against George M. Sunday, 37 years old, real estate dealer and son of Billy Sunday, evangelist, and Mrs. Mauryne La Salle, a Hollywood cloak model, after an investigation of charges made by Mrs. Harriet Sunday. Warrants for the arrest of the two were issued in Municipal Court yesterday, bond being fixed at $10,000.

Mrs. Sunday charged she and four witnesses surprised Sunday and Mrs. La Salle together at the Sunday home on the night of Oct. 27. She first appeared before District Attorney's investigators Nov. 1. She said her attorney was preparing a suit for divorce against George Sunday.

Two witnesses were named in the complaint, Frank Loewe, Sunday's secretary, and R. A. Deininger, traffic agent of a commercial airline. Deininger told investigators Sunday chartered an airplane in October, 1928, and took Mrs. La Salle to Bakersfield, Cal.

Sunday dropped from sight Nov. 1, police said, and Mrs. La Salle has been reported missing since she appeared for questioning at the District Attorney's office shortly after the investigation began.

90 WAITING TO ENTER VETERANS' HOSPITAL

Completion of $180,000 Building Will Not Relieve Overcrowding, Dr. Gibson Says.

Completion of the $180,000 building now under construction at the Veterans' Hospital at Jefferson Barracks will not eliminate overcrowded conditions in the psychotic and tuberculosis wards, although it will accommodate 55 additional patients, Dr. W. C. Gibson, medical officer in charge, said today.

Dr. Gibson said the hospital has a waiting list of 90 veterans and there is no indication that this list will be shortened by the time the building is ready for occupancy on March 3. Two floors will be devoted to psychotic wards, while occupational therapy rooms will take up the first floor.

"We might be able to eliminate overcrowding," Gibson said, "if we could induce some applicants suffering from tuberculosis to go to some other Government hospitals, designed especially for such cases, which have empty beds. But it is difficult to persuade veterans living in this area to leave the vicinity of their homes."

The structural form of the new building has been completed and work is progressing on a residence for the medical officer in charge and two duplex bungalows for other officers. The entire project will cost $236,000. Work began in October under a contract calling for its completion in 150 days.

Dr. Nathon Barlow, for the last two years clinical director at the Veterans' Hospital, has been transferred to the Edward Hines Jr. Hospital at Maywood, Ill., where he will serve as chief of the Medical Service. Dr. C. H. Smith, whom he succeeds, replaces him at the hospital here.

Loses Life Saving Another.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 22.—Samuel Quick, 40 years old, was killed yesterday while saving another man's life. He died from a broken neck. Quick was working at a hoist in a mine near Idaho Springs, west of Denver, when he saw 11 cars loaded with ore headed for an open switch at the same time that an empty train piloted by George Gartrel headed toward the same switch. Quick succeeded in stopping 10 of the cars but the coupling on the eleventh broke and smashed into him breaking his neck. Gartrel saw the cars in time to stop his own train and escaped injury. He did not see Quick.

Dandruff makes Hair Fall Out!

I Hated Dandruff

— Now It's Gone

DANDRUFF used to cause me many humiliating moments. Everytime I wore a dark colored dress, it advertised its presence for the world to see. But embarrassment wasn't the worst of it—I suddenly realized that it was making my hair thin!

I simply had to do something. Somebody advised Fitch's Dandruff Remover Shampoo. They said it removed dandruff and dirt at the same time—completely and absolutely. As long as I had to wash my hair anyway, I tried it. Results were amazing!

To-day I never have a bit of dandruff. Fitch's keeps it away and has made my hair glossier and livelier than I ever dreamed possible. And it's so easy to use. Just apply it to the dry hair. Rub briskly. Then add water, and dandruff and dirt wash out together. Even the last clinging particle disappears like a charm!

Next time you wash your hair, use Fitch's Dandruff Remover Shampoo. It never fails and you get 100% results from the very first treatment! . . . For sale everywhere in the U. S. A. in the familiar gold-band package. Try it to-day.

NORTHWESTERN U. STUDENTS SEEK MORE SOCIAL FREEDOM

Demand Closing Hour for Formal Parties Be Extended to 3 A. M.

By the Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 22. — Northwestern University students have started a campaign for liberalism in their social code with bigger and better parties as their goal. Instead of a 2 a. m. closing rule for special formal social events, they want a 3 o'clock curfew, and instead of a $6 a person expense limit for formal functions they want an increase.

So widespread is the student demand for greater freedom, the faculty supervisors suggested a new code be drawn up and submitted, but it is doubtful that the faculty will accept it.

EW MOVE MADE BY HEIRS TO GET OLD COURTHOUSE SITE

Descendants of Auguste Chouteau and J. B. C. Lucas Discuss Possible Legal Action.

Lawyers representing some of the heirs of Auguste Chouteau and J. B. C. Lucas have renewed discussion of a plan to file suit for reversion of the title to the old Courthouse block at Broadway, Fourth, Market and Chestnut street, after the courts are moved to the new Courthouse facing Memorial Plaza.

In deeding the block to the County Court of St. Louis County and its successors, in 1822, Auguste and Therese Chouteau and John B. C. Lucas stipulated that "the said piece of ground shall be used and appropriated forever as the site on which the county courthouse of the County of St. Louis shall be erected." The deed did not provide for revision of the property to the heirs. The building has not been used as the county courthouse since the separation of the city from the county in 1876.

The possibility of such a claim by the Chouteau and Lucas heirs, about 200 in number, was discussed when the location of the new Courthouse was being debated five years ago. Tt that time, four women, descendants of Judge Lucas, signed a paper prepared after a legal inquiry and setting forth the view that the heirs could not recover the property. The four women relinquished their share of the claim to the city. The lawyers now considering the filing of a suit are A. R. A. Gareschè, for some of the Lucas heirs, and J. Raymond Dyer and George G. Vest, for some of the Chouteau heirs.

EDISON HONORED BY NEW YORK STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Six Others Named for Their Service to the Community at 161st Annual Dinner.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—On the fortieth anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's honorary membership in the New York State Chamber of Commerce he was honored at the 161st annual dinner of the Chamber at the Hotel Astor last night.

Besides Edison, who was the guest of honor, the six men named for their service to the community were: John D. Rockefeller Jr., for his philanthropies; Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, head of the American Museum of Natural History, for his work in the dissemination of scientific knowledge; Cass Gilbert, for his work in the field of architecture; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, for his leadership in education; Adolph S. Ochs, for his efforts to raise the standards of journalism, and Otto H. Kahn, for his contribution to art and culture.

At the time of Edison's introduction a half-length portrait of him by Ellis M. Silvette was unveiled in the presence of more than 800 dinner guests.

STANLEY M'CORMICK HEARING TO BE OPEN

California Judge Reverses Own Order for Secrecy in Guardianship Case.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Nov. 22—Superior Judge W. G. Dehy has reversed his order issued yesterday directing that the suit over the guardianship of Stanley McCormick be held in secret. Stanley McCormick is the incompetent son of the late Cyrus H. McCormick, harvester manufacturer of Chicago. Mrs. Stanley McCormick in this suit seeks to oust Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine as guardians and to have herself declared sole custodian of her husband's $50,000,000 estate.

In reversing his order Judge Dehy explained he had issued it after stipulation by counsel for both defendants and the plaintiff that it was desirable for the protection of Stanley McCormick, and with the understanding that the latter would be present during the hearing. The wealthy incompetent did not appear, however, and the Court ruled that without his presence in the courtroom he could find nothing in the civil code to justify his previous order of secrecy.

Counsel will make another attempt today, it is understood, to have the public and newspaper men excluded from the hearing.

64,000-Page Description of Physicians' Research in 10 Years.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Stanley McCormick, whose mental affliction has made him the central figure in a legal fight concerning himself and his $50,000,000 estate, faced a brilliant future when he was graduated cum laude from Princeton more than 30 years ago.

The fondest son of the International Harvester capitalist distinguished himself as a student and athlete. With his older brother, Harold (they were classmates) he played on the university tennis team and won his letter against Yale.

After leaving college, Stanley began work with the International Harvester Co. as a junior executive and was well started on his business career when unexpectedly his mind failed him. It was 23 years ago that he became incompetent and for nearly ten years of that time the best minds of the medical world studied his case. A half million dollars has been spent in seeking help for the man, now 54 years old.

Included in the 64,000 pages of description of medical research which figure in the legal action are opinions from experts saying Stanley was a victim of his unusual childhood. His parents were past middle age when he was born (his father was 60). He grew to young manhood shy and basheful and developed a complex which ultimately caused his illness, physicians said.

Not long after his graduation from Princeton, McCormick married Katherine Dexter, one of the first women graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Since his illness, she contends she has been kept from her huband by the medical experts and others retained by his brother, Harold.

Harold McCormick defends himself by saying the treatments have virtually destored Sanley to his normal state, justifying the steps taken in his brother's behalf.

DROPS MURDER INDICTMENT FOR KILLING ON STEAMSHIP

Louisiana Judge, at Request of Prosecutor, Frees Suspect Held for Slaying Jack Kraft.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 22.—John McGouldrick, second mate of the steamship Creole, indicted for the murder of Jack Kraft, whose body with a bullet wound in it was found in the Mississippi River here, was released from the Pointe-a-la-Hache jail yesterday.

McGouldrick's trial was set for next Monday. Suddenly District Attorney Leander Perez requested the Judge to nolle prosse the case, as he felt conviction was impossible, since the chief witness, Gloria Rouser, alias Ione Orde, traveling on the boat with Kraft, had failed to testify as he had expected at the preliminary hearing.

The State had charged McGouldrick killed Kraft after Kraft choked the girl in a jealous rage. The girl incriminated McGouldrick by writing him a love letter from the city jail and adding that "Mac could have done it." This caused his arrest in New York.

The girl failed to bear out her testimony on the witness stand and said she made the remark under duress.

Sammy Epstein, ship's steward, also was arrested as a material witness, but was released released weeks ago. The girl spent nearly a month in the Pointe-a-la-Hache jail before she testified at McGouldrick's arraignment.

Steel Company Head Dies.

By the Associated Press.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 22.—Samuel B. Sheldon, president of the Minnesota Steel Co., a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, died at his home early today from heart disease. Mr. Sheldon succeeded the late E. H. Gary as president of the Minnesota Steel Co. Previously he had been vice president and general manager of the company for 18 years.

Turks Reading U. S. Mission Tract Held.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 22.—Turkish police, stalking a religious sect known as "Buberis," who are reported as operating in Adana, Wednesday caught a group reading an American missionary tract titled "Toward the Cross." All of the group was arrested. One of the prisoners had been jailed previously as a Communist. The others plead the injustice of their arrest since the Turkish republic h guaranteed religious freedom ev since it separated church and s in this country.

CONGRESSMEN KEEP LIQUOR FROM OFFICES

Drastic Change Said to Have Resulted From Watch by Two Dry Agents.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Exclusive, drinking has ceased in the House of Representatives office building adjoining the Capitol. This drastic change was not brought about by the recent indictment of Congressman E. E. Denison of Illinois, high in the councils of the Republican leaders of the House, but by the belief among Congressmen that two prohibition enforcement agents have been watching the office building exits for the last two weeks. Members of the House now arriving for the regular session are warned by those who have been here several weeks to be careful about taking liquor to their offices.

Whether agents have been detailed to watch Congressmen could not be verified today. Nevertheless, Congressmen are looking with suspicion at two men who are invariably at one of the exits. When one is not there, the other is. There is no doubt of the fact that these men, whoever they are, give every person entering and leaving the building a close "once-over."

The first shake-up designed to diminish the supply of liquor which Senators have charged appeases the alcoholic appetite of Washington occurred yesterday, John F. J. Herbert being transferred as prohibition administrator at Baltimore for this district, to the nineteenth district, with headquarters at Helena, Mont. Assistant Secretary Lowman also said that John J. Quinn had been suspended as Deputy Administrator at Baltimore pending hearing of charges. It was learned the actions were based on the belief that Washington was entirely too wet.

Lowman announced that Thomas E. Stone, administrator at Detroit, would succeed Herbert at Baltimore and be in charge of the enforcement in Washington. Stone was in charge at Detroit during the recent campaign the Government made to stop smuggling of liquor across the Canadian border.

POLO PLAYER FIGHTS AUTO THIEF, HOLDS HIM FOR POLICE

William B. Goltra Catches Laborer Taking Car at Granite City Plant.

William B. Goltra, a mechanical engineer employed by the American Steel and Foundry Co., of which his father, Edward F. Goltra was a founder, fought with a laborer who attempted to steal his automobile in Granite City today and held the man for police after knocking him down.

Goltra parked his car on Pacific street in front of the plant about 8:30 o'clock and was about to enter the office when he saw a man getting into his car. Goltra, who is a polo player, reached the machine about the time the man started the motor. The man jumped out of the car and Goltra struck him. Then the man struck Goltra. Goltra knocked the man down and the man tackled him at the knees, causing him to fall. An employe rushed out to aid Goltra. They held the laborer for police.

The man said he was Virgil Lane, 24 years old, a laborer also employed by the foundry company. He had $60 on his person and admitted taking several drinks. He was held by Police Magistrate Charles Sowell.

CALLS MOUNTEBANK SALESMAN OBSOLETE

H. A. McAllister Discusses Evolution in Methods at Executives' Conference.

The evolution of selling from practices of the Indian medicine show to modern methods requiring keen analysis of the motives which impell prospects to buy, was the topic of discussion today at a one-day sales conference at Hotel Jefferson sponsored by the sales managers' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. About 700 sales executives from St. Louis and the surrounding territory attended.

H. A. McAllister, sales consultant of Cleveland, O., told those present that while many buyers still buy with their emotions, feeling rather than thinking their way into decisions, the salesman who was not equipped to sell his product on its merits is a detriment rather than an aid to business.

He urged that the attention of prospects was best gained by challenging them with authentic information. The salesman who resorted to such practices as upsetting the inkwell or pinning a $5 bill to the wall to attract attention to himself is meeting with less success, McAllister said.

Sales managers must have positive convictions before they can inspire men under them to their best efforts, H. W. Arnold, general manager of the Delco Light Co. of Dayton, O., said.

"There can be no gray tones, no natural shades in his mental viewpoint. His mind's pictures must be all black and white. He must be convinced that the time has gone when a few colorful phrases and a dash of mountebank were the stock in trade of the selling man.

"Time was when invention was the essence of industry and the soul of business. Manufacturing, methods of production, once meant everything. That passed. The selling man is now the essential factor in business."

Dr. Gus Dyer of Nashville, Tenn., editor of the Southern Agriculturist, spoke of changing sales methods. A. C. Mayer of Cleveland, O., a sales executive for the General Electric Co., outlined practices to be observed in supervision of salesmen. Dr. G. W. Allison of Chicago, a sales consultant, told how modern methods of merchandising were forcing changes in sales practices.

2 YEARS FOR RECEIVING LOOT

Anton Bailey, Webster Groves Negro, at whose home three boys who robbed the Old Orchard Bank on Feb. 29, 1928, divided the $775 they stole, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary yesterday for receiving stolen property.

Two of the robbers, Gilbert Crews and Walter Byerly, who are serving terms at Boonville for the crime, testified before a jury in Circuit Judge Brackman's Court at Clayton that they had given Bailey $55 in making the division of the money stolen. The third robber, Andrew Eigenbrod, also was sentenced to Boonville, but later escaped.

Convict Surrenders to Governor.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.—J. Urban Knapp, an escaped prisoner from Ohio penitentiary, surrendered yesterday to Gov. Cooper. Knapp was sentenced for burglary in January, 1924, became a trusty and walked out a few months later. Since then he has held responsible positions in Cincinnati and Detroit, he told the Governor, but his conscience would not let him alone.

"Bottled Sunshine"

if they are growing fast!

Your physician will tell you of a simple but very effective way to help children keep up to par in weight, vitality and endurance during the years of most rapid growth.

Child specialists find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—given daily, builds up depleted vitality and increases general resistance to infections. It helps the underweight child to put on flesh and grow as he should.

The factors that make cod-liver oil such a valued health-builder are Vitamins A and D. Vitamin A promotes normal growth and nutrition, and increases resistance to infections. Vitamin D is the "sunshine vitamin" which growing children particularly need, since modern ways of living give them so little sunshine.

In prescribing cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify Squibb's. They advise it because it is tested and guaranteed to be very rich in the vitamins that protect, Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil as a health-builder for your child. You can now get Squibb's Mint-flavored Cod-Liver Oil which appeals to older children especially. All good drug stores have it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil.

Polarine MOTOR OIL

STURDY AND RICH

ISO=VIS MOTOR OIL

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (INDIANA)

SERVICE

WINTER is near!

Is your car ready? Three steps are necessary to put your car in shape to meet the heavy demands of cold weather driving.

1—Change the lubricant in the differential and transmission, using Polarine Transmission Oil (Winter) or Iso-Vis Lubricant (B).

2—Have the chassis thoroughly greased.

3—Flush the crankcase with Polarine Flushing Oil and refill with winter grade of either Iso-Vis or Polarine recommended for your car.

These three steps are vital to the good conduct and smooth operation of your car this winter.

Iso-Vis and Polarine meet every winter need. They maintain their viscosity and lubricate thoroughly at any operating temperature. They're highly refined and scientifically correct for all motors.

If you use Polarine—drain the crankcase every 500 miles for maximum efficiency and economy. If you use Iso-Vis, the constant viscosity oil—you can drive a thousand miles or more without changing, for Iso-Vis wears and wears and wears.

PEOPLE'S LIFE OF CHICAGO BOUGHT BY ST. LOUIS FIRM

Holding Company for Mississippi Valley Life Insurance Company Closes Deal.

The purchase of 98 per cent of the stock of the People's Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, by the North American Co. of St. Louis, was announced today by John B. Smith, vice president of the North American Co. The North American Co. is the holding company for the stock of the Mississippi Valley Life Insurance Co., 3207 Washington boulevard, who will reinsure the $16,000,000 of business written by the Chicago company.

The People's Life Insurance Co. is capitalized for $200,000 and has a surplus of $203,207. J. N. Mitchell is president of the Mississippi Valley company and owns all of the common stock of the holding company. The consideration involved in the deal was not disclosed.

DIVER FIGHTS OCTOPUS 98 FEET UNDER WATER

Jack Jordan Suffers Air Bumps Because Mates Thought He Was Dead.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex.—Still bearing the marks of a struggle with an octopus 98 feet under water in the Gulf of Mexico, Jack Jordan, 32, a diver of Houston, has been released from hospital.

Jordan bears "air bumps" caused when his mates, fearing he was dead after he had been hauled from the water, ripped off his diving suit too quickly. The octopus weighed 75 pounds and had tenacles 14 feet long. The diver, employed by a steamship concern, was salvaging a sunken vessel when he was attacked.

"I was being let down at the end of a long wire rope and was almost at the bottom," Jordan said. "The octopus was sitting on a rock, and sprang to attack me."

"He first threw one arm around me. I began to struggle and then he wrapped me with another. I gave the distress signal and they began pulling me up.

"One of his arms had me caught so tightly it was with difficulty I was able to get hold of my acid gun. I finally did, however, and pierced his body with a needle of the gun, and then squeezed the bulb containing acid. The effect was instantaneous. The octopus was relaxed when I reached the surface.

"The octopus had not hurt me, but everyone thought it had, and they tore my diving suit off me, thinking I was drowned. This is what hurt me. I had been under 45 pounds air pressure and to have this pressure instantly released paralyzed me. I was unconscious four hours."

Jordan, married, said he thought his employment "as safe as any other," due to present day methods.

Henderson (Ky.) Curb Market.

HENDERSON, Ky. — Twelve women sold approximately $3400 worth of products on the curb market which the Henderson County Homemakers' Association sponsored at Henderson, Ky., this year. The highest sales were made by Miss Elizabeth Schuette, who marketed $393 worth of poultry, vegetables, fruit and baked products in 47 days.

WHIPPING POST FOR LABOR REFORMERS IN SOUTH URGED

Carolina Pastor Charges Northern Press Is Spreading Propaganda Against Textile Mills.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 22.—Public whipping posts as proper punishment for "northern reformers who think they are called upon to reform conditions in textile mill villages here," are advocated by the Rev. D. B. Hahn, pastor of the Pendleton Street Baptist Church.

Speaking before the South Carolina College Press Association, he said Northern newspapers were conducting campaigns of propaganda against Southern textile mills "lest the textile power of the North be transferred to the South," and urged the college editors to oppose the Northern press' influence through their papers.

Touching on two mob floggings of textile union organizers during strikes the last summer, he said there was no "doubt they got what was coming to them," but added he favored public whipping posts as a "better means of administering such punishment."

MISS EARHART SETS SPEED RECORD FOR WOMEN FLYERS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—Amelia Earhart today set a new speed record for women pilots when she flew Col. Lindbergh's special monoplane at 184.17 miles an hour over a measured course. Joe Nikrent, timer for the National Aeronautical Association, supervised the timing. Miss Earhart's top speed was 197.8. She flew in a 20-mile an hour cross wind.

The clocks will be tested before the record is allowed.

FOURTH CHICAGO BANK CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—With the closing of the Exchange State Bank—the fourth in Chicago district in three months—State's Attorney John A. Swanson issued a statement urging that bank stocks be listed on the open market.

The Exchange State Bank, capitalized at $200,000, with a surplus of $50,000, was closed by State Auditor Oscar Nelson on request of the bank's directors. Heavy withdrawals in the last few days prompted the action, but the auditor said that examination of the books indicated depositors would suffer no loss. Swanson said listing of bank stocks would thwart machinations of brokers who, he asserted, have recently found it profitable to force bank stocks up and down.

WHIPPING POST FOR LABOR REFORMERS IN SOUTH URGED

Carolina Pastor Charges Northern Press Is Spreading Propaganda Against Textile Mills.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 22.—Public whipping posts as proper punishment for "northern reformers who think they are called upon to reform conditions in textile mill villages here," are advocated by the Rev. D. B. Hahn, pastor of the Pendleton Street Baptist Church.

Speaking before the South Carolina College Press Association, he said Northern newspapers were conducting campaigns of propaganda against Southern textile mills "lest the textile power of the North be transferred to the South," and urged the college editors to oppose the Northern press' influence through their papers.

Touching on two mob floggings of textile union organizers during strikes the last summer, he said there was no "doubt they got what was coming to them," but added he favored public whipping posts as a "better means of administering such punishment."

MISS EARHART SETS SPEED RECORD FOR WOMEN FLYERS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—Amelia Earhart today set a new speed record for women pilots when she flew Col. Lindbergh's special monoplane at 184.17 miles an hour over a measured course. Joe Nikrent, timer for the National Aeronautical Association, supervised the timing. Miss Earhart's top speed was 197.8. She flew in a 20-mile an hour cross wind.

The clocks will be tested before the record is allowed.

FOURTH CHICAGO BANK CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—With the closing of the Exchange State Bank—the fourth in Chicago district in three months—State's Attorney John A. Swanson issued a statement urging that bank stocks be listed on the open market.

The Exchange State Bank, capitalized at $200,000, with a surplus of $50,000, was closed by State Auditor Oscar Nelson on request of the bank's directors. Heavy withdrawals in the last few days prompted the action, but the auditor said that examination of the books indicated depositors would suffer no loss. Swanson said listing of bank stocks would thwart machinations of brokers who, he asserted, have recently found it profitable to force bank stocks up and down.

DEMPSEY SAYS HE WILL TAKE IN NO PARTNERS IN PROMOTION FIELD

LIKES REFEREE JOB BECAUSE IT ENABLES HIM TO SIZE UP BOXERS

By John E. Wray

Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Jack Dempsey, promoter, will stand or fall by himself. The leading candidate for all-time fight honors last night, at the Coliseum, told this writer that reports that he would go into partnership in the fight promotion with Charles Wrigley, were completely aqueous; that he was not taking on any new associates. He also said he was not acting in the interest of Madison Square Garden, and that he would NOT consider an offer to take Paddy Harmon's place with the Chicago Stadium, if one were made him.

Yesterday's news carried all these possibilities.

"I was in New York, not to talk business with the Garden people," Jack said, "but to look over some fighters whom I have in mind for my shows at the Coliseum. I also wanted to figure on some fights for next year and one of them contemplates bringing Sharkey to Chicago after his February engagements.

"The story that Wrigley wanted me to manage a series of fights for him at Cubs Park is not true. I am negotiating with the Cubs Park for several dates for possible spring or summer fights that will be promoted by myself. Mr. Wrigley will not be interested except, as to renting me the park.

Overhead Is Too Great.

"As for going over to the Chicago Stadium people I would not consider such a thing. Their overhead is too great. It costs them between $4000 and $5000 merely to open their gates while it costs me less than $1000. The Chicago Coliseum will seat something like 15,000 persons and if I can build up my folowing there to around a 11,000 average attendance I can make real money.

"If I undertake promotion in any other city than Chicago, it will be purely on a percentage basis. I am interested just now in putting my Chicago enterprise over to the best advantage and I expect to do just that."

"Are you going into the films again?" Jack was asked.

"Nothing like that in prospect, at this time. Nor am I going on the stage again. I knew I'm not an actor. Of course, if some one has an idea and wants to promote it, I will not sidestep any money. At this time there is nothing of the sort in sight. My wife is not in the movies, at this time, but is on the vaudeville circuit for an extended engagement.

"Schmeling? No, I haven't heard a word about him except that he is being offered George Godfrey for Atlantic City. Godfrey is a tough fellow and a good fighter, but they have been making it hard for him. Perhaps Schmeling won't see his way clear to meeting Godfrey until he has had some easier breaks.

"I am doing the referee turn because it fills in my time, makes me a little money and gives me a fine opportunity to look over the various kinds of boxing talent coming up in different sections of the country. I see a good boy, here and there, and take note of him for a tryout at some of my shows. It is really worth while."

Dempsey, by the way, left last night for his next refereeing job, which wil be at Sioux City, Ia.

As a referee Dempsey last night made a fine impression because he interfered with the fighters very little. Anderson and Kiser practically fought without intervention by Dempsey. He felt called upon to break the boys only once during the entire contest. It was not an unusually easy fight, because Anderson, an old head, knew how to "tie up" his opponent. Possibly the desire to make a good showing, before a man who was a promoter as well as a referee, influenced the men to avoid clinching.

Dempsey's three Chicago promotions have not been wonderful financial successes but he is not in the "red ink." His next show will be for the benefit of a Christmas fund and will probably turn over a good profit.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22.—Knute Rockne probably has seen his 1929 Notre Dame football team in formal competition for the last time.

The infection in Rockne's right leg, which forced him almost out of action eight weeks ago, has made its way into the left leg, and his physician, Dr. Robert L. Sensenich, has ordered complete rest, even though the team must face Northwestern at Evanston Saturday and Army in New York a week hence.

Dr. Sensenich hastened to add that Rockne's condition is no cause of real alarm, but said recovery would be long delayed unless the coach gets absolute rest from now on. He said Rockne was overfatigued last Saturday when he directed his team from a wheelchair in the Southern California game but had improved since that time.

Dr. Sensenich described the ailment as thrombiaisphelbitis, or the clogging of a vein by a blood-

Flyers Open Local Hockey Season Against St. Paul Sextet Tonight

LARRY GOYER
St. Louis
Center

Coach Jamieson and Kearney, New Members of St. Louis Team, Will Be in Starting Lineups.

By W. J. McGoogan

With St. Paul furnishing the opposition, the St. Louis Flyers open the local American Hockey Association season tonight at the Winter Garden, 520 De Baliviere avenue. So far this season the Flyers have played two games, both with Tulsa, last season's champions. Each team won one game.

Under a new coach, Clarence "Moose" Jamieson, formerly of Duluth, the Flyers will present several new men. Besides Jamieson, who in addition to being coach of the team is a defense man of merit, there will be Fred Kearney, in goal, making his debut in professional hockey this year, and Nobby Clarke, another defense man, who is an experienced player.

In addition there is Denny Breen, who played a few games with St. Louis last season, although he was at that time the property of the St. Paul club. He has been declared a free agent and has sought a place with Jamieson. The St. Louis coach is carrying him as an extra man, although he is not under contract. He will be retained as long as he plays the kind of hockey he displayed against Tulsa. Other players assert that Breen was one of the outstanding stars of the Tulsa contests and expect great things from him.

He is powerful physically and for a big man is a fast skater. He supplies the heft in which the Flyers were sadly lacking last season.

Some Old Favorites Back.

Among those left over from last season are Capt. Curly Headley, defense, who was one of the favorites here; Chief Boileau, Harry Cameron, Syl Acaster, Billy Hill, Larry Goyer and Roy Powley, forwards. Jamieson probably will start at one defense position tonight with Headley on the other with Goyer, Hill and Cameron on the forward line and Kearney in goal.

The Winter Garden has been remodeled to make the seating more satisfactory. There will be no circus seats on the ice as was the case last season. Instead there will be three rows of box seats along the west side of the playing surface and also along the north side. Seats in both the first and second balconies have been raised to make it easier for spectators to see. The supporting columns are still in the building to obstruct the view to some extent.

Prices 50 Cents to $2.

Seats in the top balcony sell for 50 cents each, those in the first six rows of the lower balcony $1.25 each, with the rest of the lower balcony seats at $1 each. The first row of box seats are priced at $2 each with the second and third rows at $1.50 each.

The playing surface will be laid off on the east side of the rink, the same as last year. Doors to the Winter Garden will be opened at 7:30 o'clock. The game is scheduled to start at 8:30.

Between periods of the contest John Ingledew, Miss Catherin Durbrow and John Johnson, instructors at the Winter Garden, will give exhibitions of fancy skating.

St. Paul will play here again tomorrow night, while Duluth calls for two games next Wednesday and Thursday and Minneapolis on Dec. 2 and 4.

Brinkman in Kansas City.

Ben G. Brinkman, president of the National Exhibition Co., which owns the Arena, is in Kansas City today, having left St. Louis last night. He said before his departure that he had forwarded the contract for use of the Arena by the St. Louis hockey club to William Grant, secretary and treasurer of the American Hockey Association, who has been handling the matter, and that he expected to see Grant while in Kansas City, relative to its acceptance.

Should both parties agree to terms of the contract and work start at once to fit the Arena for hockey games, it would be Jan. 15 or later before the transfer could be made. In the meantime, the Flyers will play at the Winter Garden.

Ray Kiser Always Ahead of Anderson in Winning Bout; Pewee Kaiser Defeats Zivic

By Damon Kerby

When a long-legged, long-armed youngster named Ray Kiser, hailing from Tulsa, Ok., and not greatly heralded and not greatly sung, outboxed and outfought that tough veteran of many boxing wars, Steve Smith, three weeks ago at the Coliseum, some of the more enthusiastic of the critics expressed the belief that young Kiser was going somewhere in a boxing way, barring accidents and mismanagement.

That still was the general opinion following Kiser's bout here last night with another cagey old veteran, Eddie Anderson of Wyoming, in which Kiser further distinguished himself by going to the front as early as the second round and staying there through 10 rounds in a hard and clean fight. Jack Dempsey, as referee, had little work to do. In fact, he separated the boys bodily only once; and only a few times was his command "awright, boys, awright, break, break," heard by the spectators.

It will doubtless be pointed out that Anderson has been beaten before and probably will be beaten again, many times, and that Kiser's feat, after all, was nothing to write home about. True enough, Anderson has been defeated before, but that should not and will not detract from the Tulsa boy's victory. And if Kiser should get knocked out tomorrow night by the local pride at some whistle stop, the kayo would take nothing from the luster of his performance against Anderson.

Kiser Is Always Ahead.

By now it may be inferred that Kiser was better than fair. He was, all of that. He met Anderson at the latter's own game, slugged when Anderson slugged, boxed when Anderson boxed, and used strategy and boxing finesse when Anderson used strategy and finesse. Even more important, he usually was half a step ahead in his maneuvers.

Anderson fought his typical fight, and the typical fight of an experienced veteran. He walked around the ring almost flat footed, at times, meeting Kiser's straight rights with hooks to the body. Occasionally Anderson would speed up and lash out with a right or a left, particularly if he had just been stung by Kiser. Sometimes he landed, but just as often the blow was caught by Kiser out of the air and in he would come. Nor was Anderson the only one of the two who missed. There are few fighters in the ring more experienced than Anderson and it was only natural that Kiser should miss at times. But right there is where he showed his good qualities. Kiser kept himself well under control and when he missed he did not lunge and leave a wide open target. All his punches were well directed and if Anderson happened to roll or duck he found no opening when he bobbed back up. Kiser was dancing away and lashing in with a volley of lefts and rights. But never an opening.

Kiser speeded up along about the seventh round and at times it appeared that Anderson's legs were about to buckle under the attack. But Anderson kept his feet, always.

In singing the praises of Kiser, Anderson should not be overlooked. He fought a crafty fight, got across some rights that jarred Kiser, and the manner in which the Wyoming veteran boxed his way out of trouble, especially in the late rounds, was a pleasure to watch. Holding a rope with his right hand, Anderson would shuttle along the ropes, whipping across his left to ward off those long right smacks that were finding their way to his face.

Nothing to Rave About.

It was well that the main event was a good bout, for the rest of the card was extremely ordinary, unless it was the six-round preliminary in which two former amateurs, Gilbert Terry and Dick Costello, hammered each other's face until both resembled painted Indians. Calling the bout a draw would not do an injustice to either boys.

There was much anticipation in two other 10-round bouts, between Pete Zivic of Pittsburg and Peewee Kaiser of St. Louis, and Meyer Grace of Philadelphia and Eddie Ballantine of San Francisco, but there was no realization. Both Kaiser and Grace threatened frequently to stop their respective opponents. The threats were never more than that.

Zivic is a veteran who saw his best days some time ago, it appeared. He had nothing that the Peewee needed to respect and the latter, after the first three or four rounds, was able to concentrate on trying to put across a right that would end the bout. Kaiser landed, but he couldn't keep the veteran down. Zivic took a count of nine in the sixth, was dizzy throughout the seventh and eighth, and dropped in the tenth for another nine. The more Peewee hurt Zivic the higher the latter jumped when he resumed action. He jumped high and wide in those late rounds.

There was little apparent excuse, on the surface, for Meyer Grace's failure to stop Ballantine. The latter is nothing, pugilistically, while the report in times past was that Grace was something of a puncher. He failed dismally last night. He dropped Ballantine in the third and in the tenth, for counts of nine, but Ballantine lived to weather the storm. That he did, is not to the credit of Grace.

The show was another failure for Matchmaker Tommy Sullivan and the Stockham Post, financially. Probably not more than 2000 paid admissions were present.

Boxing Results

OFFICIAL decisions are not permitted in Missouri under the State boxing laws. Herewith are the unofficial decisions of the Post-Dispatch reporter:

RAY KISER, Tulsa, Ok., outpointed Eddie Anderson, Casper, Wyo., in 10 rounds. Weights—Kiser, 135; Anderson, 134½. Referee—Jack Dempsey.

JOHNNY "PEEWEE" KAISER, St. Louis, defeated Pete Zivic, Pittsburg, in 10 rounds. Weights Kaiser, 126; Zivic, 124. Referee Walter Heisner.

MEYER GRACE, Philadelphia, won from Eddie Ballantine, San Francisco, in 10 rounds. Weights—Grace, 144½; Ballantine, 147½. Referee—Heisner.

GILBERT "PEEWEE" TERRY and Dick Costello, both of St. Louis, boxed six rounds to a draw. Weights—Terry, 116½; Costello, 114½. Referee—Heisner.

Mandell Kayoes Azzerella

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 22.—Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., lightweight champion of the world, knocked out Joe Azzerella of Milwaukee, in the second round of their eight-round non-title bout here last night.

Wray's COLUMN

Why Gabby!

GABBY STREET, new manager of the Cardinals, breaks into print, in Joplin, with a suggestion that a new column be added to the baseball box score.

"The sport pages carry box scores which omit a very important column," Gabby told a Joplin scribe. "They leave out the EJ column. That is 'errors of judgment.' Manual errors we expect — everybody makes them. But the real errors are those of judgment, like throwing to the wrong base, stealing when the next bag is occupied, being picked off a base through carelessness, trying to steal home with the bases filled, nobody out and your best hitter at bat. This type of errors ought to be charged up like manual errors."

Charged is right; yes, and convicted and fined.

However, there is this to be said—that if all the errors of judgment were tabulated and placed end-to-end—but, pshaw, what's the use! There isn't time enough before the millenium to tabulate 'em.

Let Him Pass Out.

AGAIN we read that Max Schmeling will be asked to meet George Godfrey at Atlantic City. Because he will refuse to do this, the chances of the German's appearance at the new Convention Hall is slim.

For some time the idea has been sown throughout the country that this George Godfrey is a bad egg to tackle.

We agree that he's a bad egg. As a fighter this writer goes one better and asserts he is highly spoiled. He is so rank that he has been warned, and punished, for poor efforts in the ring. His record shows him to a very indifferent advantage. Such of his fights as this writer has witnessed have revealed Godfrey as a great, big, overstuffed black mauler with little to recommend him except his size and power.

He apparently occupies the same position enjoyed by Harry Wills a few years ago when false reports of Wills' prowess were circulated. Neither of these black menaces apparently is capable of living up to the reputation built up for them.

A referee who strictly enforced the rules against Godfrey would deprive him of his only asset—his weight and mauling power in clinches.

Godfrey's claqueurs will not succeed in putting him on the map any better than did the Tommy Loughran boosters, who tried to build this attractive but ordinary heavyweight into a champion. Publicity may give a man a reputation; but it takes merit to retain it.

What's Wrong With 'Em?

"IS there anything unethical about awarding scholarships to athletes? I notice some agitation against them and I understand some schools cut them out. Is it not a fact that Oxford University of England offers scholarships, now held by several Americans, for athletic excellence?"

A correspondent writes the above question, one that has been asked often. Athletic sholarships, providing in substance free schooling and maintenance during the school terms, have been in existence for years.

Opinion varies as to the ethics of scholarships, but objections arise from their indiscriminate use, rather than from anything wrong with the principle.

A high school student who attained distinction both in athletics and in his studies, would seem to be more entitled to a university sholarship than a man who attained honor merely in scholastic departments alone.

Justification for this is found in the fact that nearly every institution of learning today requires credits in athletics or physical departments BEFORE A DEGREE CAN BE GRANTED! Thus physical and intellectual are today joint functions of a university, and on an equal plane.

Oxford DOES recognize scholarships awarded for joint merit in scholarship and athletics. Scholarships endowed by Cecil Rhodes are still functioning there.

The real trouble has arisen in schools where athletic scholarships are offered merely for excellence in football or sports. If memory serves Penn State, some 70 of the scholarships it had tolerated, because they were merely athletic rewards.

Causes Jealousy.

SCHOLARSHIPS are an endless worry to coaches because the boys that are not receiving them feel aggrieved. At one St. Louis institution a player was heard "grousing" loudly and it developed that his complaint was that he was the only one on the regular squad who had not been awarded a scholarship.

From his viewpoint it would be hard to blame him for feeling sore. However, the condition is a far cry from those ancient days when the only scholarship developed a lot of hard knocks and perhaps a ticket to the training table.

The times certainly can be called decadent in which the slogan of the college football star is: "Gimme!"

It Takes Money.

PADDY HARMON of Chicago is "out," as president of the $7,000,000 Chicago Stadium corporation. Paddy produced for his company about $240,000 in six fights and almost tied the receipts for the last six shows at Madison Square Garden. Still, he was forced to resign, although he controls 42 per cent of the stock.

The fact is that the overhead of the Stadium, if the investment really is $7,000,000, seems too great for the probable income. To pay 6 per cent on the investment the enterprise would have to earn $420,000 a year! You can't do that with an average gross house of $40,000 unless shows can be held every week.

Thus far about the only big stadiums that have become "going concerns" are those devoted to college football games, or baseball parks which are occasionally used for the fight business. It takes more than professional boxing to mak mutli-million dollar Coliseum investments profitable. St. Louis' Arena is one of the few with a good chance to succeed.

REGULARS STAR IN WORKOUT OF BEARS' ELEVEN

By Henry L. Freund

The second team at Washington was given an easy day yesterday when Dr. Sharpe signalled Mike Walker to bring his freshmen over to Francis Field to provide the opposition for the varsity. The reserves were used in scrimmage Tuesday and Wednesday and were well bruised from the severe pounding given them by the first team.

The early part of the practice was given over, as usual, to signal work and punting. After the first and second teams had run up and down the field several times, running off plays with snap and precision the Frosh were called in to provide opposition for the varsity.

It did not take the first team long to score several touchdowns. The varsity was given the ball on its own 10-yard line and after a few plays, Scott Hornsby got away for a run that netted a touchdown. Within five minutes the Frosh had been pushed from the varsity goal line to their own territory and a beautiful 20-yard pass was good for another score. Saussele and Waid repeatedly tore off long gains as did Scott Hornsby, who is developing into a clever ball carrier. Hornsby has been of immense value this season because of his punting and fine defensive work and now he is adding ball carrying to his string of accomplishments.

Watson Again at Guard.

After the varsity had scored several more times, once on a tricky 20-yard run by Saussele, Dr. Sharpe began to run in his reserves against the first year men. Butz and Coover, who missed practice Wednesday were out last night.

Bob Watson was again at guard on the first team and if he keeps up his great playing he will be a hard man to dislodge. Both Watson and Senn who have been fighting for the berth all season, have another year to play.

The remainder of the Bears' lineup had Butz and Anderson working at center, Captain Jablonsky at one guard and Watson at the other; Paul Paris and "Tiny" Glazer, the two veterans, at the tackles; Springer and Coover at ends and Waid, Saussele, Hornsby and Ax in the backfield. This will be the probable starting line-up on Thanksgiving with Butz starting at center and either Watson or Senn at guard.

Heavy Advance Sale.

It was also learned yesterday that the advance seat sale for the Thanksgiving game has been greater than that of either of the past two years. With the game a week off, enough tickets have been sold to assure a record crowd for the Bears.

Practice today will be in the form of another scrimmage. This will be the fourth successive scrimmage of the week for the Bears. The practice will also be, as has been the custom all week, behind closed gates.

SOUTH CAROLINA MEETS FLORIDA TOMORROW IN SOUTH'S GRID FEATURE

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Nov. 22. — South Carolina entertains Florida tomorrow at Columbia in the only Southern conference football game of the week-end.

North Carolina State goes to Philadelphia to meet the strong Villanova squad in the only intersectional game of the day in which a Dixie team participates.

Clemson and Citadel clash at Clemson College.

Duke battles Wake Forest at Durham as a sort of a preliminary to a conference engagement with North Carolina University.

Eighteen conference members who do not play this week expect to be in fine fettle for their Thanksgiving day battles.

FOOTBALL by James M. Gould

Too Much Dancing.

THE story about Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, keeping a football star who liked to dance out of several games and informing said player that he was "saving him for the Junior Prom" is fairly familiar. It begins to look as though football—the game, not the big business—is suffering from dance-madness in another way.

In the East, the other day, a Yale grad, a former football captain, was bewailing the falling off in spirit among the non-playing undergraduates. "Only last week," he told this observer, "I saw undergraduates early Saturday morning just coming home from a dance. It was the day of the Yale-Princeton game and there is no doubt in my mind that these undergrads looked upon that game as just an appetizer—maybe, just an interruption—until it was time to dance again. It was not like that in the olden days. We didn't dance before a big game and whether we danced afterward depended on the result of the game. If Yale won, perhaps some of us danced a bit; if Yale lost, it would have been a hardy soul to suggest one. I may be wrong but it seems to me some of the real spirit of football has departed. In former years, it was a game which carried with it the attention of every student in every university. Now, it's just a spectacle and, to many, whether the old school loses or not makes little difference."

It may be that the Old Grad is right. Take the New York University-Missouri game in New York last week as an example. It was not to be expected that Missouri would have a big cheering section 1100 miles from home but, with a crowd of 35,000 present, it appeared to this witness that there was more rooting for Missouri than for New York, the home team. The New York cheering was infrequent, sporadic and rather weak. And, New York was the only team that had anything to cheer about, too.

Must Show an Offense.

MISSOURI will have to show an offense to win from Kansas tomorrow. In the last two Tiger games—Washington and New York—the Tigers have made first downs in sufficient number, but they have meant very little because they were made outside of scoring territory. There's power in the Missouri team, but recently it has been latent rather than apparent.

In Buffalo, N. Y., an interesting football experiment has been proven a success. A few weeks ago, the suggestion was made that college football teams be taken away from coaches and "given back to the students." The laugh of the horse was heard in the land. In Buffalo, however, in the high school league, that is just what has been done. When the game starts, the coaches go to the press-box where there are phones connected with the side-lines. The playing of the game, however, is under direct supervision of the team-captain, the advice of the coach and a doctor (on the sidelines) being asked only as to substitutions because of injury. Buffalonians declare this present season under the new rule has brought forth better football than ever. Some doubt exists, however, as to the success of its application to college teams with their larger squads—and other things.

One Game Makes Season.

A SINGLE game may put football in St. Louis on the right side of the financial ledger. The attendance at no college game in St. Louis thus far has been anything to claim records for. Davis-Elkins and St. Louis drew well, as did Washington and Drake (at night), and there was a fair attendance when the Bears played Missouri. With the Billikens and Bears as well matched as they appear to be for the Thanksgiving day battle, Francis Field should see that afternoon the largest crowd of the season—even larger than ever before. The game has color—that so greatly needed attribute of any kind of competitive sport. Who will win? Ask ye the blowing winds or the snows of yesteryear.

The night before the Yale-Princeton game in New Haven last Saturday, it was known that Albie Booth would not play. The team was so notified. It was a blow, but it reacted to the benefit of the Blue. The Yale team held a meeting with the coaches not present. It was learned that there was considerable discussion as to whether they were to let the public see that Yale was a one-man team. The game against Princeton proved that it was not. Perhaps, in this one case, Yale was stronger without Booth. More psychology.

SPRINGFIELD TEACHERS BEAT KANSAS ELEVEN

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 22.—The Springfield Teachers College closed its football season by defeating the Pittsburg, Kansas Teachers, 14 to 10, here yesterday in an inter-conference game.

Near freezing temperatures prevailed, bringing about a listless game for three quarters, with numerous fumbles, none costly. Driving to Springfield's 10-yard line in the third quarter, the Gorillas scored first, Smith kicking a field goal from placement as the ball rested on the 20-yard line.

PEZOLT IS STAR IN WORKOUT OF BILLIKEN SQUAD

By Glen McDonald

Billiken freshman and varsity football teams battled through a two-hour scrimmage yesterday afternoon at Sportsman's Park. The Billiken head coach was very well pleased with the work of his regular backfield which ran off new plays to perfection.

Anderson used Charley McKinney at quarterback; Charley Eaton and Tony Kimmell at the halves and Capt. Joe Lintzenich at fullback. The heavy freshmen had a hard time stopping any of the quartet which piled up two touchdowns while McKinney contributed one point after touchdown with a place kick. This group will compose Anderson's starting backfield when the Billikens meet the Bears Thanksgiving day.

A few of the team's followers who did not mind the wintry weather got a good idea of the style of game Anderson intends to use against the Bears. All of the new plays were tried and the majority worked very well. The forward pass completed was a 30-yard toss from Eaton to Kimmell. The frosh threatened to score on several occasions and had the ball on the varsity 10-yard line at one time following Bob Canada's 70-yard run after he had intercepted a varsity pass. It took Bill Salinsky, stocky little substitute fullback, to furnish the longest run of the afternoon. Taking Capt. Lintzenich's place near the end of the scrimmage he got away for an 80-yard gain on the first play and finally plunged over for the third varsity touchdown.

Work of Line Disappoints.

Coach Anderson was disappointed with the work of his line. He started Sylvester McIntosh and Lyle Drury at the ends, Rufus Schultz and Firpo Joseph at the tackles; Al Pezolt and Gene Schwartz at the guards and Jack Corcoran at center. These men played almost the entire scrimmage, with exception of Joseph, who gave way to Steve Kalmar.

Al Pezolt, at right guard, proved to be the surprise of the afternoon. A benchwarmre all season he came to life yesterday and was all over the place. Defensively and offensively he worked like a veteran. Pezolt is a sophomore and a local boy, having played with Christian Brothers High School. He weighs 168 pounds and was given a chance to start the scrimmage when Newton and Ed Brown were held out because of recent slight injuries. Fred Fox, reserve tackle, and Marone Antoon, substitute guard, both valuable men, will miss practice of the next few days because of severe colds.

The recent controversy between the Billiken student body and the faculty over the tickets issued for the Washington game was settled last night. Arrangements have been made by the St. Louis athletic officials for the erection of a temporary bleachers on the sidelines of the playing field in front of the south stand at Francis Field. A statement issued by the Billiken athletic office last night reads, "The St. Louis University Athletic Department has secured suitable seats for the St. Louis students who will attend the Washington U game on Thanksgiving day at Francis Field. A platform will be erected in front of the south stand at Francis Field and more than 2000 seats will be placed there for the students and their friends. This arrangement is suitable to the entire student body, alumni association, members of the faculty and Washington U authorities."

M. M. A. Game Re-Scheduled.

MEXICO, Mo., Nov. 22.—The final home game of the year for the Missouri Military Academy Colonels, slated to oppose the Hannibal Pirates here today, was rescheduled this morning and will be played on Academy Field tomorrow. A conflict with the home game today between the Mexico Bulldogs and Fulton Hornets caused the change.

Basket Games Arranged.

The Concordia Turners are bringing the Blue Bird basketball team of Bunker Hill, Ill., to their hall for one of two feature basketball games to be played on Sunday. The Bunker Hill Blue Birds will play the Concordia Bees in the first game, starting at 2:30 p. m. The second game will see the Sokol team, runner-up in last year's Monday night division of the Muny League, playing the Concordia Actives.

Suspend Men Who

By HERMAN WECKE.

Under a ruling made this week
George Healey, commissioner of e Intercity Midwestern Soccer eague, a player sent off the field the referee for misconduct ands suspended until his case is alt with. This action is similar that used by the National Chal-

the U. S. F. A.

Commissioner Healey also ruled t fighting for the first time (uns it causes a riot or trouble with e spectators) would call for a ree weeks' suspension, starting e day after the game, in addi-on to a fine of $10.

Healey, as commissioner of the

I am picking Kansas to at Missouri and Oklahoma to ke the Oklahoma Aggies.

Oregon State, which startled the football world a year ago by its victory over the Great New York University team, invades Detroit to play Gus Dorais' superb eleven. It is doubtful, however, if Oregon State can repeat its upset of a year ago. They have already been beaten four times, due mainly to the fact that Echissler lost two star tackles and a star halfback before the season was really underway. Detroit should keep its slate clean. In Brazil, Detroit has one of the outstanding backs of the country.

Picks Drake to Win.

Drake University invades Philadelphia to play Temple and I have picked Drake to win by an eyelash.

The Wabash-Depauw annual fray looks like an even-up proposition with a slight edge in favor of Wabash, but Loyola of Chicago should win from South Dakota State while Grinnell should not have a great deal of trouble with Creighton. Ohio Wesleyan invades West Point to play the Army and they should give the soldiers a fair game but they are hardly strong enough to press them.

Tomorrow sees the close of the Big Ten season but there are some games taking place on Thanksgiving day which are of real importance. The Pitt-Penn State game at Pittsburg looks like another victory for the irresistable Panthers. The way Pitt ran over Carnegie Tech is an eye-opener and that there is any better team in the country is doubtful.

The Kansas Aggies invade Milwaukee to play Marquette and Marquette should grab this one. Nebraska should win from Iowa State and Haskell seems to have an edge over St. Xavier. All of St. Louis will be vitally interested in the Washington vs. St. Louis game. Hunk Anderson's boys seem to have an edge and barring some bad breaks should pull through this one. The Oklahoma-Missouri game looks like a toss-up.

Rockne's Picks

Purdue to take Indiana.
Illinois has slight edge over Ohio State.
Michigan to win over Iowa.
Wisconsin favored over Minnesota.
Washington to defeat Chicago.
Notre Dame should beat Northwestern.
Kansas to beat Missouri.
Oklahoma to win over Oklahoma Aggies.
Oregon State to bow to Detroit.

Maybe there will be re accurate passing. Clean pass rk was certainly conspicuous by s absence in the last round.

Although six games have been played in the league, Harry Ratican, center forward for the Tablers, has failed to score a goal. Some years ago, when "Tiny Harry" was in his prime, he was one of the deadliest shots in local soccer.

Benny Nash of the Millers and Bud Grennon of the Madisons are the leading goal scorers, with four each. Grennon is tied for the lead in spite of the fact that he is an outside man. He is of the roving type. Next in line for scoring honors are Eddie Hart and Joe Hennessey, with three each. When the Hellrungs scored four goals against the Tablers, they counted one more than they had in the first five contests of the campaign.

M. Gavin, the only American-born player on the Detroit Holleys, and D. Imrie of the Detroit S. C. are tied for scoring honors in the Midwestern League with eight goals. R. Wilson of the Bruells of Cleveland is next with five.

The Holley eleven has won five games this season and tied three, and leads the Midwestern with 13 points. The eleven has scored 21 goals against 13 for the opposition. The Carpenters are second, with 9 points, followed by the Bruells with 8; Slavia, 7; Detroit S. C., 6, and Sparta F. C., 3.

Olympias Tie Bricklayers.

The Olympias defeated the Bricklayers, two goals to one, in the last round of the Chicago Big Six lead and went into a tie with the Brickies for first place. Vidano and Sterba scored for Olympia, while the lone Bricklayer goal was tallied by Bob Patterson. Patterson came to the Brickies from Pete Harris' Kenosha eleven. Harris is the halfback who starred with St. Louis teams during the "good old days at Athletic Park."

Fall River, tied with New Bedford for the lead in the new Atlantic Coast League, with 5 points, has been scored upon only once in three games, while piling up 10 goals. Last Sunday, the team trimmed the New York Giants, 4 to 0. The Hakoah All-Stars, national champions, were defeated in the only game played in the new circuit.

The schedule for Saturday in the Atlantic Coast League follows: Pawtucket vs. New York Nationals at Pawtucket; Boston vs. Hakoah at Boston; Bethlehem vs. Fall River at Bethlehem, and New York Giants vs. Brooklyn at New York.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY TO PLAY LANGSTON IN GRID GAME TOMORROW

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 22.—The Lincoln Tigers of the Negro State University of Jefferson City, Mo., are scheduled to meet the Langston football team of Langston, Ok., in a homecoming game tomorrow afternoon on the gridiron at Jefferson City. The Langston University team has not lost a game in five years. Its record for the season is five victories and one defeat.

The strength of the Lincoln team may be evidenced in the fact that it held the strong West Virginia squad to a 6-to-0 decision when the two teams met in St. Louis this year, although Lincoln could not cross the West Virginia goal line. David Waters, who coaches the Tigers, expects a victory tomorrow afternoon. Greene, Rocquemore and Decker are the outstanding players.

The Lincoln University Alumni Association has arranged to carry a host of rooters from St. Louis to witness this contest. It has been reported that Gov. Caulfield will be present and many of the State officials.

CLARK WILL BE NAMED HEAD OF CHICAGO ARENA

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Sheldon Clark, wealthy sportsman and vice president of the Sinclair Refinig Co., today had under considera n an offer of the presidency of the Chicago Stadium Corporation, and he indicated he probably would accept.

Clark said last night a committee from the stadium directorate had formally offered him the position vacated when P. T. (Paddy) Harmon, planner and promoter of the huge indoor sports building, resigned Tuesday. He added he had promised his answer within 24 hours, and indicated he would accept the position, but without pay.

Principia Plays Kansas City Team In Contest Today

The undefeated class "A" football team of Principia will oppose Pembroke High School of Kansas City, at Taylor Field at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Pembroke High comes to St. Louis with a season's record of five victories, no ties and two defeats. During these seven games, Pembroke has scored 108 points to its opponents' 68. Last year when the two teams met, Principia won, 44 to 19. Last season was the first time the two schools have met in athletic contests.

The Principian team holds the A B C League title in the class "A" division, having won five games played this season. Last Saturday the team defeated Western Military Academy's "A" team, 12-0. Wiley Steen, Principia's quarterback and shifty ball carrier, who has been out with a wrenched back for the past two games will be in the starting line-up. It will be Principia's last game of the season.

The Principia "B" and "C" teams will play corresponding Country Day teams at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Principia.

The probable line-ups:

DUBINSKY GAINS VICTORY IN ICE SKATING RACE

Harold Dubinsky, former captain of the University of Wisconsin skating team, ushered in the ice-racing season at the Winter Garden, Wednesday night, by winning the 440-yard dash for senior men in 41 seconds flat, setting a new city record for the distance. Otto Brands, last year's city champion, was forced to take second, while Harry Furman, another skating star, finished third.

This was the first of a series of races to determine the city champion. It is planned by the Winter Garden to hold a weekly race on Wednesday evenings at varying distances until a series up to the five miles has been completed. On the basis of these races qualifiers will be named to compete in the finals at the end of the year.

Soldan Lineup Changed For Championship Contest With Cleveland Tomorrow

By Harold Tuthill

What should result in the best City High School League football game of the year will be played tomorrow when Soldan and Cleveland meet for the championship at the Public Schools Stadium. Roosevelt will meet Beaumont in the first game of the double-header, starting a 1 p. m.

Soldan will be on the defensive since it has to protect its lead, earned by winning three games, while Cleveland will strive for a chance to tie the "Cookies" for the title. In the event that Roosevelt wins the first game and Cleveland manages to subdue Soldan, the final standing of the three schools would be three games won and one lost.

Cleveland's claim to a share in the title is not without merit. The Carondelet school has steadily improved since the first game and on a basis of comparative scores from then on, figures one or two touchdowns better.

This result is derived as follows: Beaumont lost to Soldan, 13 to 0, and to Cleveland 19 to 0. Cleveland smothered Central, 39 to 0, whereas Soldan ran up a 28 to 6 score on the Mid-Cityans.

Soldan Lineup Changed.

For the first time in the campaign the Soldan line-up will not be the same as that which opened against Central. Bill Robinowitz was lost by an injury, necessitating the moving of Ed Schneider, a guard, to fullback. Aaron Hoffman will take Schneider's place at guard. The second alteration will be the replacement of Howard Butts by Linscott Hall, at right end.

The changes in the Cleveland lineup have been so numerous this season because of injuries and ineligibilities that Coach Bert E. Fenenga's announcement that he would start Ed Keith at left and Dick Bockrath at right tackle was not unexpected.

Fenenga hopes to use George Ketterer at right half, but it is not likely that Ketterer's injury will permit him to play. The probable backfield will be Ralph Prinz, quarter, Mike Cianciola, left half, Earl Jansen, right half, and Capt. Ken Bieber, fullback.

Ray Paglusch and Harold Vogt, ends, Pete Halm and Dan Cubbage, guards and Joe "Red" Mosar, center, will be at their usual positions. In Kenneth Risch and Henry Dreschal, the Carondelet school is well fixed for reserve linemen.

Beaumont Lacks Punch.

Beaumont will exert itself to the utmost to prevent Roosevelt from a possible tie for the title. The North Siders have not scored a touchdown since Oct. 2, when they lost to Webster Groves, 7 to 6.

Coach Franklin M. Burns states that his lineup will be the same as that of last week, which is John Kyler, left end; John Lackey, left tackle; Roland "Pete" Heckenberg, left guard; Dick Achuff, center; Edwin Donk, right guard; James Duby, right tackle; Otto Schwandt, right end; Devereaux Henderson, quarter; Elmer Nickel, left half; Herb Bohringer, right half and Bob Kalbitz, fullback.

The return of Bill Hnudhausen to his backfield position will enable Lee R. Carlson to use his strongest front against Beaumont. Hundhausen has been nursing a bad knee for the past two weeks.

Admission to the game is $1. The stadium is located at Kingshighway boulevard and St. Louis avenue.

EDWARDSVILLE DEFEATS ALTON HIGH, 7-4, IN SOUTHWESTERN BATTLE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALTON, Ill., Nov. 22.—Edwardsville High defeated Alton High here yesterday, 7 to 4. Alton points resulted from two safeties.

The touchdown was scored when after Judd had kicked off to Mahoney, the latter fumbled, giving Edwardsville the ball in midfield. On the next play Tenor threw a long pass to Fahrig who carried it over. Another pass by the same combination scored the extra point. Alton came back strong after the second kickoff and worked the ball to the 4-yard line with a 16-yard end run by White featuring but lost the ball on downs.

The Red and Gray scored its first safety in the second quarter when Judd was forced to kick from behind his own goal line. The pass from center was over his head thus forcing him to down the ball. Alton scored again in the fourth quarter by the same method. With the ball deep in his own territory Nicolet got off a 45-yard punt which rolled to the 13-yard line. Edwardsville was penalized for holding on the next play but Alton failed to go through for a touchdown. A pass from center to Judd for a punt again went wild and Alton scored two more points when he downed the ball.

Alton made four first downs to Edwardsville's two. The victory permited Edwardsville to retain third place in the Southwestern Illinois High Schol conference.

Rangers Defeat Montreal Team in Hockey Feature

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The defense players of the big hockey league are beginning to get the hang of playing a tight game under the new rules, but they still have a long way to go if they have any hopes of bringing the scoring down to the level of former years.

Two of last night's three games in the National Hockey League might have been played in any other season so far as the scores would indicate, but the third gave ample evidence of this year's free scoring spirit. The battle between the Stanley Cup finalists of two years ago, the New York Rangers, and Montreal Maroons, resulted in their second 2 to 1 score of the season with the Rangers again the victors. Les Canadiens of Montreal had to go overtime to nose out the Toronto Leafs, 3 to 2. At Chicago, however, a second overtime game produced a far different result. Ottawa's fast stepping Senators gave the Blackhawks their first defeat of the season by a score of 6 to 5.

Grid Captain Named

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 22.—Grant Morgan of Independence, Mo., a tackle, was elected captain of the 193 Missouri Tiger freshman football squad here yesterday at the end of the frosh season.

HENRY PLANS TO USE WALDORF IN JAYHAWKER GAME

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 22.—Missouri Tiger football stock nosed up last night on the authoritative probability that Capt. John Waldorf will accompany the squad to the annual game of Missouri and Kansas at Lawrence tomorrow and appear in the starting lineup.

Although he spent the night in the university hospital, he was expected to be released to leave with his mates at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Physicians said he had virtually no fever and the leg infection resulting from injury against New York U. last Saturday was giving him less trouble.

Unless Waldorf looks too weak after he is in a suit at Lawrence, Coach Henry plans to play him for a time in the first period and possibly in the final periods. Leonard McGirl, guard, injured last Saturday, made his first appearance this week at his regular post, but it is doubtful whether he will give way to the veteran Hudgens. J. Mack Gladden, the other serious casualty, played right end on the second eleven, while Hubert Campbell, the punting wing man, held down the varsity spot. Kennedy, Derry, Schaff and Dills comprised the first-string backfield.

STRIBLING TO MEET CARNERA AGAIN ON DEC. 12, IS REPORT

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Express says that negotiations are under way for another match, at Paris, between Young Stribling, Macon, Ga., heavyweight, and Primo Carnera, Venetian carpenter. The match, the newspaper says, will be held on or about Dec. 12. Stribling has agreed to terms which contain a provision that if either lose on a foul the offender shall lose his share of the purse.

Stribling was disqualified on a foul in the fourth round of his match with Carnera at Royal Albert Hall here a few nights ago.

DEARDORFF SETS AMATEUR RECORD IN THREE-CUSHION TOURNEY MATCH

ST. LOUIS STAR GETS 50 POINTS IN 40 INNINGS, BEATING AGNIEL

Gene Deardorff, St. Louis amateur three-cushion star and a former city champion, established a new world record for amateurs when he defeated Earl Agniel, 50 to 15, in 40 innings in yesterday's feature match in the Southern sectional tournament at Peterson's.

In running out his match in 40 innings, Deardorff beat the old-established record at Chicago two years ago by two innings. Deardorff played sensational billiards throughout the match, which incidentally gave him his fourth straight victory in the local competition.

He started with one in the first inning, then came back with five and then another one. After four scoreless innings he got back on his stride and in the next five tallied 10 points. A little later he had a high run of six, while after a few scoreless innings he put together 3, 7, 2 and 4, in successive tries, a total of 16 in four innings. The seven was his high run of the match.

Against this kind of playing, Agniel, the city amateur champion, who is playing in his first tournament as a professional, had no chance.

Deardorff, who is leading in the tournament, will face a real test in the final match of the tournament at 8 o'clock tonight when he faces Tiff Denton, the Kansas City star, who held the world championship in 1919. Denton is in second place with three victories and one defeat, and a victory tonight will tie him for the lead and necessitate a play-off tomorrow night to decide the winner. The victor in the local tournament will qualify to play in the world championship tournament next January.

In the other match yesterday, Dr. L. P. Macklin finished his schedule, defeating Ed Zamzow, 50 to 31, in 65 innings. Zamzow closes his schedule against Agniel at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Charles Alford, the Independence (Kan.) player, withdrew from the competition after losing three straight matches and forfeited his final games to Denton and Dr. Macklin. Macklin finished with three victories and two defeats.

The standings:

	Won.	Lost.
Deardorff	4	0
Denton	3	1
Macklin	3	2
Agniel	2	2
Zamzow	1	3
Alford	0	5

DOWN the STRETCH

By Clement Glaub.

Brownell Berryman, racing secretary at Florida's newest race track, Keeney Park, St. Augustine, states that prospects look brighter for a most successful meeting. More than 300 thoroughbreds are already quartered at the track and after the Bowie meeting closes, two specials will leave the Maryland course for Florida. One hundred and eighty additional stalls are under construction at Keeney Park and more will be erected to take care of late arrivals. The meeting is scheduled to begin Dec. 14 and continue for 26 days. Among the owners who will campaign at Keeney Park are: W. E. Martin, R. T. Wilson and W. J. Salmon. The latter establishment will consist of about 25 horses in charge of Trainer James Tighe, who will turn them over to Jack Pryce after the stable reaches Florida. Martin's thoroughbreds are Black Watch, Alayer, John B., Calamity, Spectacular and Vacant.

Under New Management.

THE Miami Jockey Club, under new management, will open its 45-day meeting Jan. 16 with prospects for about 1000 horses. The Jockey Club recently acquired from John B. Smoot by J. H. Carstairs and a group of associates, is getting ready for a brilliant opening. There are nearly 1400 stall applications for the meeting, 400 in excess of the club capacity which indicates that the meeting will be the most successful in the five years' existence of the Miami Jockey Club. Among the owners who have signified their intentions of racing at Miami are Rancocas Stable, Greentree Stable, H. P. Whitney, John D. Hertz, Mose Shapoff and Belle Isle Farm Stable.

R. C. Stable's Crystal Pennant, Coffroth winner, and the good handicap horse Sankari, have arrived at Jefferson Park where they will race this winter. Sankari competed at the recent Arlington Downs meeting and was unloaded at the Shrewsbury course in fine condition.

Omrah rushed along from the start, continued gamely under a drive. Dunkirk well up throughout, continued gamely. Rockslide was poorly handled. Blabber went into a good lead early but tired fast when put to a drive. There was a lot of crowding after the start and in Intrepid was pinched back.

Gay Past worked his way into contention steadily but was used up and had nothing elft for the final drive. Night Signal lacked early foot, was placed to punishment but could not menace the first two. Macil was hard ridden and had no excuse. Rocket Glare weakened fast after five furlong. The others had no mishaps.

Chatover, racing suddenly improved and sprinted into a long early lead, held away until final furlong and had to be haard ridden thereafter to withstand Clear Sky and Low Gear. Clear Sky, rated well up, lost much ground at the stretch turn, finished stoutly and raced as if best. Low Gear, on the outside early, slipped through on the inside at stretch turn, but hung under a stout drive. Ormonbird showed much improvement. Le Beyhad speed in spots. Nettie Stone was messed about from the start and can do much better than this effort. Sun Friar and Dance tired.

Vandal hustled into contention, was rated for the first six furlongs, gained the lead when entering the home stretch and hard urged nearing the finish, just lasted to stall off Mole Hill. Princely Aattention, well played, saved a lot of ground all the way and was being eased to the end when unable to get to the first two. Genial Host badly outrun most of the way. Faux Pas was never a factor. Turf Writer stopped after reaching a good position.

VALLEY CONFERENCE VOTES DOWN PLAN OF POST-SEASON GAME

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 22.—A proposed post-season game between all-star teams representing the Missouri Valley Athletic Conference and the Rocky Mountain Conference has been voted down by the former group, it was announced today by the Rev. W. J. Corboy, president.

Unanimous approval of the contemplated game was necessary, and the Missouri Conference vote found two schools opposed, it was learned unofficially.

Should Rocky Mountain Conference officials hold their offer open, Father Corboy said, a different decision might be made at the annual business meeting of the Missouri Conference Dec. 6.

Clemens Wins on Foul

By the Associated Press.

OTTUMWA, Ia., Nov. 22.—"Battling" Clemens of Atchison, Kan., won on a foul from Jocquotte Elverrillo, lightweight, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. The Chicagoan had a clear lead on points when a low punch cost him the bout.

BOOTH TO START IN BATTLE WITH HARVARD ELEVEN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Marvin A. Stevens, head coach of Yale, has anounced that Albie Booth, backfield star, who has had a charley horse, will start against Harvard tomorrow. Booth never yet has figured in a starting line-up, always being a reservist ready for quick action in a crisis.

Every one of the Harvard 34 varsity players has been pronounced physically fit by Dr. Tommy Richards, team physician. The team had to practice indoors yesterday because of snow.

The game in the Harvard Stadium tomorrow is of major interest in the East, but there are other ancient rivalries.

Bucknell comes to New York to play Fordham at the Polo Grounds. New York University intends to give some of its second string a change in its game against Rutgers at the Yankee Stadium.

Lehigh awaits invasion by Lafayette, which is favored to win its eleventh straight in this series dating back to the early eighties.

The games of Brown, the Army and Navy against New Hampshire, Ohio Wesleyan and West Virginia Wesleyan, respectively are expected merely to furnish the larger trio with sharp practice for bigger engagements next week.

More important action awaits Philadelphia's two newcomers to the football elect—Villanova and Temple. Villanova is confident of a victory over North Carolina State. Temple must down Drake, champion of the Missouri Valley Conference.

BROWNS WILL PLAY REGULAR SPRING GAMES

Officials of the Browns and the Cardinals are getting ready for coming trips to the minor league meeting at Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 4, 5 and 6, and the major league meetings at New York Dec. 12 to 15. Bill Friel and L. C. McEvoy will head the Browns delegation to Chattanooga while Branch Rickey will be in charge of the Cardinal contingent there with Sam Breadon going directly to New York.

The Browns are going to the meetings looking for a hard hitting outfielder, an infielder who can hit and possibly a catcher. The club also is on the lookout for additional pitching strength.

Friel stated today that the Browns would schedule the usual number of games on the way home from the South next spring. Breadon recently announced the Cardinals' intention of abandoning this practice in order to keep the players at the edge which they attain in Florida while the Browns contend that they are playing a number of games on the way norh in order to keep the men in shape.

The Cardinals believe that a quick jump home with only one or two games on the way is better than a lengthy journey during which a number of games are played while the Browns think that it is better to work North gradually in order to accustom the players to colder weather after the warm climate in Florida.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 22.

Hargrave came to the Saints a year ago from the Cincinnati Club of the National League. He led the association in batting most of last season, but was rated second in the final averages with a mark of .369.

CONVENIENT LOAN SERVICE
Arrangements for your loan are made quickly, privately and in a business-like manner.
If you cannot conveniently come in, write or phone us and arrange for our representative to call at your home and explain our plan without obligating you in any way and without any additional charge.
Loans are usually made the same day and no one ever knows about your borrowing money here. We do not notify your friends, relatives or your employer.
Persons worthy of credit are able to borrow up to $300 here in somewhat the same manner as business men and real estate owners borrow at banks. This makes it both pleasant and convenient for those permanently employed to obtain needed money.
Our charge is 2½ per cent per month and you have the option of paying more than regular payments or in full at any time. Mr. J. Parker, who is now with us, will be pleased to assist you.

ST. MARY'S OF ANGELS TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Public Inspection of New $800,000 Convent to Begin Tomorrow.

The Convent of St. Mary of the Angels, the new mother house and novitiate of the Sisters of St. Mary, just south of St. Mary's Hospital, Clayton Road and Bellevue avenue, will be open to the public for inspection tomorrow, Sunday and Monday. Sisters of the order will conduct visitors through the building, which is virtually complete except for the chapel, between 9 and 12 o'clock in the mornings and 3 and 6 in the afternoons.

The new structure which cost $800,000 contrasts strikingly with the tenement house at Third and Lombard streets which housed the five nuns who founded the order in 1872. The architecture is Romanesque and it follows closely the exterior design of the Monastery of St. Francis at Assisi, Italy.

Dormitories and classrooms are provided for 200 professed sisters and novices. Most of those who will be quartered there are working in St. Mary's Hospital, but many more of the 400 sisters who are now members of the order will go there for retreat, as it is the mother house for the archdioceses of Chicago and Milwaukee, Wis., and the dioceses of Kansas City, Mo., and La Crosse, Wis.

The Rev. Mother Concordia, superior general of the order, who, according to C. E. Jones, superintendent for the architect, made many suggestions about the construction, says the building is one of the finest of its kind in America.

Four Stories High.

The building is four stories high and is constructed of Mankato stone and gray building brick, with gray tile roofing. Generally the structure is the shape of the letter E. It faces north, the east and west wings extending south and forming the top and bottom parts of the E and the chapel forming the middle section. Roughly the building occupies a plot of ground 364 feet by 248 feet. Between each wing and the chapel there is a large courtyard. A tunnel connects the building with the hospital.

The west wing will house the professed sisters and the east wing will be the novitiate. Classrooms, administration rooms, the library, reception rooms, visitors', dining rooms and an auditorium seating 150 are in the main section of the building. In all there are 300 rooms.

The woodwork is of an especially treated and selected wormy chestnut, which is used throughout even to the hand rails on the stairways and the furniture in the refectories.

Marble Altar Being Placed.

The chapel will be ready for use when workmen finish setting up the marble altar and complete the pasting of the strips of canvas bearing portraits of saints on the four arches of the sanctuary. In all there are more than 40 portraits, all of which were worked in oils by Gottfried F. Schiller, St. Louis. For acoustical purposes all the walls and the seven trusses supporting the roof of the nave are covered with canvas.

On each side of the nave there are five large stained glass windows, while in the walls of the clear story of the nave there are 14 smaller ones on each side. In each end of the transept there is a large stained glass window and there are several smaller ones in the rear walls.

The building was begun in August, 1928. The architectural firm of O'Meara & Hills planned it and the Wimmer Construction Co. was the contractor. When the sisters move into their dormitories next week an entire floor of St. Mary's Hospital, which they are now using, will be available for hospital use, relieving crowded conditions.

SUNNYLAND STAGES GETS PERMIT; DROPS U. S. SUIT

An injunction suit to the Sunnyland Stages, an Illinois corporation, to prevent interference with operation of its motor busses between Bird's Point, Mo., and the Arkansas line, on U. S. Highways No. 60 and 61, was withdrawn in Federal Court today, on the announcement of counsel for the Public Service Commission that a permit for the line had been issued yesterday.

The commission lawyer explained it had been under the erroneous impression that the company had failed to file a bond. Since the company applied for a permit on Oct. 25, the suit charged, its drivers had been arrested by Sheriffs of Pemiscot, Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid Counties. The suit was directed against these officers and the commission. A special District Court had been convened to hear the suit, comprising Judge Kimbrough Stone of Kansas City, presiding Judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals, and Judges Faris and Davis of St. Louis.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER ON NEW YORK MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—An opening decline in the cotton market was followed by rallies on reports of unfavorable weather for saving the remnant of the crop, but prices eased off again during the afternoon under renewed liquidation which seemed to be coupled with a little commission house or Southern selling. The mid-afternoon market was 7 to 15 points net lower.

Futures closed barely steady, 14 to 20 points lower; Dec. 17.33@34c; Jan. 17.48@49c; March, 17.75@77c; May, 18.01@02c; July, 18.14c. Spot quiet; middling, 17.55c.

The market held very steady later in the morning on buying apparently promoted by unfavorable weather news from the South. January contracts sold up to 17.65c, or back to yesterday's closing quotations and the general market was within a point or two of the best at midday.

Comment of unfavorable weather for saving the remainder of the crop in some fields brought in some buying at the decline, however, and the market steadied up during the early trading.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying supplied by scattered liquidation and American selling in that market.

Futures opened unchanged to 1 point higher and soon showed net gains of 4 to 5 points on increased covering and buying by houses with trade and Cuban connections. The buying was centered principally in the December and January positions and was believed to be mostly covering in advance of first notice day next Monday, although the higher spot market and the continued firmness of the co-operative agency in Cuba may also have had some influence. The upturn attracted considerable liquidation, however, and prices eased. The list at midday was 3 to 4 points net higher.

Refined was unchanged at 5.00c for fine granulated with buying light and limited to nearby requirements only.

Sugar futures closed steady, approximated sales 41,300 tons: December, 2.01; January, 2.05; March, 2.06; May, 2.15; July, 2.23; September, 2.28.

Steel Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Steel unchanged.

WHEAT CLOSES LOWER ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 22.—Wheat futures closed down more than a cent and corn fractionally on local market, the failure of Liverpool to hold early advance and report of only fair demand by Europe for North American wheat being credited with bringing about downturn in wheat.

The adverse crop reports from Argentine and Australia continued to influence wheat prices, as did upturn at Liverpool. The latter closed ⅝d to ¾d higher, after being 2d to 2¼d better at one time. Winnipeg was up over cent early. Corn here also was better early.

December wheat opened at $1.24, May wheat $1.34¼, December corn 88c and May corn 96⅞c.

Local wheat receipts, which were 47,600 bushels, compared with 70,000 a week ago and 106,400 a year ago, included 24 cars local and 10 through. Corn receipts which were 54,600 bushels, compared with 22,400 a week ago and 110,600 a year ago, included 35 cars local and four cars through. Oats receipts, which were 28,400 bushels, compared with 44,000 a week ago and 72,000 a year ago, included 10 cars local and two through. Hay receipts were 15 cars local and eight through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

Sales of cash grain made on the exchange Friday were as follows:

WHEAT—No. 2 red winter wheat $1.31@1.33; No. 3 red garlicky wheat $1.24; sample grade mixed wheat $1.11.

CORN—No. 4 mixed corn 84c; No. 1 yellow corn 90c; No. 4 yellow corn 88c; No. 5 yellow corn 86c; No. 1 white corn 90c.

OATS—No. 2 white oats 49c; No. 3 white oats 48c.

WHEAT UNSETTLED AND LOWER AT THE CLOSE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Free selling that broke out in the wheat market today after early brisk advances turned values sharply downgrade in the late dealings. One reason for the selling was that export demand today for wheat from North America was only fair, total purchases for Trans-Atlantic shipment from the United States and Canada being but 700,000 bushels. A late spasm of weakness in wheat quotations at Liverpool today was in one quarter ascribed to heavy selling from Chicago, if true, possibly closing out spread trades with Winnipeg or this city.

Wheat closed unsettled at 1c to 1⅛c per bushel lower than yesterday's finish, Corn closed unchanged to ⅛c off, oats ⅛c to ⅜@½c down, an provisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

Active buying and higher quotations here for wheat early today kept pace with increasingly adverse crop news from Argentina and from Australia as well.

Liverpool wheat prices showed much steeper upturns than expected, with black rust reported as extending into Buenos Aires Province, a section of Argentina heretofore untouched. Opening 1 to 1⅛ up, Chicago wheat later scored further gains, but then reacted somewhat. Corn and oats were easy, with corn starting ⅛ to ⅜ higher and substantially declining. Provisions held steady.

Unlooked-for early strength of the wheat market at Liverpool today met with prompt response in Chicago, prices here bulging quickly at times. On the upturns, enlarged selling pressure developed, but such traders as worked for reactions had to contend not only with the influence of the unfavorable crop advices that have come from the Southern hemisphere but also with word that export purchasers of wheat at the Gulf of Mexico were paying the highest premium yet on the 1929 United States crop.

Something of a blow to friends of higher prices here for wheat, however, came as a result of the sudden setback in Liverpool quotations during the final trading there, wiping out practically all of earlier gains. The virtual failure of Liverpool to hold its advance led to much selling here, and so too did assertions of a British trade authority that Argentina might still produce an average of 13 bushels per acre.

MIXED CLOSE ON THE CURB MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Prices drifted in divergent directions on the curb market today. Several stocks gained from 2 to 10 points, but most of the leaders sagged 1 to 5 under a moderate wave of week-end profit taking. The list offered considerable resistance to selling, and trading tended to quiet down on declines.

Electric bond and share sagged a couple of points, but rallied to close at 81, only fractionally off. Allied Power and Light, Associated Gas and Electric, and Standard Power and Light were under moderate pressure. American Gas and Electric dropped 5 points. American Light and Traction closed 10 points higher, however, and Duke Power 5. American Cities "A" was also a strong spot, closing with a gain of a couple of points.

Oils were fairly steady. Cities Service was again active, sagging fractionally at times, but closing firm at 30½. Humble and Standard of Indiana closed steady, but Gulf sagged a point. Chesebrough Manufacturing gained a couple of points. Cosden jumped 10 points in a small turnover. In the mining issues, Newmont dropped more than 4 points.

Industrials were highly irregular. Aluminum Co. mounted 10 points, then lost its gain. Anchor Post Fence was in good demand. American Cyanamid B sagged fractionally, and Fox Theaters "A" dropped a couple of points to close to its low. Chain store issus were strong. Great Atlantic and Pacific, a high priced issue, jumped 35 points in a few sales. Daniel Reeves, Peoples Drug, and Western Auto Supply were also strong.

In the investment trusts, Lehman Corp. and Goldman Sachs each sagged a few points, but rallied, the latter closing unchanged. Tri-Continental slipped back about a point.

The plentiful supply of call money, which renewed at 4½ per cent, the lowest renewal rate since March of last year, together with the huge reduction in broker's loans and the reassuring reports from Washington, tended to stabilize the list. The Curb market will follow the "big board" in resuming five-hour sessions the first three days of next week, and closing the last three. The market will be closed tomorrow.

STEADY ADVANCE IN BONDS CONTINUES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The last bond market of the week saw prices continuing their steady advance today. Neither gains nor turnovers were particularly large, but the improvement was distributed throughout all sections of the list, especially in the foreign department, where gains of one to six points were numerous. French Government 7½s and 7s sold at their 1929 highs.

The large reduction in brokers' loans was an encouraging factor, and money displayed further easiness, in line with the curtailment of speculative credit.

Liberty bonds, which have been making successive new peaks this week, were again active and higher. Railroad loans of seasoned investment caliber drew the bulk of the support, but utilities also proved popular.

Convertibles were irregular. There was a large turnover in Texas Corporation 5s at slightly higher levels.

WHOLESALE DRUG STORE CHAIN IS ANNOUNCED

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—A nationwide chain of wholesale drug stores having affiliated with it 20,000 independently owned retail druggists was announced today by Robert R. Ellis of the Hessig-Ellis Company, Memphis. The plan involves consolidation of the Memphis company with Mutual Drug Co. of Cleveland, of which Frederic T. Roosa is president.

Roosa and Ellis will be partners and chief executives in the new venture, which in effect is the entrance of the Mutual Drug Co. and the Ure Druggists, Inc., into the national field with a mutual headquarters in Cleveland.

The New York Curb and Chicago Exchanges will make similar changes.

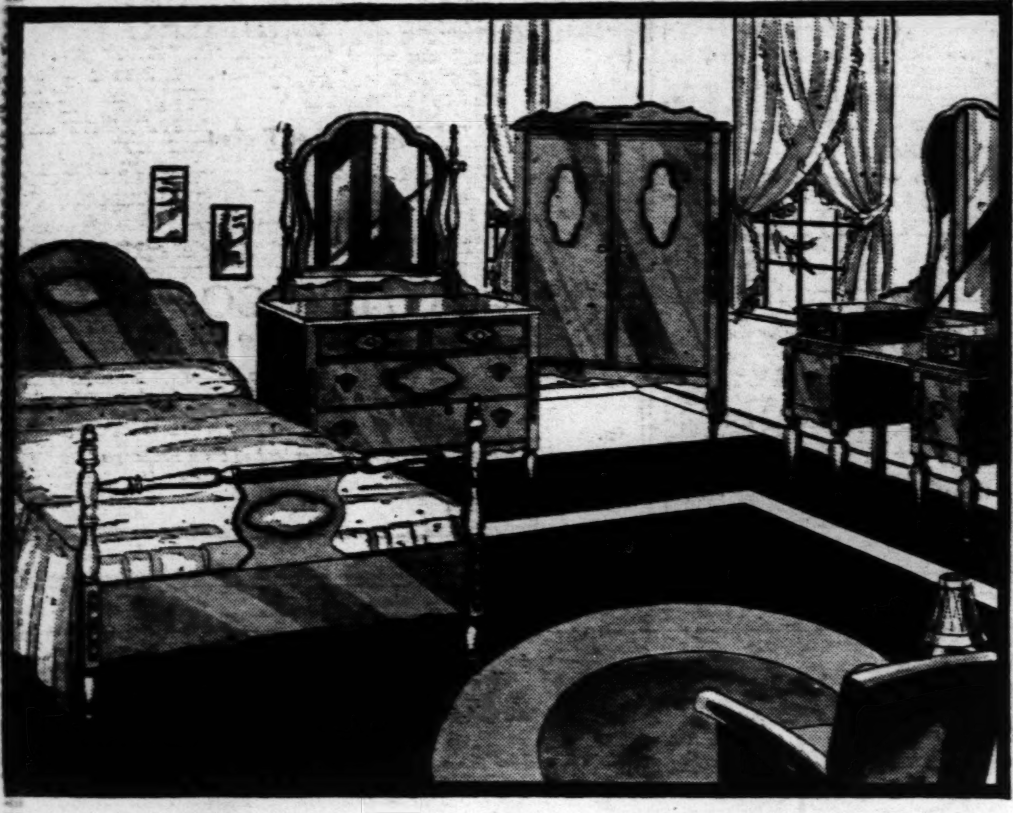
"What Do You Say, Let's Go to Union

. . . I hear they have such lovely things." Madam, your hearing is correct, Union is the place to shop. Really, we have some of the nobbiest new furniture you ever saw, and with Christmas approaching you'll be especially interested in our occasional pieces, that make such welcome gifts! Oh yes, Union is a place of enthralling interest from the basement to the uppermost floor!



For a Young Girl or a Miss

. . . this charming Bedroom Suite is particularly desirable. There is a suggestion of Colonial days in its design, especially the bed with its quaint poster footboard. PART SIX.

COOK HOLIDAY MEAL THE DAY PREVIOUS

Wise Family Cooks Start Preparations the Day Before the Feast.

A day in advance, the fruit for the cocktail may be prepared, sprinkled with sugar and put in the refrigerator in a covered dish. Or, if even the day before time is limited, it is possible to buy delicious assorted fruit in cans. It is called salad fruit, but it may be used just as well for fruit cocktails.

Keep the can in the refrigerator, opening it just before serving. To make the cocktail a little different, crushed mints (the little square bonbons called "after dinner mints") may be added to the fruit.

The turkey is always prepared the day before. It will be drawn and cleaned, of course, when it comes from the market, but it is wise to look it over carefully, singeing the surface and removing any pin feathers which may have been left on. Wash it thoroughly inside and outside. Sprinkle with salt also both inside and outside. Fill the cavity with your favorite dressing. Oyster, celery or chestnut dressings are each popular, but plain bread well seasoned is probably most commonly used. Sew up the opening with a darning needle and stout thread, or fasten it with wire skewers. Rub the outside of the bird thoroughly with fat and dust it well with flour. Fold the wings back, catching the tips under the body. Press the legs close to the body and tie in place. To keep the ends of the drumsticks from scorching before the rest of the bird is done, wrap them in strips of cloth. Place it on the rack in the roaster and it is all ready for the oven.

The vegetables can all be prepared, at least partially, the day before. The cauliflower may be cleaned and soaked in cold salted water, ready to cook quickly in the morning. The cream sauce may even be made in advance and kept covered in the refrigerator. Just before serving, the sauce is reheated and the cauliflower added.

The sweet potatoes should be boiled until tender, put away, and a thick syrup made of brown sugar and water all ready to slice the potatoes lengthwise into a pan or casserole, pour over the syrup, and bake in the oven until delicately browned. The white potatoes for mashing may even be peeled and left to soak in cold water.

The cranberry sauce can be made several days in advance, if desired. Sort the berries. Cover with cold water, and cook until the skins all burst. If strained sauce is preferred, put the berries

COOK HOLIDAY MEAL THE DAY PREVIOUS

Wise Family Cooks Start Preparations the Day Before the Feast.

A day in advance, the fruit for the cocktail may be prepared, sprinkled with sugar and put in the refrigerator in a covered dish. Or, if even the day before time is limited, it is possible to buy delicious assorted fruit in cans. It is called salad fruit, but it may be used just as well for fruit cocktails.

Keep the can in the refrigerator, opening it just before serving. To make the cocktail a little different, crushed mints (the little square bonbons called "after dinner mints") may be added to the fruit.

The turkey is always prepared the day before. It will be drawn and cleaned, of course, when it comes from the market, but it is wise to look it over carefully, singeing the surface and removing any pin feathers which may have been left on. Wash it thoroughly inside and outside. Sprinkle with salt also both inside and outside. Fill the cavity with your favorite dressing. Oyster, celery or chestnut dressings are each popular, but plain bread well seasoned is probably most commonly used. Sew up the opening with a darning needle and stout thread, or fasten it with wire skewers. Rub the outside of the bird thoroughly with fat and dust it well with flour. Fold the wings back, catching the tips under the body. Press the legs close to the body and tie in place. To keep the ends of the drumsticks from scorching before the rest of the bird is done, wrap them in strips of cloth. Place it on the rack in the roaster and it is all ready for the oven.

The vegetables can all be prepared, at least partially, the day before. The cauliflower may be cleaned and soaked in cold salted water, ready to cook quickly in the morning. The cream sauce may even be made in advance and kept covered in the refrigerator. Just before serving, the sauce is reheated and the cauliflower added.

The sweet potatoes should be boiled until tender, put away, and a thick syrup made of brown sugar and water all ready to slice the potatoes lengthwise into a pan or casserole, pour over the syrup, and bake in the oven until delicately browned. The white potatoes for mashing may even be peeled and left to soak in cold water.

The cranberry sauce can be made several days in advance, if desired. Sort the berries. Cover with cold water, and cook until the skins all burst. If strained sauce is preferred, put the berries through a colander or strainer to remove the skins. Add sugar to taste, about two cups to one quart of cranberries, stir over the fire just long enough to dissolve the sugar. For cranberry jelly, cook the cranberries down more before adding the sugar.

The green vegetable for the salad, whether it be lettuce, endive or watercress should be washed thoroughly, rolled in a cloth and placed directly on the ice all ready for serving. The salad dressing, French dressing being the favorite for this salad, can be made any number of days in advance. Such a very simple salad is suggested as an appeal to the modern members of the family who have to worry about increasing weight and high blood pressure, etc.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Cultivate an Appreciation of Home Cooking by Serving These Dishes.

To make a quick vegetable chowder for a cold weather luncheon dish, use any of the brands of good canned vegetable soup, adding milk instead of water to thin it. Heat to the boiling point, sprinkle ¼ cup of cracker crumbs or broken crackers into each can of soup and serve very hot.

Roast Veal.

Select a shoulder of veal and have it boned. Wipe with a damp cloth and stuff with poultry stuffing. Put in a baking pan, spread with fat and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown in a very hot oven 15 minutes. Add one cup water. Reduce heat to a hot oven and cook until done, allowing 25 to 30 minutes per pound. Baste ocacsionally, adding more water when necessary.

Liver En Casserole.

Put celery in bottom of a greased covered casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle liver with salt and pepper. Put it on top of celery and dot with bits of fat. Add the water and cover. Bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes or until liver and celery are tender. Cook carrots and onions in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender and put them in the casserole. Save vegetable stock, thicken with the flour mixed to a smooth paste with a little cold water, and pour over the liver. Cook 15 minutes longer. Serve hot with crisp bacon.

Fillets of Flounder.

Place fillets in well-greased baking dish, sprinkle with two teaspoonfuls minced parsley, season with salt and pepper. Pour 1 tablespoonful vinegar over each fillet, and enough fish stock to just cover. Mix 2 tablespoonfuls melted butter with ½ cup bread crumbs. Top the fish. Bake in hot oven 15 minutes. Send to the table in the same dish. Serve with orange sauce.

Romaine Salad.

Wash and chill choice romaine leaves and arrange on salad plates. Place sections of grapefruit, orange and pears on each serving and decorate with pickled walnuts. Serve with French dressing.

Cheese Sandwiches

Mix one cup grated American cheese, ¼ cup finely chopped sweet green peppers and two tablespoons well-seasoned mayonnaise dressing. Spread between buttered slices of bread.

MAKE SALTED NUTS AND STUFFED DATES

Let the Children Try Their Hands at Making Holiday Sweetmeats.

Dates are good food because of the iron they contain and because of the sugar that is so necessary to supply energy. They make sweets that are satisfying and that are wholesome and easy to digest.

Nuts are also a good article of food because they supply body building protein and energy giving fat. They, too, are readily digested providing they are thoroughly chewed.

Almonds, peanuts, pecans or walnuts may all be salted, though perhaps almonds and peanuts are the most popular.

Stuffed Dates.

Separate the dates and cut each one along the side so that you can slip out the pit. Place the dates on a plate or on a piece of waxed paper while you prepare the material for stuffing.

There are a great many things that may be used for this. Nut meats, bits of candied fruit, a piece of marshmallow, fondant, or soft fudge, cream cheese (though this is only to be used if the dates are served soon after making) prunes, figs, or a mixture of chopped raisins, figs and nuts.

For one pound of dates use one cup of seeded raisins, one-fourth pound of figs, two tablespoons of shelled walnuts and the juice of one small orange.

Rinse the raisins in a little cold water so that they do not stick together in a tight mass when chopped. Put the raisins and the figs in the food chopper and then the nuts. After they are chopped mix to a paste with the orange juice.

Then break off small pieces of the paste, roll into long rolls about one-fourth inch thick and big enough to stuff in the dates. When all the dates are filled, roll them in powdered sugar and pack them in a box in layers with waxed paper between.

How to Salt Nuts.

The salted nuts are made almost as easily. Shell them, remove the brown skins and put the nuts in a shallow pan. To two cups of shelled peanuts, allow two tablespoons of salad oil, melted butter or olive oil. Sprinkle this over the nuts, using a spoon, then sprinkle with one teaspoon of salt and put in a slow oven. If you have an oven thermometer, it should be 300 degrees.

Cook until the nuts are slightly brown or for about 15 minutes, stirring them two or three times with a spoon. When they are crisp turn them out of the pan on to a clean tea towel. Let them stand until cold.

ORANGE AND GRAPE SALAD

Just the Very Thing to Serve at a Holiday Dinner.

Orange and grape salad is pleasing to the eye because of the color combination and a delight to the palate on account of its goodness.

To make this salad use two cups orange sections, one-half cup winter grapes peeled and seeded, two tablespoons grape juice and French dressing.

Peel oranges and separate into sections, removing all white membrane. Peel and seed grapes and mix with orange sections. Set aside, covered, on ice until very cold. Pour over grape juice and French dressing and serve.

To Get Extra-Delicious Toast

Say Many Women Here

You Use This Slo-Baked Wonder Bread. And No Other!

Now a bread that makes scorched toast a folly. Exactly what it is and why it is fast supplanting ordinary brands is told in detail below.

By ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

THANKS largely to a remarkable new bread, "perfect toast" is easy now.

It's a slo-baked bread called Wonder Bread, already well known to scores of women here. In no way is it to be confused with ordinary breads. Over six million dollars was spent in its development. Everything about it is different.

To toast it once is to insist on it always. It impresses you at once by the absence of burned edges, unevenly browned surfaces, or scorched spots. Also it makes toast in quicker time.

Being of fine texture, it slices quickly and smoothly. "Crumbling" is largely eliminated even when your aim is exceptionally thin slices.

So first please read its additional advantages as described below. And then try Wonder Bread at once. Do this, if you wish, in the nature of a trial, no matter how much you may favor your present bread.

Its dietetic advantages

As the new-day bread for toast, Wonder Bread has won women by the millions. But in considering this, please do not overlook the wonderful things it does in fostering a healthy, happy family.

In the matter of calorific value it is most remarkable. Each loaf you buy contains more than 1100 calories.

Hence if eaten daily Wonder Bread replaces as much as 30% of all the energy your children burn up in play. Thus it promotes active minds and bodies; and brings a new glow to pallid faces.

It provides in addition much necessary protein. The food element, as you may know, that replaces worn-out body tissues and hence helps build sturdy muscles.

It contains also calcium and phosphate, now judged by dietetic authorities essential for growing children, in the strengthening of teeth and bones.

Thus "Wonder Bread three times daily" is the advice of present-day dietitians. In view of the facts described above, the wisdom of this is plain.

What goes into it

To maintain its quality day after day, we go to great lengths.

We employ a special staff of food experts to test each batch of ingredients. We specify a specially milled, short patent flour. Only the heart of the wheat berry is used.

We use double the usual amount of milk. And every drop is pasteurized.

We employ, too, a special method of baking. Slo-baking, it is called. A method that seals in the dietetic value of our ingredients and vastly improves their flavor.

So please try it at once. Simply to prove what it offers you and yours.

Note its dainty flavor. Its freshness. See how evenly it toasts. How easily it slices.

But remember! Ordinary breads are not like this. Avoid them. Insist on Wonder Bread always. Only from this one remarkable bread come the benefits described above. Hence, since it costs no more, to accept a substitute is folly."

Please Make This Test

Toast a slice of Wonder Bread and one of any ordinary bread same length of time. The Wonder Bread toast will be browned evenly over the entire surface. The other slice only partially.

DELICIOUS DRESSING FOR THE BIG BIRD

Besides Being Tasty It Also Supplements the Turkey Meat.

Many people ruin the dressing which is cooked in the fowl by packing it too closely in the bird.

When packed too heavily, the basting has no chance to season the dressing as the turkey is roasting.

The dressing which will not go into the turkey should be baked in a separate covered pan.

It should be moistened from time to time with some of the broth.

The turkey also should be basted with a little diluted cider seasoned with butter to give it the foreign beguiling flavor.

Sausage Dressing.

The one pound of sausage (bulk) one pound of chestnuts (slightly roasted). Two large stalks of celery, one medium onion, one large loaf of dry bread, 12 green olives, milk to soften the bread, three teaspoons of salt, half teaspoon of pepper, pinch of thyme, pinch of marjoram and three sprigs of parsley.

Soften the broken bread in enough milk to make it easy to handle.

Do not soak the bread or the dressing will form into a mass when heated through.

Cut the olives from the stones and run them through the food chopper with the celery and the onion.

Roast the chestnuts until they slip from the skins. Cut in halves for the dressing. In order to have one pound for the dressing, it is really necessary to buy two pounds as part must be thrown away.

Mix the bread crumbs with the milk, add the sausage and seasoning and mix in until it is well combined. Add the chestnuts and stuff the turkey until it is well filled, but not packed tightly.

The turkey should be placed in a hot oven long enough before dinner so that it will have plenty of time to cook thoroughly. From 20-30 minutes per pound should be allowed, a 10-pound bird taking about three hours to cook properly. The first of the roasting is done in a hot oven 450 degrees F. with the cover off, but after browning has started the turkey should be basted with the juice which has collected in the pan or with fresh melted fat, the cover then put on the pan and roasting finished more slowly at about 375 degrees F

The turkey is tender enough when a fork pierces the meat easily and it is ready to remove to a platter, so that the gravy may be made in the pan. This is most easily accomplished by stirring a thin paste made of flour and water into the juice already in the pan. Add boiling water and boil down to the right consistency. Season well with salt and pepper and add the finely chopped giblets, which have been cooked separately by boiling with water until tender.

THESE OYSTER PATTIES HAVE REAL APPETITE APPEAL

This Seafood Should Be Served Frequently in the Winter Season.

It is usually advisable to buy patty shells ready made, though, if they cannot be had, patties may be turned into shortcakes by using small baking powder biscuits as a base. Or good rich pie crust may be baked on inverted muffin pans and then filled with the oyster mixture.

Pick over one quart of oysters to remove any bits of shell, then scald them in their liquor until the edges of the oysters curl up. This only takes about five minutes.

Remove at once from the fire, as oysters toughen if they are overcooked. Meanwhile melt four tablespoons of butter and add four tablespoons of flour.

When well blended stir in one and one-half cups of milk, one-half teaspoon of salt and one-quarter teaspoon of paprika. Stir constantly until the sauce is thickened and boiling. Then add a tablespoon of minced parsley, one teaspoon lemon juice, one-half cup mushrooms, either canned or fresh, and the oysters. Reheat in a double boiler and serve in patty shells, on toast or with biscuits as described above.

WHY A FOWL IS TRUSSED

This Procedure Resorted to When Fowl are Roasted.

In order that the legs, wings and neck of fowl will not dry out, it is well to truss the fowl for roasting.

Fold back the wings so that they form a V on the back. Fold the neck back so it fits beneath the wings. Fasten close to the body asten legs close to the rump. Also fasten joints close to the body.

If dressing is to be used, stuff in body and then sew up openings A trussing or darning needle threaded with twine makes the matter of trussing simple.

Apple Souffle.

Four tart apples, four tablespoons cornstarch, one tablespoon flour, four tablespoons cold water, one tablespoon butter, one-quarter tablespoon salt, one cup boiling water, one teaspoon lemon, three eggs, sugar to taste. Pare, core and cook the apples. Rub through a sieve. Dissolve flour and cornstarch in cold water. Add the pulp, sugar and lemon and beat well. Remove from fire and add beaten yolks. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a shallow dish until puffed and brown.

ECONOMY VEGETABLE SAUCE

Very Acceptable When Served With Meat Loaf or Hamberger.

Mix any left-over cooked vegetables — asparagus tips, minced string beans, diced carrots, green peas, shredded celery, etc.—in any desired proportions.

To one cup mixed vegetables add two cups well-seasoned brown sauce.

Serve with beef balls, meat timbales or meat loaf.

About Cooking Wild Duck.

In roasting wild duck, as many people do not like the wild game flavor, if a stuffing is placed in the duck when it is roasted, it will remove much of this particular flavor. The duck is then served without the stuffing. An apple or onion bread stuffing is good to use.

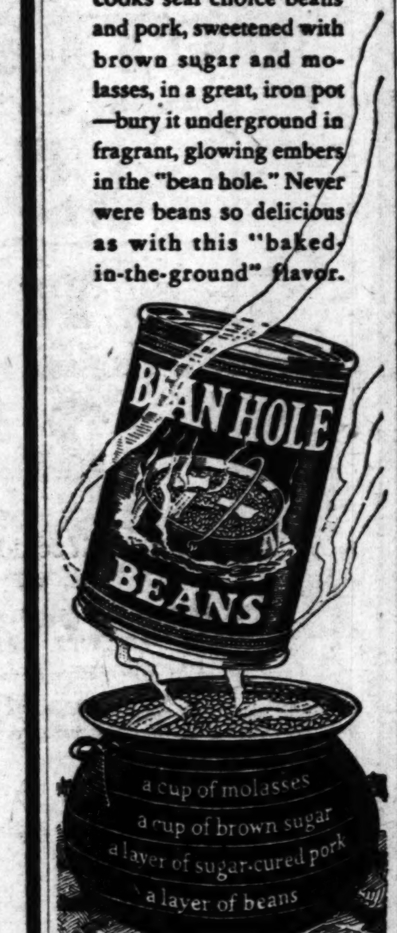
Brush potatoes with syrup and bake until brown, basting twice with remaining syrup.

Take YOUR family to the North Woods ~tonight

Serve them something new—something different! Bean Hole Beans! The old-time lumber cooks seal choice beans and pork, sweetened with brown sugar and molasses, in a great, iron pot—bury it underground in fragrant, glowing embers in the "bean hole." Never were beans so delicious as with this "baked-in-the-ground" flavor.



BEAN HOLE BEANS

give you this same distinctive "outdoors" flavor of the North Woods cooking. Van Camp food experts choose the choicest beans and sugar-cured pork, add just the right amount of brown sugar and molasses and send you this—the finest beans ever sold.

Easy to try—just empty the can in a buttered baking dish—in the oven for 20 minutes. Then the crisp, luscious, brown beans of the North Woods are ready for the most appetizing meal you can serve. Two sizes, medium, 15c; large, 25c.

CHARMING DESSERTS FOR THANKSGIVING

Hot or Cold Sweets Are Equally Appreciated for This Occasion.

Thanksgiving menu planning is now receiving thought in most households. On this day many of the dishes which were served on that first memorable Thanksgiving in 1621 when the Pilgrim fathers offered thanks for the harvest after the trials of their first year in America, will be included in the 1929 menu—turkey, or other fowl, mince meat or pumpkin pie, corn pudding, etc.

Most of the traditional Thanksgiving dishes, however good, are heavy and acid producing and need to be properly balanced in order that those who partake may not suffer any discomfort.

The introduction of fresh fruit into the menu serves as a balance for many of the dishes included in the holiday fare.

The dessert is the real problem of the Thanksgiving dinner. Father may want his old favorite steamed pudding or a mince pie, while some of the younger members of the family, who have possibly studied foods and their reaction, will hold out for a lighter dessert—something which can be prepared in the refrigerator.

Mother may let daughter experiment with the freezing compartment while she stirs up a dessert which she knows will please father.

Steamed Marmalade Pudding.

Take a half cup shortening, one cup sugar, four eggs, one and one-half cups marmalade, four tablespoons baking powder, six cups flour and one-fourth cup milk.

Cream shortening and add sugar. Add well beaten eggs and marmalade. Mix and sift baking powder and flour and add to mixture. Add milk if needed to moisten. Steam two and one-half hours in two-cylindrical molds.

Serve with orange sauce. Take five tablespoons butter, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup boiling water, three egg whites, juice of two oranges and one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice.

Cream butter with the sugar. Put into a saucepan over hot water and add boiling water. Beat in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, the orange and lemon juice and continue beating until light and foamy.

Fruit Fluff.

Take one tablespoon gelatine, one-fourth cup cold water, four bananas, juice of one orange, one tablespoon grated orange rind, one tablespoon lemon juice, one cup cream, whipped; few grains salt and three-fourths cup powdered sugar.

To the mashed bananas add fruit juices and one tablespoon grated orange rind. Add gelatine, which has been soaked for five minutes in cold water, and dissolved over hot. Beat in the sugar and salt and fold in the whipped cream. Pour into refrigerator tray and chill.

Three Fruits Ice.

Take three cups cold water, three cups sugar, one tablespoon gelatine, one cup boiling water, three oranges, three grapefruit, three lemons and three egg whites.

Put cold water and sugar into a saucepan and add grated rinds of one orange and one lemon. Add gelatine dissolved in boiling water. Allow to simmer for five minutes. Cut fruit into small pieces and add to the syrup with the stiffly beaten egg whites. Freeze and serve with meat course.

A NICE FRUIT COCKTAIL FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER

A Tasty Appetizer Equally Appropriate for the Evening Supper or Lunch.

Usually members of the family anticipate the Thanksgiving dinner for days, so doubtless a fruit cocktail will hardly be needed to stimulate the appetite, but used as an introduction to the meal it will help balance some of the foods to follow.

Fruit Potpourri.

Use one cup canned sliced peaches, one and one-half cups oranges cut in pieces, three tablespoons juice drained from canned pineapple, one-half cup drained crushed canned pineapple, one-third cup powdered sugar, six Maraschino cherries.

Discard white membrane from oranges while cutting them up and reserve all juice that escapes in the process. Mix oranges, peaches and pineapple and arrange in glasses. Add orange juice to sugar and add pineapple juice to this. Mix thoroughly and pour over the fruit.

Garnish each with a cherry. This amount makes six glasses.

LYONNAISE POTATOES

Process of Preparing Them Minutely Described.

First slice the potatoes very thin and in the frying be sure not to break the slices.

Cut the onions in very thin strips and brown them separately in butter.

Fry the potatoes to a delicate brown, salting them, and when ready to serve scatter the browned onions over the potatoes.

Too often the cook turns lyonnaise potatoes into hashed brown potatoes by cutting them in the process of sauteing.

FOR HOUSEWIVES WHO FAVOR VEGETABLES

Suggestions That Make a Vegetable Meal at Home Satisfying.

Plenty of people say that vegetable meals in a restaurant often taste better than those they have at home. This may be because the restaurant chef has learned to put real thought into the planning and preparation of his vegetable menus. He knows they must be good to be successful.

The points that are most essential and that must be kept in mind are that the vegetables used must be selected so that they contrast, but blend in flavors, so that they are different in texture and that they make a good color combination.

In addition to this, they must, of course, supply the necessary nutritive elements and they must be satisfying.

Much better results are obtained if the vegetables are cooked in a variety of ways, that is, some baked, some stewed, some boiled and perhaps occasionally some fried.

The nutritive value of vegetables has become so well established that it needs few words now. Nevertheless, we must remember that in planning a whole vegetable meal, we must use some food that supplies the protein, or tissue building material, usually supplied by meat.

Poached eggs are often served with a vegetable meal, as they belong to the same food group as meat; cheese also belongs to this group and cheese sauce can well be used to supply the necessary protein.

Cheese croquettes or a combination of vegetables and cheese in a croquette or fritter is a variation that is often popular.

In the vegetable meal selected for this week's menu we have used beets with a cheese sauce, buttered cabbage, baked potatoes and braised celery.

As will be seen this gives variation in the methods of cooking, in color and in texture. The nutritive elements required in the meal are met by the starch and minerals in the potato, by the minerals and roughage supplied by the cabbage; the braised celery adds more minerals and some fat because of the butter used in cooking it. The beets furnish carbohydrate, and protein and fat are supplied by the cheese, flour and milk used in cooking. Pineapple shortcake that makes the dessert adds to the satisfying properties of the meal.

Some form of hearty dessert may always be planned for this type of meal. Any fruit shortcakes, tapioca or rice puddings or steamed pudding or pie are good.

There are a great many combinations possible in planning vegetable plates, and many of the winter vegetables lend themselves particularly to the making of very satisfying main dishes.

Cabbage rolls that are made with a stuffing of peanuts and rice are excellent; stuffed baked squash is another good main vegetable dish and macaroni in combination with corn and tomatoes or a number of other vegetables will supply energy and be amply satisfying.

A good casserole of mixed vegetables served with dumplings cannot be beat by any meat pot pie, and has the added advantage of a complete meal in one dish.

Braised celery with creamed mushrooms is a rather unusual combination, but one that mushroom lovers greatly appreciate.

Broccoli boiled, then drained, covered with a cheese sauce and browned in the oven makes a substantial main dish.

Curried mixed vegetables served in a rice border will be sure to please those who like highly flavored foods.

Corn fritters served crisp and hot with tomato sauce and two green vegetables are another excellent and satisfying vegetable combination.

Any of these served with a plain green salad and a rather substantial dessert supply all of the nutritive elements needed in a meal for good nutrition.

A LA NEWBURG IS NICE WAY TO COOK SEA FOOD

Prepared in This Way Shell Fish Are Particularly Dainty and Tasty.

Crabs and lobsters are usually boiled when secured from dealer. However, if live fish are bought they should be dumped into a pot of boiling water and allowed to cook from 20 to 30 minutes, according to size. Tablespoonful of salt should be used to a gallon of water, and pot should be covered.

Lobster Newburg.

Cut into slices or dice the meat of one lobster. Saute in butter, add salt and pepper. When red, add one cupful cream, one cupful white sauce with one teaspoonful paprika. Boil five minutes. Add two well-beaten yolks of eggs with one-half cup of cream to the mixture. Remove at once from the fire. Stir in two tablespoonfuls of sherry flavoring. Serve with or on toast.

Shrimp, scallops, plain boiled fish, cut in cubes or with hard-boiled eggs, may be used in other Newburg combinations. They are delicious and not as rich.

Hearty Sandwiches.

Cream one cup deviled ham and one-half cup butter together and spread on a loaf of white bread before cutting one-fourth inch thick. Trim crusts and place sliced chicken between each two slices.

A NICE HAM LOAF

Mix together one pound raw ham and one pound fresh pork ground together twice, two cups cooked rice, one egg, one-half cup milk, and pepper.

Pat into a loaf shape and sprinkle with flour and bake one hour in a roasting pan, basting occasionally.

After the first half hour, potatoes may be placed around the loaf. The last half hour slices of pineapple may be laid over the loaf and allowed to brown. Serve hot or cold.

TASTY DISHES CAME FROM THE OLD SOUTH

This Type of Cookery, With Its Tantalizing Flavor, Is Again Fashionable.

In the South, perhaps more than in any other part of the country, the traditions of fine cooking have been held in high esteem. The fragrant, full-flavored dishes of the old plantations possessed a rare tang that defied classification.

There are many old-time dishes of which molasses, drawn from the great hogsheads, in the plantation storehouse, formed an essential part.

It was in the South that the first molasses was produced in America. Sugar cane probably was known centuries ago in India and China, but it was not brought to this country till 1750, and it was only in 1820 that the "ribbon" or "purple" cane was grown along the Mississippi and the tributary bayous in Louisiana.

And in the South cane-crushing time was looked forward to each year like Christmas. Then it was that everyone on the plantation came around to watch the 'lasses making.

Slowly the ancient "open kettle" method of sugar and molasses making gave way to modern processes on a larger scale.

But today we can get out the dog-eared family cook book and enjoy those tempting dishes of a past day.

Virginia Baked Ham.

Prepare a boiled ham by sticking a liberal quantity of cloves at regular intervals over the entire surface of the ham. Spread with molasses into which has been stirred two tablespoons of mustard. Sprinkle with bread crumbs, and bake.

Southern Sweet Potatoes.

Boil and peel medium-sized sweet potatoes. Brush them with melted fat, then lay separately in a frying pan in which an inch of molasses has been poured. Place over a slow fire and turn frequently until candied and a little brown.

Two tablespoons of butter and the juice of one lemon added to the molasses give a flavor that is very pleasing.

Molasses Mousse.

Four eggs, one cup molasses, two tablespoons orange juice, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, pinch of salt and one pint cream whipped.

Beat eggs very light, add molasses and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until it thickens. Place dish in a pan of ice and stir until creamy and cold. Add orange juice, cinnamon and salt. When well blended, gradually pour over stiffly beaten cream. Fill mold and freeze.

Lemon Cup Cakes.

One-half cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one egg, one-half cup molasses, grated rind of one lemon, two cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one and one-half teaspoons cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-half cup milk.

Cream butter and sugar. Add beaten egg, molasses and grated rind of lemon. Sift flour, baking powder, spice and salt together. Add alternately the dry ingredients and milk to first mixture.

Bake in buttered gem pans 20 minutes in moderate oven.

INDIANS TAUGHT PILGRIM MOTHERS TO USE POP CORN

Red Skins Enjoyed Pop Corn Years Before Thanksgiving Was Instituted.

Pop corn seasoned with salt and butter and served in an attractive bowl makes a welcome and wholesome addition to an evening's entertainment.

Both the kiddies and grown-ups can eat it in satisfying quantities which makes it doubly pleasing to parents who are particular about their children's diet.

Then, too, pop corn can be served in many delicious and appetizing forms such as:

Chocolate Pop Corn.

Boil together granulated sugar, butter, chocolate and three tablespoons of water. When the mixture spins a long thread, pour it while hot over three quarts of freshly popped corn. Stir until all of the kernels are coated.

Care should be taken to see that the chocolate covering is neither too thick nor too thin. If it is too thick, the pop corn becomes sticky and hard to eat. If it is too thin, it soaks into the pop corn so quickly that a part of its attractiveness is lost. Nothing, however, can spoil the delicious flavor of chocolate pop corn.

MOCK STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

Its Resemblance to the Real Thing Will Surprise You.

Put cranberries and apples through food chopper and measure after they are chopped.

Add sugar and pecan meats, let stand 5 minutes before putting between layers and on top of sponge cake.

Garnish with whipped cream.

N. B. This is very much like strawberry shortcake.

Dainty Prune Whip.

Pick over and wash one-third pound of prunes, soak several hours in cold water to cover; cook in the same water until tender, remove stones and rub prunes through a fine sieve, add one-half cup of sugar and cook five minutes, the mixture should be of the consistency of marmalade. Beat the whites of five eggs until stiff, add prune mixture gradually when cold and one-half tablespoon lemon juice. Pile lightly in buttered pudding dish, bake 30 minutes in slow oven and serve with a boiled custard sauce when cold.

A CAN OF PEACHES HAS POSSIBILITIES

This Versatile Product Adaptable to Breakfast, Dinner or Supper.

This is a season when canned fruits become popular. The question "What shall I have for dessert?" often gets a canned answer, which is a very satisfactory one.

Peaches, because of their natural qualities, are perhaps the best-liked canned fruit. Their size, ease of preparation, flavor and firmness all contribute to their desirability. Then, too, peaches which come out of a can may be used in a variety of ways ranging from a breakfast fruit to an elaborate dessert.

For breakfast we suggest using a can of peaches which has been in the refrigerator overnight. There is nothing more unpalatable than lukewarm fruit, and nothing more pleasing than chilled fruit. Serve the peaches and juice with ready-to-eat cereal.

For a luncheon salad, fill the cavities of peaches with cheese which has been pressed through a coarse sieve. Sprinkle with shredded, salted almonds and serve on lettuce, garnished with mayannaise. The salad may be accompanied by bran bread and butter sandwiches. Cookies or plain cake will round out the meal.

Peach pie has a welcome sound and the recipe given here is a glorified peach pie. Line a pie pan with pastry and sprinkle it with fine crumbs (to absorb excess juice). Rub together six tablespoons of butter and three tablespoons of sugar. Add one cup peach syrup, three-quarters cup brown sugar, two tablespoon lemon juice and a dash of cinnamon. Cook, stirring constantly until thick. Arrange halves of canned peaches in the pie pan and cover with cooked syrup mixture. Cover with strips of pastry and bake in a hot oven until the pastry is done.

Sometimes pickled peaches are wanted. Drain the juice from a can of large peaches. Stick four or five cloves in each peach. Add vinegar and stick cinnamon to the syrup. Place the peaches in a baking dish, cover with the syrup and bake in a slow oven for one-half hour.

A quick dessert is made by putting half a peach in each buttered muffin pan. Cover with a soft, rich biscuit dough. Bake in a hot oven. Remove the "shortcakes" from the pans and serve peach side up, with cream or hard sauce.

Among the more obvious ways to use canned peaches are in rice compote, tapioca pudding, custard, upside-down cake and with ice cream.

THIS BOSTON CREAM PIE IS A GREAT FAVORITE

This Sweetmeat, Although Baked in a Pie Pan, Is Made of Cake Pastry.

Beat the yolks of three eggs until light. Then add gradually three-fourths cup of sugar. Continue beating until well blended. Stir in one-fourth cup cold water and one teaspoon of lemon juice or vanilla extract. Sift twice, one cup of flour mixed with one teaspoon of baking powder and a few grains of salt. Stir into the liquid mixture and then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs.

Pour into a well greased deep pie pan and bake in a moderate oven from 20 to 30 minutes. The baking time depends on the depth of the pan.

When done turn out, cool, split and fill with the cream filling. Ice the top with plain sugar icing and garnish with bits of bright colored, stiff jelly.

For the filling soak one tablespoon of gelatin in three tablespoons of cold water for 10 minutes. Then stir over hot water until the gelatin is dissolved. Add one cup of milk, one-fourth cup of powdered sugar and one well beaten egg.

Place the bowl in a pan of cold water and stir until the mixture begins to thicken. Then fold in one-half cup of whipped cream, one teaspoon of vanilla or any desired flavor. When the mixture is as thick as cream, spread it in a thick layer on the cake.

CASSEROLE COOKERY

This Form of Cooking Saves Both Time and Labor.

Many casserole dishes may be prepared in the morning and kept in the refrigerator until time to put in the oven. This is a great help to the woman without a maid who wishes to entertain.

For example, a casserole of chicken, or sweetbreads and mushrooms with a savory sauce, may be prepared early and with the main dish out of the way there will not be such a rush at the last minute.

Or, if a late guest delays the meal slightly, unlike steak or chops the casserole dish will not spoil on standing. Casseroles also save dishwashing, as they play the double role of a baking and serving dish.

Fried Noodles.

They are boiled and thoroughly drained and dried between towels before they are dropped into the deep hot fat and cooked until they are a golden brown. Some people saute them in butter after they have been boiled and well drained.

For the Holiday Feast.

Golden oranges lend themselves admirably to this holiday feast. Colorful orange cups may be used for service for either the cocktail, the salad or the fruit ice.

POINTS TO KEEP IN MIND WHEN PURCHASING FISH

Housewives Should Include Fish in the Menu As It Is Wholesome.

In buying fish there are some points that should be kept in mind in order to be sure of good quality.

The flesh of fish should be elastic and it should be firm.

The eyes should be bright, the gills red, the skin shiny and the scales should stick closely to the skin.

Sometimes fish is frozen before shipping and is sold in the frozen state. Frozen fish is a good food providing it is thawed just before using, and used very soon after thawing.

To thaw frozen fish, soak it in cold water until the ice melts. If fish is fresh when frozen, it loses none of its nutritive value in the process.

Fresh fish should never be soaked before using.

I. W. W. TO ENTER MINERS' FIGHT IN ILLINOIS DISTRICT 12

Organization Issues Call for Meeting, Tentatively Set for Dec. 15 at Collinsville.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 22.—With six factions already involved in the Illinois miners' union situation, a seventh group today was preparing for a campaign for a foothold in District 12.

With the district and international forces at grips for control of the Illinois district and with the Southwest Miners' Union, the Northern Illinois Miners' Union and two factions of the national miners' union retaining a grip in some portions of the state, the Industrial Workers of the World are ready for a campaign for members.

Call has gone forth from the general executive board at Chicago for a general convention in Illinois, with the tentative meeting place selected as Collinsville and the tentative date Dec. 15. In its call, the board pledges the entire resources of the organization, including eight papers and magazines to the campaign.

Following the Illinois campaign, the organization proposes to make similar campaigns in Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, West Virginia and Alabama.

TAKE TIME TO PLAN THANKSGIVING MEAL

To Make the Dinner a Success Plan It at Least a Week Before Time.

Is there anything which brings up fonder memories than the Thanksgiving day dinner—the thoughts of the roasted turkey, the stuffing, and the cranberry sauce, with its gaudy color making a note of contrast to the browns of the turkey?

Besides these there are the sweet potatoes and the squash, the pie, pumpkin or mince, and the heaping bowl of cracked nuts and fruit to finish off with just as if everyone wasn't more than satisfied with what came before.

Perhaps the food alone isn't responsible for the ever lingering memory—it may be the thoughts of the assembled group of people, the relatives and the friends who helped make the occasion one to remember.

At any rate, it was and still is a happy custom, a time when every house wants to have people gathered within its walls to feast and make merry.

There is another side to the Thanksgiving feast which cannot be overlooked.

And that is the task of preparing the joyous feast—if the burden falls on one person, it isn't so joyous for her, unless of course it is a mother who gets enough pleasure out of the keen enjoyment which she is able to give her family.

With a little co-operation and previous planning, the morning of Thanksgiving day can be left fairly free, at least with time for church or for visiting with the guests. There are many preparations which can be made the day before. With this menu as a sample much of the work of preparing the meal can be got out of the way ahead of time.

COLD WEATHER FOOD NEEDS DIFFER FROM SUMMER NEEDS

The Body Requires Additional Heavy Fuel Foods to Keep It Warm.

Cold weather brings need for heartier meals—meals made up of the heavier foods, including more meat, cereals, hearty desserts, etc.

The body needs more fuel to keep it warm and to provide for the increased activity, and fuel can only be supplied by food.

There is, however, danger in using too much of the acid-forming foods and so producing a type of acidosis.

This can be prevented by including in the diet a good supply of vegetables and fruits, especially the citrus fruits—oranges, lemons and grapefruit.

Fortunately, these are at their best and cheapest at this season. They are perhaps the best source we have of the alkaline-ash-forming foods, or foods that are necessary to neutralize the acids formed in the digestion of protein and starchy foods.

SAVORY MUSHROOM SAUCE

Particularly Recommended to Serve With Broiled Steak.

Cook one-half cup sliced mushrooms with one-quarter cup butter, a few grains pepper and one-half tablespoon lemon juice for five minutes.

Remove mushrooms from butter. Add one-quarter cup sifted flour to the butter and stir until well blended. Add two cups well-seasoned brown stock and stir constantly until smooth and creamy.

Add mushrooms and one-half teaspoon salt. A few grains paprika may be added.

Serve with broiled steak or beef balls.

CHILDREN NEED MILK

But, Oftentimes, It Is Difficult to Make Them Drink It.

A nutrition specialist gives the following suggestions as a means of persuading reluctant children to drink their daily quota of milk.

She says she has found that children are partial to small colored glasses and little pitchers. They like to pour their own milk, and there is no reason why they cannot be taught to do this neatly.

The small colored glasses are an inexpensive form of persuasion.

Sometimes little cups decorated with toys or figures answer the purpose equally well.

Combination Salad.

Combine the potato, apple and celery. Add the peanuts, coarsely chopped, and the orange pulp cut in small pieces. Mix with dressing. Recipe makes six servings.

Cress Salad.

Wash clean and pick over cress, discarding wilted parts. Arrange on serving dishes and place sliced beets on top. Pour over honey and lemon dressing.

For a Bridge Party.

For Thanksgiving bridge serve Horn of Plenty salad. Secure ice cream cone shells. Lay on salad plate and fill with orange and grape salad having the contents pouring out onto the plate.

Make Omelet Light.

If a pinch of powdered sugar and a pinch of cornstarch are added to egg yolks when making an omelet, it will not fall.

Baked Cheese Dish.

This is a hearty dish which is easily prepared. Use one-fourth cup whole wheat cereal, two eggs, one-fourth cup grated cheese, one tablespoon butter, one-third tablespoon mustard, cayenne pepper and salt to taste.

Cook cereal and milk five minutes; add butter, yolks of eggs, mustard, salt, cayenne pepper and cheese; then fold in carefully the well-beaten whites of eggs, pour into a greased baking dish and bake in a quick oven 20 minutes.

Puss-in-Boots Griddle Cakes.

Use three-fourth cup flour, three level teaspoons baking powder, one egg, beaten light, one-half teaspoon salt, three-fourths cup whole wheat cereal, one cup milk and one tablespoon melted butter.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; add the cereal, the egg mixed with the milk, the butter, and stir all together. Bake at once on a hot, well-griddle.

CAKE FLOUR

A million women have found the flour for perfect cakes!

When more than a million women adopt a new cake flour within a single year, you may be sure that this cake flour will do some surprising things for you!

Here, at last, is a cake flour which women pronounce perfect. Baking tests show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a soft, fine texture, the sort that really melts in your mouth. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

No matter how expert a cake maker you may be, you'll find a new pleasure in using this improved cake flour. Pillsbury's Cake Flour is made from a new blend of certain rare types of wheat, unusually soft, milled to a silky fineness. Test it for yourself—try it with the most delicate, difficult recipe you know—it will prove its value before you have used the first package!

Look for the above display on your grocer's counter tomorrow

Here is a new idea in cake plates—and a most sensible idea. It stands up from the table, on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass, in a graceful, attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure, worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

Here is a new idea in cake plates—and a most sensible idea. It stands up from the table, on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is

CENTENARY OF FRENCH POSSESSION OF ALGIERS

Event to Be Celebrated Throughout Colony Next Year.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—France, whose size of colonies is second only to England's far-flung family, will celebrate next year the centenary of its possession of Algeria.

From January to July all over that North African country there will be fetes and fairs and games, the climax coming in late April or early May, when the President of the Republic visits the larger cities and reviews an international naval display off the Algierian coast.

It was in Febrary, 1830, that the French occupied Algiers and drove out the Turks who had occupied the colony for several centuries.

The trouble arose from a debt. The French Government had run up a bill with a commercial house in Algiers between 1783 and 1798, and payment had been postponed again and again for 30 years or so. One day the French consul, Deval, called to pay his respects to the Sultan's representative, Hussein Pasha. The Turk asked when he was going to pay something besides his respects. Argument waxed hot and the Turk seized a fly-swatter and slapped it across Deval's astonished face.

The French Government demanded satisfaction. The Turks refused, whereupon France sent 104 warships to Algiers with an army of 40,000 men who proceeded to take the town, and, by gradual stages, the whole country.

As elsewhere in North Africa the French have built fine roads and have exploited natural resources in a fruitful manner. Exportations have gradually grown, and for some products, notably cotton, the increase in recent years has been amazing. The grain crop is large and Algerian wines are good enough to find a market in France.

In the larger cities, Algiers, Constantine and Oran, there will be expositions next year to show the visitor something of Algeria's history from pre-Roman times through the various dominations, Roman, Arab, Turkish and French.

There will be exhibitions of books, art, carpets, wines and other interesting things. For amusement each village will have its own fetes, and the larger centers a plenteous program of football, horse racing, aviation meets and other sport events.

Algeria has a growing tourist trade, so there are modern hotels there, with plenty of beds and bars and baths.

SPAIN PLANS SHIP PROGRAM MAKING IT SIXTH POWER

MADRID, Nov. 22.—Spain is planning to recuperate some of its last prestige of other centuries on the seas by pursuing a naval construction policy which officials of the Ministry of Marine say will put Spain sixth among the world Powers.

The vessels, some of which were begun about two years ago, are to be built in Spanish shipyards at Cartagena, Cadiz and Ferrol and will all be under construction by June, 1932. Completion of the program is expected in three years.

At present the Spanish navy is made up of 63 ships of all classes, mostly smaller craft. The largest are the Alfonso XIII and the Jaime I, each of 15,700 tons displacement.

Officials said that in its new construction program Spain would continue to cling to the idea of building small craft, as it was felt that it would be useless to try to compete in extravagant expenditure with the larger Powers in launching dreadnaughts.

Among the new boats planned are eight destroyers of 1800 tons, 12 submarines of 1000 tons, and various auxiliary craft.

COURT DROPS REBELLION CHARGE AGAINST STRIKERS

MARION, N. C., Nov. 22.—A defense motion of non-suit was granted by Judge G. V. Cowper, presiding in the insurrection and rebellion trial of Alfred Hoffman, an organizer for the United Textile Workers of America and four others in McDowell Superior Court here today.

Judge Cowper said the evidence was not sufficient to hold the men. Defense counsel made a motion for non-suit at completion of State's evidence late yesterday.

Those on trial with Hofman are: Del Lewis, Wes Fowler, Lawrence Hogan and J. Hugh Hall.

Bond of the defendants on charges of rioting and resisting an officer which are still pending was increased by Judge Cowper. The date for trial on these other charges has not been set.

RAILROAD SETTLES STRIKE

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 22.—Most of the 500 employes of the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad who walked out on strike a week ago have returned to their jobs, George P. McNear, president of the railroad, said in a statement issued yesterday. New employes have been engaged to replace the trainmen, conductors and firemen who have not returned, McNear said adding that he had received no word from the strikers or their organizations.

McNear said the railroad was planning to form an employes' association, which would include insurance, savings and pensions. The strike was called because of dissatisfaction of workmen regarding the manner in which the railroad handled individual complaints of employes.

POSTMASTER TRAVELS 7500 MILES BY AIR

Michener Describes His Flights Since May on Official Business.

Postmaster Michener has made four extended airplane trips embracing Washington to the east, Los Angeles to the west, northward to Minneapolis and as far south as Sweetwater, Tex.—more than 7500 miles altogether since May 1.

He visited Washington on official business, attended several postal service conventions and the National Air Races at Cleveland. Several of his journeys he made aboard mail planes. He inspected mail facilities at some of the airports he visited.

The trip to Washington, early in May, was made in a large Fokker plane of the Universal lines in six hours and 10 minutes of actual flying time, one stop being made on the way. On this trip the plane encountered a severe storm in crossing Indiana, delaying its arrival at St. Louis until after dark.

About a month later Michener flew to Sweetwater, Tex., about 800 miles from St. Louis, leaving St. Louis at 8:30 a. m. and arriving at his destination at 4 p. m. the same day. The return journey the next day was made in one hour less. The carrier on this occasion was a large Ford tri-motored plane of the Southwest Air Fast Express.

The next flight, from St. Louis to the National Air Races at Cleveland the last week in August, was made in the Gold Shell, a tri-motored plane of the Shell Oil Co. After two days in Cleveland, Postmaster Michener flew to Chicago in a Standard Oil Co. plane, and from there to Minneapolis in the regular service plane of the Northwest Airways Co., where he attended the Letter Carriers' convention.

In September, Michener traveled by air to Los Angeles to attend the PostMasters' Convention, a distance of 3600 miles for the entire trip.

"We left St. Louis about 7:30 a. m. Sept. 14," Michener said, "and arrived at Omaha by noon, flying in a plane of the Universal Air Lines. We left Omaha in a Boeing plane, and made stops at Lincoln, Neb., Cheyenne and Rock Springs, Wyo., stopping for the night at Salt Lake City, Utah. At noon Sunday we proceeded to Sacramento, Cal., arriving at 5 p. m. the same day. We went on next morning to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

"The flight from Los Angeles to St. Louis was made in a tri-motored Fokker plane of the Western Air Express. There was a party of eight passengers aboard, among whom was a bridal pair. We left Los Angeles at 5 a. m. and arrived in Kansas City at 7 p. m. that same evening after making three stops. I flew from there to St. Louis in two hours and 15 minutes, having completed in two weeks a journey of 3600 mile in the air, flying in al 7500 miles since May 1.

"The development and growth of the air mail and passenger service is one of the outstanding accomplishments of the past two years, dating from the time Col. Lindberg made his flight from New York to Paris."

COMMUNISTS TRYING TO BEAT UNIONS IN ORGANIZING SOUTH

Radicals Said to Have Gained Considerable Strength in Birmingham District.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 22.—Northern Alabama has become the new industrial battleground, with the Communist party working with fervid activity to become intrenched before the American Federation of Labor starts its movement to organize the South, according to news from Birmingham. Tons of communist literature have been flooding the State, with Birmingham, Anniston and Gadsden the principal points of attack. In Birmingham alone the enrollment in the Communist party is set at well toward the 1000 mark. Anniston has several hundred, as has Gadsden.

While in Birmingham efforts have not centered particularly on one industry, the primary movement of the party seems to be toward the textile industries. According to information, the party has gained in Birmingham considerable strength among the building trades. Their strength in this particular field has been estimated at nearly 600. The organization efforts in Birmingham have been along the lines of organizing all trades into one union.

A Piece of Her Mind

By Elsie McCormick

WOMEN AND WEALTH

IF money continues to flow on in its present channels, it won't be so very long before women have practically all the wealth in the United States.

This plaintive little prophecy was drawn from irreproachable Wall street sources by Walter B. Pitkin and stated not long ago in the American Magazine. Already, he says, women have 41 per cent of the country's individual wealth and they are making graceful gestures in the direction of the other 59.

In case you don't believe in the coming of a financial matriarchate, just listen to a few statistics. Authorities tell us that women get 70 per cent of all estates left by men, and 64 per cent of those left by women. They are scheduled to gather a golden harvest of $76,000,000,000 in life insurance. They make up more than half of the Federal income-tax payers, form the majority of the stockholders in our large corporations and include in their numbers almost half of the nation's millionaires. Besides, some 8,500,000 of them are awarded personal pay envelopes at the end of every week.

Nor is this study of feminine wealth complete. It does not include the sparkling carbon presented to chorus girls, or the returns netted by the mysterious pants burglars on Staten Island.

It is evident from all this that the little daughters of Midas are soon going to own what is technically known as the works. Fathers continue to favor them over sons in their wills, both because of a feeling of chivalry and because of the American idea that no young man is worth anything unless he has battled his way up from the economic cellar.

Life insurance will no doubt continue to be a one-sided proposition. Every man is expected to take out a policy to protect his weak and helpless wife, but the husband who wants his spouse to be insured for his benefit is usually suspected of a desire to push her off a cliff. These and similar factors have caused the golden current to run into feminine hands.

There has been a great change from the day when the English common law allowed a woman to own no property and when she had to beg her husband or guardian for every handkerchief.

Visitors such as Beverly Nichols who are astounded at the self-assurance of the American wife forget that her confidence is grounded on a safe footing of bullion. Having been left money by her father or other male relatives and having the ability to capture a pay check barehanded, she does not have to go through the old-fashioned genuflections.

With a large number of solid gold Venuses threatening to rule the country, the most important question at hand is how the feminine aristocracy of wealth is going to spend its money. My personal opinion is that they will by no means follow in the footsteps of the masculine millionaires.

Take, for instance, the matter of the beaux arts. They will not lack patronage, but it will undoubtedly be a cold day for the old masters.

While interested in looking at the old canvases, most women would rather collect painters than paintings. Moved by a combination of material interest and a faint dash of the romantic, they will devote much money to subsidizing young artists and providing wall space on which to hang their creations. It will be a gala day for the struggling young person with a sense of beauty, particularly if he does his struggling in an effective studio costume.

Men patrons, being proverbially conservative, are much more fond of looking for their geniuses in a cemetery.

Indeed, this interest in poets, painters and musicians of the newer and more bizarre schools may turn out to be a very good thing. The classic forms of expression have long been holding art in a mold; it may be that there are many new versions of beauty waiting outside the barriers of convention. The only sad part of it is that geniuses who do not look like Keats will be under a severe disadvantage.

There will be similar changes in philanthropy. Big institutions with life term directors will suffer very much, women donors seldom being generous to good works which they cannot help to manage. This will mean that many new charities will spring up in which the leading contributors will be permitted to sit on the board.

Feminine givers are also a little reluctant to contribute to organizations whose objects and processes they cannot easily understand. Vague searchings for a fourth dimension are not likely to interest them; if they give money for research, they want to see the results through a microscope or read about them in an impressively large but not too complicated report.

While pure science will probably be left mourning on the almshouse steps, social research will enter upon the most prosperous era of its career. Any foundation that can issue reports on child labor, widows' pensions or the condition of daughters of joy may be sure of many substantial gifts from the lady Midases.

Incidentally, this growing accumulation of feminine wealth is going to create a new variety of college president. The current type is picked out chiefly because of ability to mix with men and induce them to give a little donation to dear old Wahoo. He must be brisk, businesslike, and not so scholarly as to embarrass the more rough-hewn contributors.

When women begin to give heavily to colleges they will have to produce presidents with an Oxford accent, a charming but pensive manner, and a gift for handling buttered toast.

It is not an exaggeration to say that this shifting of wealth into feminine hands is going to have vast consequences. Quite likely it will change our ideas of artistic beauty, determine to some extent the progress of science, and create new fashions in men.

I could go on predicting like this for quite a while. Unfortunately, the 6 o'clock whistle just blew, and the Sibyls' local to which I belong does not permit its members to work overtime.

BEAVER

In mountain stream so clear and cool
The beaver builds a swimming pool.
He gnaws down trees to make them fall
Across the stream to form a wall.

He builds his house of mud and sticks,
Out in the pond where he can fix
An underwater passageway,
And have a good safe place to stay.

He sits and watches from his dam,
And slaps his broad, flat tail kerwham!
Upon the water when he sees
An enemy among the trees.

When winter days are gray and dark,
The beaver feeds on twigs and bark
That he has wisely stored away,
Instead of playing every day.

Daily Story
FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

The Duck's Bill

THE Little Black Clock had brought John and Peggy to a farm. It looked like a very old-fashioned kind of a farm, and the Little Black Clock said that it was, and that he had put the time back quite a distance.

"Of course not the way I turned it back when we saw the water clock, but I've put it back for to-night's trip, too."

Near the farm was a little brook, and wading in the brook were some ducks.

They were having a meal and were enjoying themselves so much. Between nibbles they quacked-quacked their pleasure at what they were finding.

It was fun to watch them. They ducked their heads down in the water, they shook themselves, they waddled up on the banks and they seemed to keep very busy without doing very much of anything.

"The leader duck is saying something," the Little Black Clock said. "Let's listen.

The leader duck had just had his dessert. At least Peggy decided it was his dessert, for, as she said, he had been eating steadily and had certainly reached dessert time by now.

"That was just the right size for my beak or my bill," said the leader duck, or as he called himself, Leader Drake.

"And," he added, "I've decided something. Friends of the brook, hearken to what I say."

Economies

Do not be ashamed to plan carefully and closely. It is necessary in these very high-priced times.

Notice how much staple food is used each month and see if there is any way by which the amount can be cut down.

By careful planning, many inexpensive materials can be made attractive to serve as substitutes for meat and the family will thank you for a pleasant change.

2. Does my writing impress you as being weak for a boy?

RICHARD.

1. I think that you would show far better taste if you give your fiancee a gift of some other kind—and there are so many things that now, since you are engaged to her, you can give her. I am sure too that she would admire your taste more if you plan to give her something else, and leave to her the buying of such intimate gifts for herself. The fact that there is a doubt in your mind as to the good taste of giving this gift seems to argue that this point of view is sound—don't you think so?

2. Your writing is fairly good, I think, with a great possibility of being excellent, if you took more care with it. I'd advise you to omit the curlycues from your capitals—make them more forthright—form your letters more carefully, and try to write just a bit smaller. It is best, too, not to abbreviate the name of your state—you should be so proud of that state that you would be unwilling to abbreviate its fine name—and spell all right like this, with two words, not one. There is no such word as alright!

"At Home."

I LIVE in the West and my parents live in the East. I am planning to be married at a date yet uncertain, sometime in the near future. Should announcements be mailed from the city in which my parents live, as they will, of course, make the announcement? Or should I mail them from San Francisco?

2. In what manner should my new address be given in the announcement—by enclosing a card, or on the announcement itself, in the lower left corner? I should not need a real "at home" card, for most of our friends live in the East, but as it will be impossible, of course, to write each one individually of the address at the time, I want to include it in the announcement in the proper manner.

N. J. L.

1. It doesn't really make so much difference from which place the announcements are mailed, so long as the announcements carry the name of your parents, and they sponsor them. Mail them from the place that is more convenient, but remember that on the announcements the place in which the marriage took place must be engraved.

2. It is best not to make the "At Home" announcement on the card with the marriage announcement. It detracts I think, from the dignity and completeness of the marriage announcement.

If you wish, you may have a separate card engraved for the "At Home" card. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Little
At Home
After the first of December.
Two Home Place
New Haven, Cal.

Or, if you do not wish to have these cards, I suggest a simpler form—and in excellent taste, too—the form of inclosing the "Mr. and Mrs." card, which will also be of great use and convenience to you after your marriage. This, as you know, is a visiting-card engraved with your name and your husband's—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Little—of a size larger than the card that would carry your name only. In the lower right corner will be engraved the address, in letters of the same type used in the name, but smaller. Enclose one of these cards with each announcement, and it will, I am sure, especially in your case, be just what you want.

Chinese Maids Pray Moon for Husbands

NATIONALIST Government decrees notwithstanding, Chinese maids of the middle and working classes persisted this year in their annual entreaties to the moon for husbands. The prayers were offered at midnight on the fifteenth day of the eighth moon in accordance with a custom of immemorial age.

It was a part of the mid-autumn festival, against which nationalist reformers have railed in vain. The more enlightened Chinese have given up this and similar superstitions, but they constitute a decided minority.

While the maids and spinsters were praying for mates, the rest of the populace enjoyed its annual feast of roast pork and moon cakes. It required more than 10,000 hogs to satisfy the appetite of Shanghai Chinese alone this year.

Equal parts of ammonia and turpentine will remove obstinate paint stains from clothing.

The most expensive linoleum will not look well on the floor if laid incorrectly.

COMBINING business with pleasure is the modern aim of Miss Loranda Prochnik, young debutante daughter of the minister from Austria.

Although she makes her bow to Washington society this season, Miss Prochnik has taken a part-time position in one of the leading photographic studios here. Late hours during the social season when she is attending dinners and balls almost every night are not allowed to interfere with her business career. She works four hours a day at the studio.

HEARTS HAVEN

By Mildred Barbour

The Struggle of The Heart and Conscience of Christine Farr

CHAPTER 5.

KING OF THE HOUSEHOLD

CHRISTINE lay in bed and idly watched the June breeze ruffle the curtains. Birds were singing in the sunlight of the tiny garden. The scent of roses and honeysuckle drifted in to her.

The room was filled with roses. The dressing-table, Harvey's chiffonier, the bedside table, all bore bowls and vases filled with luxurious blossoms. Cards were still attached to some of the offerings. The nurse was too busy to attend to such small details. From where she lay, Christine could see Lewis' card which bore the inscription: "Congratulations and best wishes for all three of you—now."

Christine smiled happily, but a bit wanly. She turned her face back to the window and relaxed into the pillows. Never had she known such exquisite happiness, such exquisite peace. The black hours of pain were fading from her memory. Just to lie still among the soft, scented pillows, was heavenly.

And even more heavenly was the the thought that in the adjoining room her son slept in his ruffled bassinet. Her five-day-old son! Hers and Harvey's!

How they had wanted the baby! How they had planned for him! How tender and thoughtful Harvey had been! How mad with anxiety during the long, dark, pain-filled hours of that hideous night!

Tears of weakness and of joy filled Christine's eyes.

"Now, now, Mrs. Blanton!" The nurse had entered silently. "There is nothing in the world to cry about. Of course, you're dreadfully weak, but in a month or so, you'll be fine and strong again."

"And yet they say that it's always the man who forgets anniversaries!"

"I was crying because I was so very happy," Christine confessed. "May I have the baby, if I'm awfully good and quiet?"

"Not till five o'clock. He won't wake until then," decided the despot of the household, and Christine sighed and finally slept.

IT was dusk when she awoke, a cool, fragrant dusk. Someone was bending over her. "Harvey!" she said softly. Then, "Where's the baby? Miss Seldon told me I could have him as soon as he waked up."

"The litle beggar's being bathed," laughed Harvey. "Never mind him. I told her not to bring him in till I'd had a minute or two with you. Darling, do you know what day this is?"

She shook her head absently.

"Time gets all mixed up, when you're sick. I suppose it's Friday. Baby came Sunday."

"No, no, sweetheart, I don't mean the day of the week. I mean the day of the year."

"What difference does it make?" she asked, her eyes on the door to the adjoining room!

He shook his head.

"Remember what we were doing around this hour—a year ago today?"

And she said softly:

"Ooh! It was a year ago today!"

"You bet! We were motoring home from Stacy where we'd just been married. And I have to remind you of it! And yet they say that it's always the man who forgets anniversaries!"

"AH, but everybody doesn't have a beautiful baby to think about when an anniversary rolls around!" she said softly. "Darling, I do remember every bit of it. How you stopped the car every time we found a bit of deserted road. And at the little inn, where we had supper, just when I was trying not to look newly-married, you dropped the marriage certificate out of your pocket right in the middle of the floor. Oh, do you remember the certificate—all lilies and roses around the edge. And the minister said we could send it back and have them gilded, if we liked!"

She was laughing softly, and at that moment the door was opened briskly and the nurse's voice announced:

"Mrs. Blanton, your son is calling."

With a quick gesture, Christine pushed Harvey aside and held out eager arms.

"Oh, the darling! Why, he's grown since this morning. He gets bigger and handsomer every day."

Harvey gazed down upon the pretty picture of his wife and son, while the nurse beamed upon all three.

"A splendid boy, Mr. Blanton. You should feel great pride."

Harvey looked at her a trifle helplessly, for one of his aggressiveness. Then his eyes went back to Christine. She was utterly absorbed in her son.

"I guess so," he said rather uncertainly. "But I certainly seem to be a back number."

THE WAY OF A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall

THE BACHELOR'S TAX

"ITALIAN Bachelors Rather Pay Tax Than Wed"—
That newspaper headline tells women what they're not surprised to hear—
That Mussolini has guessed wrong again!
Some little time ago he laid a tax on the unmarried men of Italy
As a part of his campaign for large families of cannon fodder.
What has been the result?
Vital statistics for Italy, during the first nine months of 1929
Show that marriages have dropped to 188,183—
And this is 4000 fewer than during the corresponding period last year.
Mussolini simply hung a premium on bachelorhood—
He advertised to the Italian young man that he must pay to stay unmarried.
And since the higher the price tag, the more most persons value anything—
The young man, in an increasing number of cases, evidently has considered that being a bachelor is worth it!
So far as we know, a State tax on American bachelors
Never has evolved from talk to law.
And it's a very good thing this is so, to judge by Italian precedent!
The fact is that a Government tax on bachelorhood is simply a minor addition
To the bachelor's cost of doing business.
He is already taxed financially in other ways—
For flowers, for candy, for taxi fares,
For tickets to football games and dances,
For Christmas and birthday gifts to young women with expensive tastes.
On the other hand, with clubs, restaurants, laundries and bachelor flats
Functioning as pleasantly and efficiently as they do at present,
It is the married man—not the bachelor—who is more likely to pay a super-tax
For board and room and washing.
Since it is one of the world's supreme fallacies that two can live as cheaply as one—
Unless, though married, they continue to live on two salaries instead of one.
It isn't the tangible financial tax on bachelorhood that will ever bother one of the species—
It's the intangible tax on the lonely, ill, reckless hours,
Which come to nearly every bachelor, and for which he pays in full.
If, like that arch-materialist Mussolini, you put bachelorhood on a strict dollars-and-cents basis,
The bachelor can afford to pay his tax—all of it, including a Government assessment—
And still be ahead of the game.
But the high cost of being a bachelor is the cost not of money but of life—
The bill which a man may not have to pay for a long time,
But which he cannot in the end escape.
To be a perpetual, professional bachelor
Is to know many women a little without completely knowing one—
Is to know many loves a little without deeply knowing one—
Is to know many pleasures, without knowing the one greatest happiness
Which is the lifelong passion, tenderness and comradeship of a happy marriage—
Is to know many comforts in youth
And—in later life—the intolerable discomfort of a wifeless, childless loneliness.
If, somehow, Mussolini or anybody else could convince bachelors
That this is the true, inevitable, crushing tax they pay,
The species might dwindle and diminish—
Although, after all, no bachelor is entirely self-elected—
Even in Italy he'll stop paying his tax
When some girl wants him badly enough!

MRS. HOOVER CHUCKS POMPOSITY

ANY CAREFREE WIFE WOULD

AP
© Bachrach

Since Lou Henry Hoover entered the White House as First Lady, she has scorned the conventions of high office. At upper left she is taking a walk in the capital; at lower left she is in a Girl Scout uniform. At lower right she is in academic cap and gown.

By SUE McNAMARA.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.

LOU HENRY HOOVER, who rode a friendly bicycle over Iowa country roads, has not changed much.

In the months that have passed since the heavy responsibility as President's wife was placed on her, her acts have pictured a new type of First Lady.

She has done unprecedented things and a resume of her "tenure in office," brings out sharply that hers will be a unioue place in history.

She shops and drives alone. She goes to evening entertainments without the President.

She brings the things in which she is interested into the daily life of the White House instead of letting it and her exalted position in the nation's life rule her.

Until she became First Lady, it was an unheard of thing for the President's wife to make any trip, however short, outside the White House gates unless accompanied by a secret service man.

Now a White House car often glides out of the big gate with the mistress of the mansion at the wheel. Only women friends are in the car. No solicitous "other car" accompanies them.

When she goes on trips out of town or to affairs where big crowds make it unwise for her to be alone, however, Mrs. Hoover conforms to custom.

The sight of Mrs. Hoover walking buoyantly along on her low-heeled shoes, is not an unusual occurrence in Washington's shopping district. Here, too, she is unaccompanied save by a girl secretary.

Mrs. Hoover has rearranged the White House to suit herself and in a way to make it homey and comfortable. She has planted a lovely California garden in the back yard where she entertains little groups of friends at tea.

She still has intimate Sunday night suppers, just as she did on S street, with a few friends dropping in informally.

A Wet Fur Coat

If you are caught in the rain in your fur coat and it is very wet, place it on a coat hanger and hang it by an open window. Never dry it near the heat. When dry, brush thoroughly with a stiff brush.

Writing While Traveling.

It is frequently necessary to do some reading or writing while on a train. It is quite easy to write in a train if the elbows are pressed into the body just above the hips and held there firmly. You will find the pencil, pen or book that you are holding will be steady no matter how speedy the train.

NARCISSUS FACE POWDER

THE MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland.

SPEAKING OF MEN—

No matter how sophisticated modern women may become, the "baby stare" will always be more deadly to the male than the most provocative "come hither" look. It makes him feel so "masterful."

At this exciting season of renovation, a man never knows when he opens the front door, whether he will find his Home gone Spanish, Oriental, Queen Anne, Early American or Old Italian.

When a woman isn't getting over a love-affair, she is always getting into one; but, the average man is so ambidextrous that he can do both at the same time, without even getting his dates or his emotions mixed.

A man cannot KILL a healthy conscience, but he can usually anesthetize it, long enough to enjoy the first few kisses and as much as he really wants of the little flirtation.

Somehow, it is always a shock to a man, to read his wedding announcements, fresh from the printers—and to realize that the last loop-hole of escape is closed to him.

Love depends so much on the power of the imagination. But, alas, a man gets so little chance to exercise his imagination, these days, that it has become almost as useless as the appendix.

It is so difficult for a man to find both a mental stimulant and an emotional stimulant in the same woman. Yet, even when he succeeds, he is often foolish enough to permit himself to be lured away from her by the first baby-faced, little thing who appeals to his eyes and his senses.

A little sympathy is a dangerous thing—especially to a man, who is just convalescing from a shattered love-affair.

THE LAW OF CAVEAT EMPTOR

By Dorothy Frooks

A WOMAN was in court in answer to a law suit. She was the defendant. It appears that she stopped at a small shop to purchase a vase. It was represented to be made of brass. After she got it home a closer scrutiny of it revealed the vase to be of some other metal.

"Let the buyer beware" is an old, every-day phrase. It is the interpretation of caveat emptor, a Latin legal phrase.

Many times in trying to obtain bargains one is apt to get a lesser value. Where a warranty accompanies a sale, that warranty would have to be established. The mere statement of a misrepresentation is not sufficient.

A woman passed a shop and saw a material that looked like woolen cloth. She priced it and felt it. To her it was a woolen cloth. The salesman knew that it was the kind of material she wanted, and said it was a woolen cloth. She bought it. When she reached home she learned that what she had bought was a mixture of cotton and wool. The "let the buyer beware" rule applied at the time of purchase would have prevented the sale. As it was the woman did not protect herself. Legally, people must use caution in their transactions. If one makes a purchase willingly and it is not as expected, the sale has been made. Some merchants would welcome the return of the goods. Others are totally within their rights if they refuse to accept goods after the sale has been consummated.

In general, the rule of the common law as developed in England and in this country is "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware. That is, in the sale of goods the buyer must understand that he takes the risk as to the quality of the goods which he is purchasing. The rule of common law differs very materially in this respect from that which has been adopted in the civil law now in force in most of Europe. There it is held that "a sound price implies a sound article."

The Two-Fur Coat

SHIMMERING black caracul is strongly hinted as one of the most fashionable furs for winter day coats. It is stunning when allied with a greatly contrasting skin. One very sumptuous wrap for day wear is cut along straight slim lines, its flares restricted to the upper part of the garment as in the sleeves full toward the elbow and banded in bracelet effect in kolinsky. This fur makes a deep and luxurious cape collar which achieves shawl proportions. A youthful black caracul coat reproduced from a French model is designed with princess lines and the scarf collar slips one end through the other at the left shoulder in cravat style.

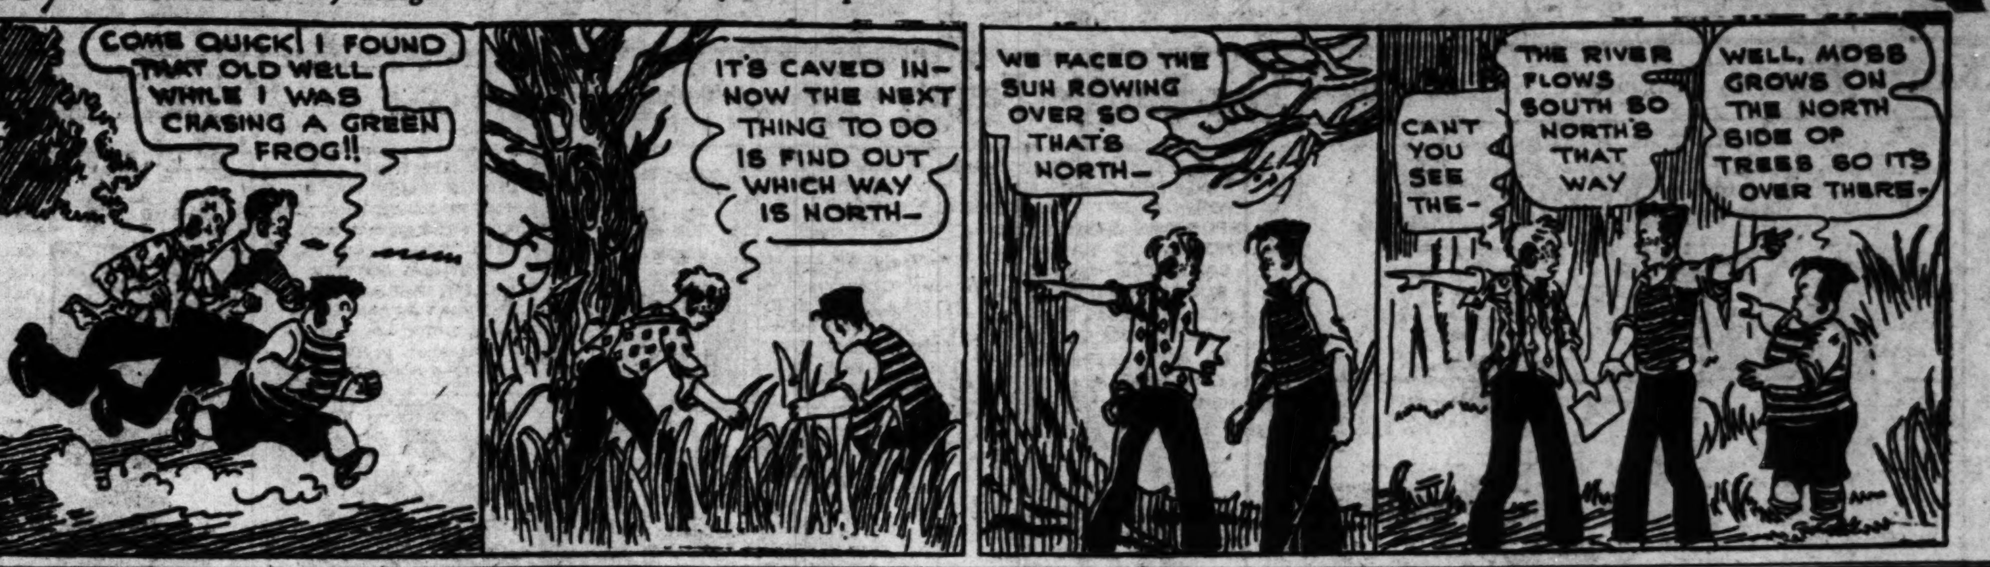
Points of the Compass



COME QUICK! I FOUND THAT OLD WELL WHILE I WAS CHASING A GREEN FROG!!
IT'S CAVED IN—NOW THE NEXT THING TO DO IS FIND OUT WHICH WAY IS NORTH—
WE FACED THE SUN ROWING OVER SO THAT'S NORTH—CAN'T YOU SEE THE—
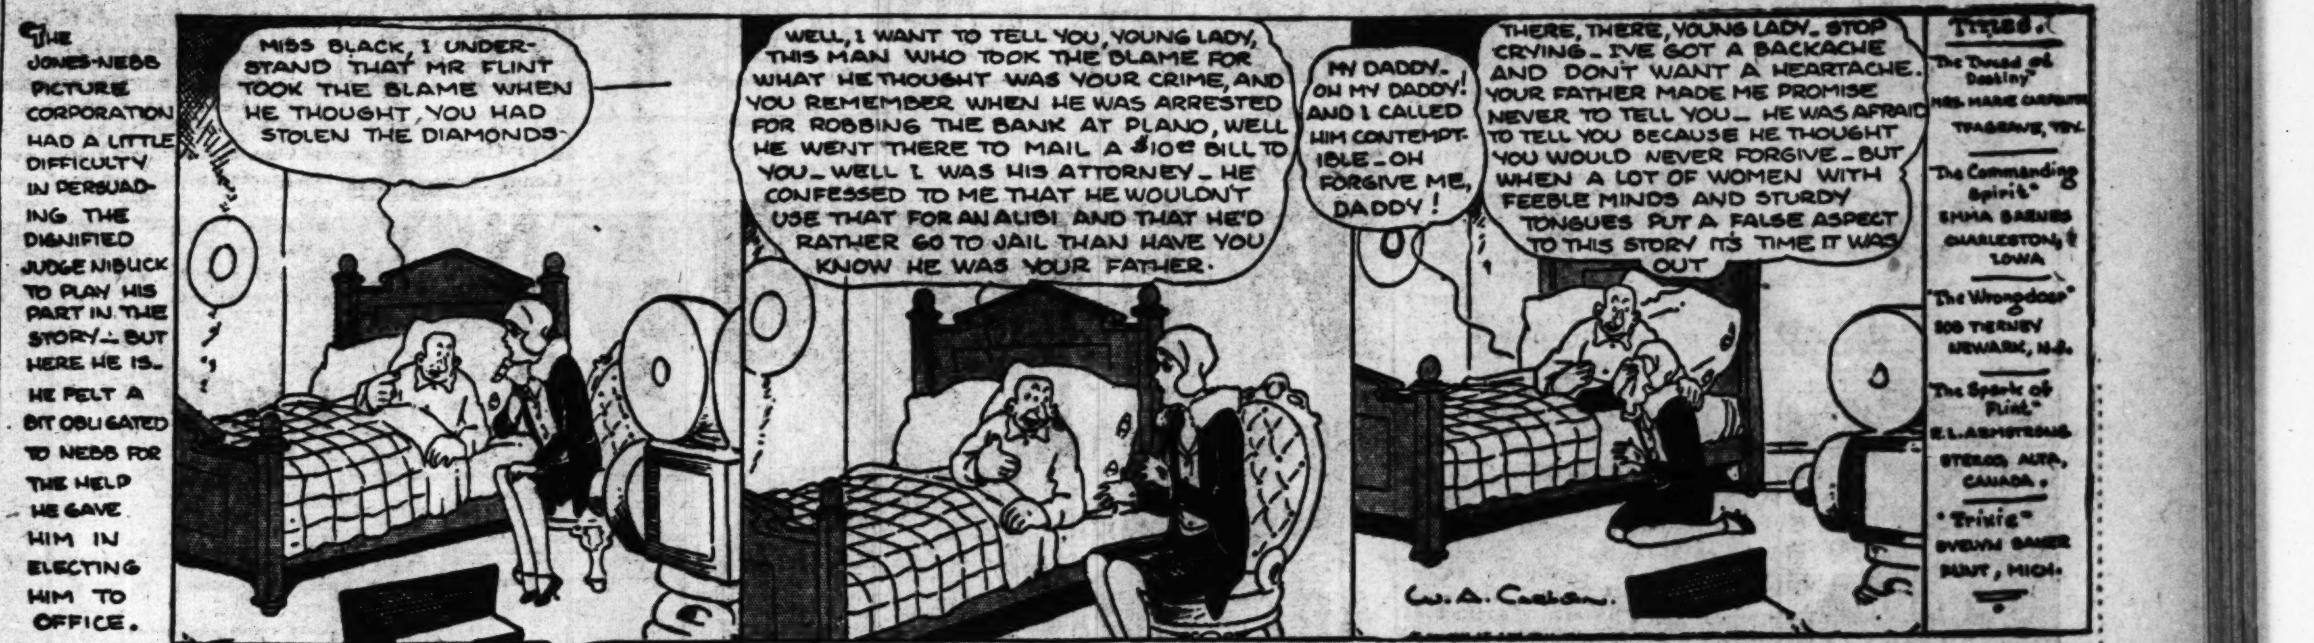
THE RIVER FLOWS SOUTH SO NORTH'S THAT WAY
WELL, MOSS GROWS ON THE NORTH SIDE OF TREES SO IT'S OVER THERE—

The Nebbs—By Sol Hess

The Dawn



THE JONES-NEBB PICTURE CORPORATION HAD A LITTLE DIFFICULTY IN PERSUADING THE DIGNIFIED JUDGE NIBUCK TO PLAY HIS PART IN THE STORY—BUT HERE HE IS. HE FELT A BIT OBLIGATED TO NEBB FOR THE HELP HE GAVE HIM IN ELECTING HIM TO OFFICE.
MISS BLACK, I UNDERSTAND THAT MR FLINT TOOK THE BLAME WHEN HE THOUGHT YOU HAD STOLEN THE DIAMONDS—
WELL, I WANT TO TELL YOU, YOUNG LADY, THIS MAN WHO TOOK THE BLAME FOR WHAT HE THOUGHT WAS YOUR CRIME, AND YOU REMEMBER WHEN HE WAS ARRESTED FOR ROBBING THE BANK AT PLANO, WELL HE WENT THERE TO MAIL A $10.00 BILL TO YOU—WELL I WAS HIS ATTORNEY—HE CONFESSED TO ME THAT HE WOULDN'T USE THAT FOR AN ALIBI AND THAT HE'D RATHER GO TO JAIL THAN HAVE YOU KNOW HE WAS YOUR FATHER.
MY DADDY—OH MY DADDY! AND I CALLED HIM CONTEMPTIBLE—OH FORGIVE ME, DADDY!
THERE, THERE, YOUNG LADY—STOP CRYING—I'VE GOT A BACKACHE AND DON'T WANT A HEARTACHE. YOUR FATHER MADE ME PROMISE NEVER TO TELL YOU—HE WAS AFRAID TO TELL YOU BECAUSE HE THOUGHT YOU WOULD NEVER FORGIVE—BUT WHEN A LOT OF WOMEN WITH FEEBLE MINDS AND STURDY TONGUES PUT A FALSE ASPECT TO THIS STORY IT'S TIME IT WAS OUT

Two Reasons Why
are superior

Here's a radio tube that's truly different from all others. It contains two construction features—exclusive to Perryman Tubes—giving you clearer tone, fuller volume and longer life.

The Patented Perryman Bridge—one of the exclusive features—rigidly holds the filament, plate and grid, top and bottom, in permanent parallel alignment. Thus, under all conditions, you get clear, distinct reception.

The Perryman Spring—another exclusive feature—allows for the uniform contraction and expansion of the filament, due to temperature changes. Besides giving longer life, the Spring assures a smooth, full tone during the entire life of the tube.

Only Perryman Tubes have the Patented Bridge and Spring. Remember, they're the two reasons why you get clearer tone and longer life from Perryman Tubes. When you need a new set of tubes, try Perryman's.

THE DOOR OF THE GARAGE IS WIDE OPEN AND THE CAR IS GONE. MY WORD, I WHEN I LEFT THIS MORNING I GAVE POSITIVE ORDERS FOR NOBODY TO TOUCH THAT CAR UNTIL I HAD THE BUSTED SPRING FIXED. ALSO LEAVING THAT GARAGE DOOR OPEN SO ANY NEIGHBOR CAN HELP HIMSELF TO OIL, GAS, OR—FLORENCE TOOK THE CAR. SHE SAID YOU TOLD HER LAST NIGHT SHE COULD USE THE CAR ANYTIME. DID YOU?
YES, THAT'S RIGHT. WELL AS LONG AS SHE TOOK IT WHY I GUESS—
—EVERYTHING IS LOVELY, EH? HA, I KNEW YOU'D SAY THAT. YOU HURLED YOURSELF INTO THIS HOUSE JUST FROTHING AT THE MOUTH BECAUSE YOU THOUGHT PEGGY OR I HAD THE CAR. BUT WHEN YOU FIND FLORENCE TOOK IT EVERYTHING IS ALL RIGHT, ISN'T IT?
LISTEN, JO SHE'S YOUR FRIEND, VISITING YOU, NOT ME. I'M NATURALLY VERY POLITE AND SO—
OH YOU ACTED IN THE SAME GIDDY WAY LAST EVENING WHEN FLORENCE COULDN'T EAT SUPPER UNTIL YOU RUSHED ALL OVER TOWN TO GET HER STUFFED OLIVES? WOULD YOU DO THAT FOR ME? HA, DONT MAKE ME LAUGH.
LISTEN LET'S GET THIS THING STRAIGHT. THE REASON I TOLD HER TO TAKE THE AUTO IS BECAUSE SHE HINTED ABOUT HAVING TO GO DOWNTOWN ON THE STREET-CAR AND SO—
YOU CERTAINLY DON'T WORRY WHEN I HAVE TO GO DOWNTOWN ON A STREET-CAR, DO YOU? I'LL SAY YOU DONT. IF I DARED TO SAY I DIDN'T WANT TO RIDE IN A STREET-CAR YOU'D SAY, ALL RIGHT WAL'K!

MOTHER, YOU MUST LISTEN
PST, DORA—YOU'D BETTER COME OUT HERE WHILE THEY SCRAP IT OUT!
THERE'S NO EXCUSE FOR THIS OUTRAGEOUS CONDUCT—WE'VE NEVER DEPRIVED YOU OF ANYTHING AT HOME—YOU'VE HAD EVERYTHING MONEY COULD BUY
